MARCH 22, 1884.

Although there is nothing approaching a "boom" the interest in real estate investments steadily increases. The conveyances continue larger than the average of previous years—the auction room is thronged, and the highest prices since the panic of 1873 were paid for property at open auction during the past week. The business of THE RECORD AND GUIDE also tells the same story. We never had so large a subscription list, nor received so many unsolicited new subscribers. Our advertising pages speak for themselves. Readers who keep files will note the difference. So far the year 1884 promises to surpass all its predecessors, not only in the activity of real estate, but in the higher prices and the larger amount of building.

Governor Cleveland has done well in endorsing the Roosevelt bill, giving the appointing power to the Mayor without reference to the Board of Aldermen. This journal can claim to be the first of this city's papers to emphasize the fact that municipal reform involved two things: the deprivation of the local legislature of much of its power, and the lodging in the executive greater authority and responsibility. The curse of the country is its legislatures swarming with lawyers and small politicians. Were it not for the veto power of the Mayors and Governors matters would be intolerable. Mr. Theodore Roosevelt is on the right track. He may be defeated in some of his measures this year, but if we are to have better government it can only come about by greater executive authority and the responsibility of heads of departments to Mayors.

Theodore Roosevelt is the only possible Republican candidate for Mayor next fall. He has literally accomplished wonders, and won the admiration of independent Democrats as well as all Republicans. Mr. Roosevelt could, we think, be re-elected even though he had no other endorsement than that of the Republican party. The campaign he is waging so successfully against civic corruption is popular among all classes of citizens except only those who profit by the misrule under which we have been suffering so long. Seth Low, a Republican, was elected in the Democratic city of Brooklyn twice in succession, although he had the whole Democratic party and the corrupt members of his own party to contend with. The reputable citizens of Brooklyn went to work with a will, and the active business men of any community are always more than a match for the "machines" and the rabble who generally support them. If the great exchanges, the clubs and the commercial bodies were to unite on Mr. Roosevelt, he could be chosen triumphantly. It will be remembered that in all the great contests for Mayor in the past, the best man, or the one considered the best, generally won. At any rate, the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt would force the Democrats to put an unexceptionable candidate in the field, and New York would be sure of a good Mayor in any event.

The House of Representatives has taken such action as it supposes will atone for its blunder in passing the Lasker resolutions. In the meantime it is curious to note that dispatches from Berlin of the 18th inst. state that all parties in the Reichstag had given their support to a proposition to appropriate 18,790,000 marks for the construction of torpedo boats and batteries. The naval department received congratulations from all sides for the celerity with which it had completed a naval fleet. It seems that in 1871, after the war with France, the German navy only numbered 48 vessels, mostly of small size, with 300 guns. In the spring of 1883 the imperial navy consisted of 108 war vessels, carrying 518 large guns, with a crew of 12,000 men. In fact all civilized nations are at work increasing their naval strength. As the Herald of this city says: "France is reconstructing her navy; Germany is reorganizing hers; Russia is fast strengthening hers, and Italy is developing a very powerful fleet. All Europe is, in fact, recognizing the necessity of having heavily armored ships, fitted with modern ordnance and carrying trained crews." During 1883 England launched 14 vessels of the most approved patterns, while 12 were ordered to be constructed. The United States alone lags in the rear. The great European cities are inland and are out of gunshot. Ours are on the seacoast, utterly unprotected. We have three vessels under way, which it will take three years to finish, and a cry of wrath has gone up from the press because the Senate has voted in favor of constructing seven new vessels of war. What does Germany want with 108 vessels of war?

The attempt of the leading journals of New York to whitewash the Surrogate's office is exceedingly reprehensible. Lawyers who claim to know say that it is one of the most corrupt departments in the city government. This is a matter which appeals particularly to the patrons of this paper, for once in every twenty-eight years property representing the value of all the realty on this island passes through this office in probating wills. The testimony of lawyers who practice in the Surrogate's department is that every probate of a will is charged every fee that can be conjured up. In cases where there is no contest and only one heir, costs are piled up when there is no need of any expense being incurred. Mr. Theodore Roosevelt showed great courage as well as good sense in telling the truth about this Republican department, as well as the Democratic departments. It is surprising to see papers like the Sun excusing the Surrogate for the rank corruption discovered in his department.

A New Hotel.

A very large building, which seems to be meant for a family hotel, occupies the block between Fortieth and Forty-first streets, on the west side of Fourth avenue. It has the block front of 200 feet on the avenue. On Forty-first street it has a frontage of 100 feet, while on Fortieth street it extends back to the distance of 250 feet.

These are dimensions so ample that an elevator building can be put upon it without the spindling look which is inevitable to such a building on a restricted site. The height here is not excessive for an elevator building, only six stories below the main cornice and one above. There are, however, no visible roofs on the main buildings, these being reserved for decorations on the emphatic parts.

Only one of the three fronts, the long front on Fortieth street, is symmetrical, and the dimensions of this would make it susceptible of a very effective treatment. The ends, each two openings wide, are separately roofed and slightly projected, or at least divided from the curtain walls by a round bay window running through to the main cornice, with a flat top. The doorway is in the centre, and the wall over it, one opening wide, is signalized like the pavillions at the ends. The openings of the pavillions are enriched with moulded stone jambs and terra cotta panels between the openings. The central windows are furnished with balconies projected upon consoles carved with masks.

The Fourth avenue front is rendered unsymmetrical by the treatment of the south pavillion—where the ground is considerably lower than at the north end—as a tower, running a story higher than the adjacent wall and crowned with a steep roof, which stands on walls on the two outer sides and on an arcade of galvanized iron on the inner side. The chief feature of this front, and indeed of the building, is the principal entrance, a colonnaded portico of three openings, with single columns at the angles, while the intermediate columns are doubled. The central wall above this porch is projected, enriched and gabled.

The shorter front on Forty-first street has the tower already mentioned at one end, with a round bay, similar to the bays of the north side, adjoining. At the west end there is a flat roof.

The materials are granite for the sub-basement, which becomes conspicuous at the north corner, the lines of the stories being carried through level, while the dip of the ground is considerable; Carlisle stone for the basement, the porches and all the wrought work, except the panels in terra cotta, and pressed red brick for the field of the wall.

The granite is polished except in the chamfers of the lintels and jambs, where it is left rough, and is of course lighter in color. There is no moulded string course to mark the change of material. The granite merely ceases, with a simple chamfer, and the sandstone succeeds, giving the transition an uncouth and unfinished look. The Carlisle stone is a beautiful material, in color and in texture, and better adapted to do justice to good carving than perhaps any other material available to our architects. But it is entirely unsuitable for combination with red brick, and wherever the combination has been attempted it has been to the detriment of both materials.

In composition the elevations are not bad. The horizontal lines are emphasized more perhaps than is necessary to "keep down" a building of an area so ample in proportion to its height, and the fronts are not "pestered" with multiplied features. In avoiding restlessness, however, the architect has not escaped monotony. His scheme would require very interesting detail to make it effective, and in the detail properly architectural there resides no interest whatever. The only piece of architectural modelling in the walls is the moulding of the openings in the first story, which is not ill done. The openings of the upper stories, which are framed in stone, are overloaded, clumsy and inartistic in design, while the openings in brickwork are altogether unmodelled, hard, flat and shallow. In the principal features of the building, the gable, tower and bay windows, the detail is not worth talking about.

What architectural interest the building has is in its decorative sculpture, which shows a much higher order of attainment than the architecture to which it is attached, a difference which is noticeable in many recent buildings. The openings of the first story (all the openings are square headed) have Tudor drip stones, but these, instead of surrounding the window, are absurdly dropped at its sides from a continuous horizontal moulding. The terminations are covered with cherubs, apparently borrowed from English parish churches, while the cornice above is decorated with masks in leafage, which might have been taken from an Italian palace of the sixteenth century. Wherever they come from, they are very good, designed with spirit and carved with precision. The detail of the porches is also carved with great richness and designed in a knowing way, though with no great attention to purity, and the effect, with all its richness, is of a somewhat barbarous profusion. The obviously absurd arrangement in the main porch of single columns at the angles and double columns between, has already been noted. The lower drums of these columns are richly and well carved in luxurious Renaissance. Their capitals are intricate and polyglot in design, though suggested by classic models. A carved frieze of a flowing pattern girdles each of the bays above the first story and the consoles of the balconies carry masks. All of this carving is admirably well executed, and most of it scholarly in design. It is all worth looking at, some of it very well worth looking at, especially the decoration of grotesques above the first story. Apart from this decoration, the building owes what impressiveness it has entirely to its magnitude.

Railway Companies and Ferry Franchises.

A bill recently introduced in the Legislature by Senator Otis granting to railroad companies the privilege of owning ferries, floats, etc., should be made a law without unnecessary delay.

An anomaly in legislation working to the disadvantage of the public service in transportation is found in the condition of our laws regulating the proprietary franchises of railway and ferry companies. The moment a railway in this State touches a stream or other channel of water too broad to be bridged, its functions as an agent in transportation ceases, and its duties must be delegated to other hands.

At first thought this might be regarded as a wise regulation. It seems to imply only another application of the maxims in political science which teach the doctrine of the greatest good to the greatest number. It may have been conceived as a check on the monopoly of service, and designed to distribute the labor and profits of transportation among a greater number of hands. As a matter of practical experience, however, it can only result in the creation of corporate parasites drawing the means of subsistence from the parent stem while exposing it to the most unhealthful and enervating influences. Look, for a moment, at its practical operation. A railway company is not permitted to organize a ferry service nor to own and operate floats for the transportation of its cars. But individual members of the company, shareholders in common with other shareholders not similarly favored, may possess this privilege and utilize it, to the utmost, for their individual profit. That the law tends to encourage the organization of subsidiary companies within the original corporations is too plain for dispute And see what follows. The majority of the shareholders must be hindered from drawing the legitimate profits of their investment while contributing to swell the income of a very limited minority. We may be sure that the ferry franchise will never be permitted to go out of the family. Absolutely, the law steps in here and, if it does not compel a breach of faith on the part of a portion of those who have invested their money in a common enterprise, it at least offers a premium to men who take advantage of their position in the company to increase their receipts at the expense of their partners. But the law is also the protection of these double operators against any reasonable censure. The service must be performed; and by whom will it be more faithfully performed than by a little ring of men interested in the parent enterprise? Certainly, parasites enough have sprung from our system of railroad management without cultivating a legal fungus more troublesome than any other excrescence because more eradicable.

That more attention had not been called to this subject and an amendment made to the law is due to fortuitous circumstances which have yet not worked altogether fortuitously. The State of New York has no broad water ways in the interior, and nearly all the railroads that reach the harbor of this city either demand no ferries or have their termini in an adjacent State, where they are permitted to hold ferry franchises. The hardships of our existing regulations have, consequently, not been felt, and we have gone forward under the delusion that there was nothing demanding remedy.

No good argument can be made, however, in favor of a law preventing railroad companies from controlling their ferry connections and owning the necessary equipment for the exercise of this right. Their service can never be adequately rendered, free from legal evasions, until it is in their power to deliver their freight and passengers at the point which is virtually the end of their route.

Over the Ticker.

INVESTORS who bought and held Pacific Mail, by the advice of "Ticker" during the last six months, have made money by doing so. It was 38 when in this column it was said to be a purchase, and it sold for nearly 58 during the past week.

BALTIMORE & OHIO, like Pennsylvania Central, will soon become a New York road, that is, it will extend its termini to this city, and the Baltimore papers are growling about it in advance.

BUT it is impossible to fight destiny. As all roads in the ancient world lead to Rome, so will all the railways in the new world lead to the metropolis. The Baltimore & Ohio could reach New York by way of the Reading and New Jersey Central. The stock of the latter is to be guaranteed by the B. & O. as well as the Reading, and will be as valuable as a bond, for it will then be worth more than most of them. Look out for better prices in Reading.

KNOWING operators look for a stronger market. They say stocks have been forced down too far and that values are going to assert themselves in Wall street as well as in real estate.

GEORGE D. ROBERTS offering to do the whole telegraphic business of the country is a sublime instance of cheek. A mass meeting ought to be called of the stockholders in the mining companies which he organized to give their opinion as to his ability to transact any business in a satisfactory way.

SOMETHING may happen shortly to give a black eye to Western Union. That construction account has to be taken care of. Jay Gould, it seems, is of the opinion that Western Union can stand a large bonded indebtedness.

C., C. & I. 6 per cent. general mortgage is one of the best bonds now on the market. To show how great the increase in the value of lands owned by railroad companies in cities it is authoritatively stated that the terminals at Cleveland and Indianapolis alone are so valuable that if sold at market prices the proceeds would pay off the total indebtedness of C., C., C. & I. Railway Company.

CANADA SOUTHERN second mortgage bonds at 85 do not seem to be selling at the price they deserve. This company has just completed its new cantilever bridge and is now double tracking the entire road, the total cost for both enterprises being $6,000,000 in bonds. For this the fixed charges against the road are actually increased only $160,000, as the Canada Southern paid the old bridge company $140,000 every year, which amount it now saves. When the double track is completed this road will undoubtedly be made the favorite route for fast traveling.

Mr. O. B. Potter, of this city, is making his mark in Congress. It usually takes from two to three terms before a new member can get the ear of the House, but Mr. Potter was not a month in his seat before he had attracted the attention not only of Congress but of the country by the intelligence he displayed on financial questions. His bill relating to the national banks was so wise and timely that it stands a good chance of passing. Mr. Potter and Mr. Hewitt show that business men can do better in a legislative capacity than the average lawyer, to whom our people persist in giving the preference over the members of any other profession. Mr. Potter is a very large real estate owner in New York, and it is useful to our citizens that men trained in the business world are willing to accept positions in the House of Representatives and thus give the country the benefit of their experience.

It is a fact which is not fully understood by the business public that there has been an enormous absorption of good railway bonds during the past three years. In looking about for investment the Mutual Life Insurance Company purchased certain railway bonds, and have been doing this for years. In taking an account of stock recently the company discovered that the bonds which had cost them $17,000,000 could now be marketed for $23,000,000. Here was a profit of over $6,000,000 in the investments of less than a few years. This, however, is but one instance out of many. Other institutions and tens of thousands of individuals have been quietly absorbing mortgage bonds, which are certain to appreciate in value as soon as their interest is assured beyond all peradventure.

The Lawyers Again.

This paper has been almost single-handed in protesting against the monopoly of political power possessed by the lawyers in the United States. We have said it was dangerous in any nation to give any one profession exclusive authority. The Albany Law Journal, in quoting our remarks, says that this is undoubtedly true, and that the legal profession must expect that the monopoly they now possess will some time or other be taken from them. And now comes our well-written contemporary, the Hour, which, after reviewing the shortcomings of our national Legislature, concludes as follows:

The great trouble with Congress—not only the present one, but nearly all its predecessors during the past half a century—has been, and is, that it contains too many lawyers. It is seldom that a great merchant, manufacturer or business man of any kind finds his way into that body. The result is we have a body of men legislating on questions about which they know next to nothing, and making confusion worse confounded. At least seventy-five per cent. of the men now holding seats in the Senate and House of Representatives are lawyers and professional politicians. So anomalous a condition of affairs exists in no other country with a representative parliamentary system. In Germany, in France and in England, the lawyers as legislators are in a minority. The great landed, manufacturing, banking and other interests are all represented. With us the half-educated, ill-trained country lawyer from all the Squidduncks of the Republic pass upon the great questions of commerce and trade, and decide for communities like New York questions of the most momentous importance. Fifty per cent. of the lawyers should be banished from the halls of the national Legislature. Their presence there is an evil and a menace to the best interests of the country.

The Hour does not tell the whole story. The percentage of lawyers is far more than 75 per cent. of the national Legislature. Then all our possible presidents are lawyers, the cabinet ministers are lawyers, even the Secretary of War and of the Navy. Nearly every Governor of every State is a lawyer, while in every Legislature the lawyers are three or four to one against all the other professions combined. It is the lawyers who make, who expound and who execute all our laws. The Hour is also mistaken in speaking of the governing class as being half-educated. The trouble is that being the ruling profession and open to everyone, our lawyers are an exceptionally able body of men. It is the most tempting career for a bright young man to take up. Even in the railroad world the lawyers, if not the magnates themselves, are the advisers of those who control the railway system. The press ought to in a sense antagonize that profession, but more especially should it criticize decisions of courts, and protest against the grievous taxes laid upon property by this ruling caste, not only in the laws they pass, but also in their plunder of estates, in their promotion of litigation—delays of justice and heavy charges to litigants.

An editorial writer on the Tribune is very much distressed at the abundance of money. He thinks we have too much gold and silver as well as too many gold notes and silver certificates. Oddly enough he is desirous that there should be more bank notes, which have no intrinsic value whatever. The standard dollar, or the certificate representing it, is worth almost as much as gold, but the national bank bill has no value whatever in itself. But this odd reasoner calls the certificate representing silver actually in the hands of the Treasury inflation, while bank notes, which are not legal tender, which are redeemable in a reserve less than one-third of their face value, are represented as the ideal currency. As a matter of fact is there is less gold and silver in the United States than in France. In the latter country there is thirty-eight dollars per head, in the United States only sixteen dollars; of course this is exclusively of the precious metals, not counting Bank of France notes in the one case and greenbacks, national bank and gold notes and silver certificates in the other. In truth we have too little gold and silver, and it is a mistake to say we would be better off if twenty or thirty millions left our shores. No nation can have too much silver or gold, or paper convertible into those metals.

It has been proposed to make the Forty-second street reservoir a series of hanging gardens. The plan is to cover the surface of the water with a flooring, upon which will be placed gardens of roses and ornamental shrubs. Of course this would be undertaken by a private company, who would endeavor to make it a great summer resort. It might perhaps pay and would be an attraction to the city. When the new aqueduct is completed there will be a renewal of the agitation to remove the Forty-second street reservoir, which will not then be needed. In that case it would be well to consider the scheme to make it the site of a great technical and art school, constructed of iron and glass. New York needs such an institution, which could be made as beautiful as it would be useful. A vast building, dedicated to industry and art, a kind of glorified Cooper Union as it were, would be as useful as it would be novel. It might be called the Peter Cooper Memorial and its front adorned with the statue proposed to be erected to him. Peter Cooper is the man to honor, for he has done something for art, industry and the city in which he made his fortune, but there is no sense in perpetuating the name of Bryant, which in a few generations will be forgotten.

Concerning Men and Things.

Fanny Davenport did not treat Anna Dickinson right in the matter of the latter's play of the "American Girl." After the contract was signed, allowing certain royalties every time the play was enacted, Miss Davenport put the play in rehearsal, but refused Miss Dickinson the right to witness the preparation or suggest improvements in the action or business of her own piece. She was in fact excluded from the rehearsals. But changes were made which the author says injured the piece. All the "good lines" given to anybody except the heroine were stricken out. The play was not successful and probably would not have been had Miss Dickinson herself been permitted to supervise it, but the author can fairly claim every dollar of the royalties the contract gave her. Judge Barrett states that his play of "An American Wife" was altered to its injury by the Wallacks. He was told he must not interfere, and that piece was also a failure. In London and Paris it is the author who conducts the rehearsals and suggests the business or accepts such other business as is proposed by the manager and other persons interested. In this country our playwrights have not the authority they have abroad and their productions are therefore mangled to suit the whims of stars or managers.

It would look like impertinence for a corps of Parisian editors to come to New York and start a paper modelled on the French system and expect to compete with the American journals already established. But this is what has just been done in Paris. Mr. S. S. Chamberlain, son of the late Ivory Chamberlain (a brilliant leader writer on the World and Herald in his day), has started in Paris two papers on the American plan. French journals care nothing about news. A fire that would burn down a large section of Paris would be dismissed in a few lines. What the Parisian cares for is gossip, the brilliant article, the feuilleton and the personal attack; but the details of the world's news, such as given in our papers, is wholly absent from a Parisian journal. To satisfy the wants of the British and American colony Mr. Chamberlain published what he called the Morning News, modelled upon the best type of a New York journal. It was so successful that a French edition of the journal is now published daily entitled Le Matin. One hundred and fifty thousand copies were distributed throughout France the first day. It is said young Chamberlain is backed up by John Mackay, of Bonanza fame, and James Gordon Bennett may have a hand in the matter, as Chamberlain was once his private secretary, and in a certain sense the foreign manager of the Herald.

Speaking of John Mackay, there is some danger of his fortune not being so large five years hence as it is to-day. He was nothing originally but an Irish miner, whom wonderful accident has made immensely rich. He has not as yet shown any remarkable capacity outside mining operations. Since he has come East he has been the associate of Mr. George Roberts, and has been in many enterprises, such as Freeland, Hukill and the like, with that worthy gentleman, and he could not have profited by the connection. The Postal Telegraph Company is an organization with a great debt and a large amount of stock with very little wire or business. The cable scheme which Messrs. Mackay and Bennett have undertaken must necessarily be a heavy loss to the promoters, as it can have no connection with any telegraph system on this side which will give it business. It is a well-known fact that Mr. Bennett has made no success outside of his journal, nor Mr. Mackay outside the Comstock mines.

Ex-Governor John T. Hoffman turns up in an interview on responsible government anent the Albany legislation during the past week. What a pity this man was crucified by being identified with the Tweed ring. He made an admirable executive officer, and on every occasion showed that he had a clear head and strong common sense. There is no position he would not have adorned, from Mayor to President, but his prospects have been clouded forever because he was the ring's candidate for Mayor and then for Governor. Hoffman first won his spurs when, as Recorder, he tried and punished severely a number of the rioters who hounded the poor negroes to death in 1863. It was supposed it would imperil his popularity among the Irish, but it made him Mayor and helped him in the canvass for the Governorship; but politically he now is dead—dead—dead.

Is it not about time that the Stock Exchange put a stop to the brutal hazing and horse play which disfigures the sessions of that board? That college lads in their green and salad days should take to cane rushes and rough practical jokes may be expected, but the Exchange is a place where serious business is transacted, and its members are men, not boys. The governing committee should put a stop to these indecorous proceedings.

The Real Estate Exchange ought to engage Theodore Roosevelt to put through the laws they wish passed reforming our absurd system of conveyancing. He is no potterer, he believes in striking while the iron's hot. All that is asked of the Legislature this year is the appointment of a commission to investigate abuses which are notorious to every real estate dealer, owner and lawyer. It is too bad that the necessary reforms cannot be effected before the Real Estate Exchange opens for business next November.

Home Decorative Notes.

—Individuality as well as originality should and does assert itself in the arrangement and decoration of our homes; in the matter of the furniture for instance, because our friend has it placed in rows along the wall, we should not be guided thereby, but so place and express ourselves that the whole interior of our apartments will be full of such interesting surprises as will awaken the ideas and put the imagination of our visitors into activity.

—Tiger lilies are very extensively used for decorative purposes, and when mingled with palms show to excellent advantage.

—The fancy in pottery is for classic designs in grey and brown shades, made in France, by Haviland, and for trays, small castors, beer mugs and tankards of the Doulton ware; Davis, Collamore & Co., of Broadway and Twenty-second street, are offering a number of choice designs.

—Lovely bureau covers are of linen crash, pongee or batiste, the latter is extremely delicate, the English violet is a very graceful design for embroidery thereon; the bureau cover should be powdered with small bunches of violets, a large bunch for the cushion and small sprays put on either toilette mat, filoselle is used, each of the articles should be neatly hemstitched on the four sides and furnished with soft lace; the cover for the bureau should be lined with very delicate lavender satin, and the oblong cushion made of the same material and color.

—A branch of the flowering locust is a very pleasing design for a chair back, it may be worked on dark grey or cream satin sheeting in slightly conventionalized coloring, the flowers of yellow silk, the leaves in grey-green and dull yellow-green, and the stems dark brown with a little black here and there in the thickest part.

—The Japanese decorated leather is very showy and finely adapted for screens, and covering the irregular shaped tables; many exquisite patterns have recently been received by G. Epple & Sons, of 916 Broadway, a very rich screen containing three panels was noticed, each panel was of cardinal plush with the magnolia design painted in oil colors, a space of about 12 inches intervened between the plush panel and frame, and was filled with strawberry pongee curtains suspended from a brass rod with rings; the whole design and style was extremely graceful and delicate.

—Many apartments are adorned with embroideries and hangings which rival in beauty and costliness those to be found in the Old World. McGibbon & Co., of No. 913 Broadway, display a large assortment of very elegant fabrics suitable for portieres, window hangings and wall panels; most exquisitely embroidered bed spreads and pillow covers, very beautiful and new designs in lunch and breakfast cloths with napkins to match in white or colors with the knotted fringe.

—Artificial roses arranged for lamp shades are very handsome, the bright carnation pink is also much used and with a very pleasing effect.

—Velours is the latest material used for embroidering on plush, although for certain kinds of leaves and flowers the arrasene is preferable and more effective.

—The mahogany stained square Harborough chairs are made very attractive by the addition of loose cushions of royal blue plush and embroidered with the nasturtium design in heavy embroidery silks, fasten on the chair by means of blue and orange ribbons.

—A novelty in screens is seen in the introduction of matting. This material takes oil colors well and forms an excellent neutral background for floral designs or landscapes. The dark woods are the most effective for framing this material.

—An exquisitely delicate frame has a covering of light blue plush, while at the left corner is carelessly thrown a bit of canary-colored pongee, which is held in place by a bunch of the holly and bright red berries.

—Square tables are now used for dinner and breakfast rooms, the favorite wood for these is oak, the buffet is in English oak, with bevelled glass or brass decorations.

—"Change is characteristic of humanity," not long ago pale blue and pink were considered mortal enemies, now they are the best of friends; maroon and silver grey are upon most intimate terms; dead leaf green and jonquil yellow are exquisite together, they have been old companions in the meadows for a long time; copper red and dull blue is the latest enthusiasm.

—In these days of artistic furnishing every article in the house should combine usefulness and beauty, the Japanese umbrella serves as quite an adornment, and lends special attraction to the table, it may be adjusted as a shade to the exquisite brass and silver standard lamps now so much in vogue, the effect of the light passing through the different colors of the paper is very soft and beautiful, these umbrellas spread open are effective for fire screens, punkas are also much used for screens and are placed in a frame constructed for that purpose, various articles in the way of Japanese decoration are continually being received by Vantine & Co., of 877 Broadway.

—A unique arrangement for holding salt is an imitation of a pump in silver, the pump forms the receptacle for the pepper, while a tiny gold-lined tub is placed under the spout of the pump for holding the salt.

—Women are not generally supposed to be very largely endowed with the inventive quality, yet many things of frequent use in a family were first imagined or procured by them. It first dawned upon the mind of some good old nurse that thistle seed would make a good down pillow for people in health as well as for those in sickness. Soft tissue paper, or newspaper, spread between the outer part of a quilt and its lining nearly doubles its warmth, while it does not add a perceptible particle to its weight; and, while on the subject of pillows, many may be glad to learn that one placed above and another below a vessel holding ice will keep it for a length of time unmelted.

City Reform at Albany.

"How do you account," said the writer to Mr. W. S. Andrews, "for the reform furore at Albany? Why is it that Mr. Roosevelt is so successful when all the politicians of all parties are against him?"

Mr. Andrews is an ex-Assemblyman; he was the chief of Mr. Tilden's "literary bureau," and is well acquainted with the inside of affairs at the State capital.

"To begin with," said Mr. Andrews, "the Republicans have a good majority and every reason this presidential year of making a good record. Then they have the countenance of Governor Cleveland, who is heartily in favor of reform measures, as he was once himself a Mayor and knows the depravity of the average alderman. Then there is a power behind the throne in a person not known to the general public, but who is very influential. He is a State Treasury clerk, and his name is Apgar. This gentleman was formerly Tilden's representative. It was Apgar who chose Chapin for Speaker last year, and who was the means of nominating Cleveland. He is a poor man, but thoroughly honest, and he controls a sufficient number of Democratic votes to back up Roosevelt and insure the success of the measures presented by the latter. The Republican and Tammany machines in this city are practically one organization; they find themselves powerless in the present state of affairs. If all the Democrats were opposed to this reform legislation, they could buy up a sufficient number of Republicans to defeat Mr. Roosevelt's measures, but Mr. Apgar and Governor Cleveland have so much power among the Democrats that the Tammany and Republican machines are unable to form successful combinations. If you notice the votes you will see that the politicians proper are very willing to have the heads of the departments elected. This gives them a chance to make deals and trades. What they dread is the power being lodged in the Mayor to appoint the heads of departments. I suppose, however," continued Mr. Andrews, "that many of the reform bills will be killed, not by voting them down, but by indirection—that is, by waiting to the end of the session and adjourning before final action."

Aliens and Real Property.

NEW YORK, March 8, 1884.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you please inform me as to the law relating to the holding of property (that is, real estate) in the United States by an alien? And also whether it is a fact that the Queen of England owns real estate in New York, and oblige A SUBSCRIBER.

REMARKS.—Our correspondent's question is rather a broad one.

An alien, resident or not, can take real estate by conveyance and hold it against every one but the State. A resident alien can take by will, but if a male of full age he cannot hold it against the State unless he make and file a declaration to become a citizen. An alien, resident or not, can convey the land so acquired by him to a citizen, who will thereby acquire a good title.

If a resident alien, or a naturalized, or a native born, citizen has purchased or hereafter shall purchase real estate in this State, and has died or hereafter shall die, leaving persons who, according to the statutes of this State, would answer the description of heirs of such deceased persons, or of devisees under his last will, and being of his blood, such persons so answering the description of heirs or of such devisees of such deceased person, whether citizens or aliens, can take and hold as heirs, or as devisees, the real estate owned by such deceased alien or citizen at the time of his death; but if such alien heir or devisee be a male of full age he cannot hold against the State unless he make and file said declaration.

Alien women are entitled to dower in lands of which their husbands were seized, if said husbands were citizens.

If a resident alien shall purchase real estate, and shall die after having devised or conveyed the same, the devisee or grantee, whether citizen or alien, can take and hold the title, provided, however, that if such devisee or grantee be an alien and of full age, he shall not hold the same against the State unless he make and file the said declaration of intention. Aliens who make and file a declaration of intention to become a citizen can sell or devise real estate (acquired by them by purchase or devisee) to any citizen or resident alien; but if the alien, grantee or devisee be a male of full age, he shall not hold it unless he make and file the said declaration.

An alien woman, resident of the State, can take and hold by devise under the will of her husband, or of any other person capable of devising; and can also take every beneficial interest or estate in her favor, or for her benefit, in any marriage settlement or in any will or devise made by her husband, or of any person capable of devising real estate, subject to the provisions of law relating to uses and trusts.

The last statute passed for the purpose of confirming titles of citizens obtained from or through aliens, is very comprehensive and differs from the prior acts passed for the same purpose in that it is prospective in its operations. It provides that the right, title or interest of any citizen to any lands now held or HEREAFTER ACQUIRED shall not be questioned or impeached by reason of alienage of any person or persons from or through whom the title may have been derived. (See laws 1877, Chap. III.)

The foregoing applies only to the State of New York; while the general principle would remain the same, the details vary in accordance with the statutes of each separate State. Besides this, special treaties with certain countries vary the time within which the alien heirs may make their claim, etc. LAW EDITOR.

Frames are now made to suit all varieties and styles of pictures for lovers and admirers of the noble horse. A frame has recently been introduced for the display of the favorite steed. It consists of a leather horse-collar and ornamented with silver trappings.

The Outlook for Cotton.

"I am somewhat of a bull on cotton," said Mr. R. P. Salter, of the firm of Lapham, Alexander & Co. "There is an important shortage in the Indian cotton crop, the Southern planters have marketed their crop for this year, and I do not think much remains upon the plantations. There is a goodly amount of cotton goods on the market, but not, I think, more than can be handled by the trade. Hence I look for firm prices and perhaps for an advance, a speculative advance, between now and the opening of the new crop year."

"But," asked the writer, "is not cotton pretty high just now?"

"Yes," said Mr. Salter, "the market figure is a pretty good one. It might be dangerous to buy for an advance when the very people who hold the cotton, and who have the warehouses and the capital to carry it, may short the market to buy in still more."

"Does it not seem, Mr. Salter, as though speculation were dying out on all the exchanges?"

"Yes," was the reply. "I think there are too many exchanges. There is a place for the Stock Exchange. The people who own securities ought to have where to sell them. I think a Real Estate Exchange is a very much needed institution. But why Oil and Coffee Exchanges? Indeed, I have some doubt if a Cotton Exchange is desirable. It has increased speculative dealings, to be sure, but it has not brought cotton to New York to be bought and sold. We handled 600,000 bales in this city one year and speculated to the extent of 36,000,000 bales, but a Real Estate Exchange ought to be second in importance only to the Stock Exchange. I am surprised, by the way, that the Metal Exchange has not been more successful. Its seats sell for only $200, and yet the one item of iron alone is of as great importance and magnitude in the country as cotton."

"Do you not think," Mr. Salter, "that the point made by THE RECORD AND GUIDE that the attempt to make gold the sole unit of value is depressing prices and injuring business all over the world?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Salter, "it certainly looks so. The 'shortening of the yard stick,' that is increasing the purchasing power of one metal at the expense of all other metals and products, is having an injurious effect on the trade of the world."

Electric Light Poles in the Streets.

Judge Ingraham, in the New York Superior Court, handed down on the 1st inst. a very important decision in the suit of Tuttle against The Brush Electric Light Company, which affects all city property owners and those along country highways too. The company put up poles in Twenty-fifth street, between Broadway and Sixth avenue, and Mr. Tuttle tried to get an injunction against placing them there, but the Court decided in favor of the company, upon the briefs of Mr. Wm. M. Evarts and Mr. Charles C. Beaman, Jr. The Judge's opinion contains the following points among others:

"Twenty-fifth street, between Broadway and Sixth avenue, in the city of New York, was opened in pursuance of the provisions of the act of 1813, and the land condemned by the city and paid for in pursuance of the provisions of that act.

"The fee of the land taken under the provisions of this act vests in the municipal corporation, the Mayor, &c., of New York, not absolutely but in trust for a public purpose, viz., that the lands may be appropriated and used forever as public streets. The municipal corporation, exercising within its sphere a portion of the sovereignty of the State, hold the property, not for its profit or emolument, but for the public to use as a street, and has neither the right nor the power to apply any such property to purposes inconsistent with street uses.

"But the limitation of the ownership of the city in the streets applies only to acts which are not 'included within the objects of the grant'—viz., that the land may be appropriated and used forever as public streets—as said in The People vs. Kerr; or 'inconsistent with street uses,' as said in Mahady vs. Bushwick Railroad Co. The Court of Appeals in the last case says that the Story case left untouched the decision in The People vs. Kerr, that a horse railroad was a street use consistent with the rights of abutting owners.

"Defendant is, therefore, entitled to judgment, if it appears that the acts of the defendants were authorized by the proper authorities, and that the use complained of is a street use within the objects of the grant to the city.

"Prior to the passage of the general act of 1813, the city of New York had under its general power used the streets for the purpose of providing light, and that at that time portions of the street were appropriated for such purpose. The trust on which the city held the streets was that they were to be appropriated for the purpose that the streets of said city were at that time used, viz., among others for lighting the streets; and an examination of the ordinances of the Common Council, and the statutes of the State, will show that from that time to the present the city of New York has continually used and occupied such portion of the streets as were necessary to properly light them.

"If the city authorities had erected the poles for the purpose of supplying the streets with light, it is evident that plaintiffs could not complain. Such a use of the streets would have been within the express words and conditions of the grant, and just such a use as that for which the city held the streets, viz., for the purpose of a public street. The fact that when the act was passed, the lamps were oil lamps placed on poles, and no poles were needed to carry the conductors to such lamps, would not prevent the city, when an improved method of lighting the streets had been discovered, from using such improved method.

"It cannot be seriously maintained that the structure here erected closes the streets to any appreciable extent, nor that such poles seriously affect the light or air of or the right of access to plaintiff's property; but such use of the streets is entirely consistent with the use of the street as a street, and is not such a structure as is 'subversive of and repugnant to the uses of the street as an open public street.'

"The examination that I have been able to give to this case has convinced me that the city authorities have the power to light the streets by contracting with the defendants, and having exercised such power, they are the sole and exclusive judges of the means to be employed, so long as they do not authorize a use which 'is subversive of and repugnant to the use of the street as an open, public street,' and the poles used by the defendants are not such a use.

"The fact that obstructions which have from time to time been authorized in the streets are gradually becoming so serious as to do great injustice to the owners of property fronting on the street used, must be apparent to all, but such considerations are properly addressed to the Legislature; the courts have to apply the law as they find it, and not attempt to correct abuses, the correction of which belongs to the legislative department of the government."

Prominent Buildings Under Way.

First-class apartment houses are not by any means overdone. The investor who is wise enough to profit by the experience of previous edifices of this kind constructed can, if he is in command of money sufficient, build an apartment dwelling so complete and luxurious in all its appointments that it will bring him in a very large income. The duplex feature is one which must be always borne in mind and then the decorative work must be such as to satisfy the most fastidious.

The apartment house on the northwest corner of Fifty-seventh street and Seventh avenue promises to be one of the most substantially built structures of the kind in the city. When completed it will be ten stories high, exclusive of basement and attic, and will contain forty suites of rooms, the duplex floors containing twelve rooms in each suite. The building is to be strictly fire-proof throughout, no wood being used excepting for doors and windows. It will have four Otis elevators; every floor will be trimmed in hardwood and the steam heating, electric appliances and plumbing will be of the most perfect character. The latter is to be done by day's work under the supervision of one of the ablest sanitary engineers in the country. The staircases will be of marble and iron. A novel feature will be a croquet ground for the use of the guests and their friends. This will be on the roof, and will be capable of being used all the year round, no matter what kind of weather. In summer it will be shaded by drawn blinds or otherwise, and in the winter will be heated by steam. By this ingenious arrangement the guests will be able to play croquet during the severest weather in the winter and thus obtain that necessary exercise from which they may be debarred by the inclemency of the weather. Croquet on a green lawn in winter will be quite a new thing in modern life, and that, too, at so high an elevation. A private billiard room will also be provided for the use of the house, while in the basement there will be a florist, doctor and chemist, so that everything necessary to the comfort and health of such a large number of people who will reside in this large building will be provided for. It is claimed for this apartment house that it is designed with a view to the comfort and security of life rather than to ornamentation, and no one can pass it by without feeling that it is a very solid and substantially-built structure. It will have a frontage of 150 feet on Fifty-seventh street and 100 feet on Seventh avenue. What the entire cost will be cannot be told until its completion, which is expected to take place in the fall. The architect of the building is James E. Ware, and the owner Thomas Osborne. It is reported that this apartment house will be placed in the market as soon as finished.

The Potter building is going forward rapidly, and will be one of the largest office buildings down-town. It will have a frontage of 96.10 feet on Park row, 144.8 on Beekman street, 90 feet on Nassau street and 103 8 along the party wall, adjoining the Times building. It will be eleven stories high, without the basement and cellar, the two latter of which will be fitted up for use as safe deposit vaults. The building material will be of brick, terra cotta and iron. The latter is being supplied by the New York City Iron Works and the terra cotta by the Boston Terra Cotta Company. The large iron piers on the first story, which are to be seen on passing the building, are 4.6x6.4 and 16.6 feet in height. The upper floors of the building—that is, from the fourth to the eleventh—will each contain twenty rooms of an average size of 16x20 feet, each room being capable of sub-division to suit the requirements of the future tenants. The main fronts of the building will be on Park row and Beekman street, though that on the latter will be the more imposing. There will be four elevators, and staircases nearly 13 feet wide throughout the building. The total cost of this immense structure has been estimated at about $700,000.

The collapse of the Standard mine is a real misfortune to the mining market. It has been a splendid property from the start and has been honestly managed. But, unlike a railroad or a farm, all mines must have an end. The Standard mine was the only one in the Bodie region which has paid continuous dividends. Those who first subscribed for it in New York at twenty dollars a share and retained it must have more than doubled their money in the dividends they received. The Standard has paid eighty-one dividends, ranging from twenty-five to seventy-five cents each, and has paid out altogether $4,475,000. The Bodie has paid twenty-two dividends, most of them of fifty cents each, and distributed $1,420,000. The worst feature about the Standard is that its stocks are held in small lots here in the East by investors, many of whom are women. The Standard may again discover a vein of ore, but it has found nothing profitable so far below the five hundred foot level. It is noticeable that none of the paying veins in either the Bodie or Standard were profitable in the lower levels. The present strike in the former is above the 300 feet level. As the Standard is no longer using the Bulwer mill the stock of the latter company is selling at an absurdly high price.

The need for a more rapid and secure means of conveying real estate is felt in other cities besides New York. The Chicago Real Estate and Building Journal, under the heading of "A New Doomsday Book," says if the plans necessary for such a work could be made complete every owner would be obliged to produce and present his claims. Perfect lucidity would then reign in a subject which is now involved and uncertain. The benefit of simplicity and certainty in facilitating transfers cannot be exaggerated. By this plan the actual ownership and therefore the duties and responsibilities of all property would become divested of technicalities; and rights and incomes of owners would be protected. Directness and clearness in reference to the rapidly augmenting volume of our real estate interests would be worth all it would cost, and would pay for itself in a few years. Recent discussions lend additional weight to our proposal to fix the actual ownership of all Chicago realty by means of a standard authority exclusively controlled by the State. A definite starting point to which all titles can be readily traced, and that would render complicated abstracts unnecessary, is urgently required.

Realty at Albany.

[From our own Correspondent.]

ALBANY, March 20.

The signing by the Governor of the bill which allows the Mayor of the city of New York to appoint heads of departments without submitting his selections to the approval of the Board of Aldermen, and the passage in both Houses of the bill providing for the election of a Comptroller next fall, to take office on the expiration of the term of Comptroller Grant in December next, marks the extent of the changes made during the past week in the workings of the city government hereafter. A bill for the election by the city at large of a President of the Board of Aldermen has passed the Senate and been ordered to a third reading in the Assembly. This is to prevent dead-locks and deals in the organization of that board, the official so elected to be a member of all boards of which the president of the board is now a member. With the passage of this bill all of the members of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, which fixes the amount that each department can expend and decides upon the rate of tax levied each year in the city, will be elective officers, except the President of the Tax Department.

In spite of the fact that the Corporation Counsel has sent here a circular announcing that the Mayor's cabinet, or heads of departments, disapprove of the bill prepared by the commission to locate parks in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards, for the purchase of property for six parks north of the Harlem River, the bill has been favorably reported in both Houses, only one dissenting vote in either committee. It appears that the Mayor's cabinet did not object to the establishment of parks north of the Harlem River, but to the fact that the heads of departments did not have the selection of sites and the control of the purchase of the lands therefor. These heads of departments will perhaps now understand that they are not all held in the highest esteem in Albany, and that a more efficient discharge of their present duties will do them no harm in the estimation of the public and the Legislature.

The new mechanic's lien law, introduced by Mr. Earl, referred to in a former letter, applying to all cities of the State, when it was reached on its third and final reading in the Assembly on Monday night was sent to the Judiciary Committee for further examination and report upon the extent and character of the changes in the present law on that subject, and its effect upon the building interests.

The bill to establish a commission to report a plan and prepare a bill to facilitate the transfer and exchange of titles in real estate has been favorably reported by the Senate Committee on Judiciary.

An important measure has been introduced in the Senate by Senator Coggeshall, amending the revised statute, so as to make the legal rate of interest on all mortgages, loans and notes hereafter made and issued in this State five per cent. instead of six, as now provided by law. The bill proposes to make five per cent. the legal rate of interest in the State.

Assemblyman Van Cott has presented a dangerous bill in the Assembly, which provides that whenever a deficiency shall arise from a sale under foreclosure of a mortgage on realty, or the amount received for the mortgaged property at the sale shall not be sufficient to meet the face of the mortgage, amount of interest due and expenses, it shall not be lawful for any mortgagee to enter up a personal judgment for the deficiency against any person whatever. The Assembly Judiciary Committee reported the bill favorably to-day.

The act providing for the repavement of Fifth avenue, by a commission, from Washington square to Fifty-ninth street, at a cost of $600,000, has been ordered to third reading in the Senate, but there is to be a contest on the bill when it comes up for final passage.

A portion of Fifth avenue has been macadamized north of Fifty-ninth street, but it does not appear to be satisfactory. Senator Robb has presented in the Senate, and a like bill has been introduced in the Assembly, providing for the removal of that pavement and laying granite blocks between Sixtieth and Seventy-second streets.

A bill has been introduced in the Senate providing for the issue of one million in bonds for the purchase of new sites for school buildings and the erection of appropriate buildings for school accommodations thereon within the city. Also a bill to set apart property at junction of West Tenth and Eleventh streets with West street, and the dock at that point, for the exclusive use of wholesale oyster dealers. It authorizes the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund to effect a lease of the property to the Wholesale Oyster Dealers' Association for a period of twenty-one years.

The bill requiring that telegraph, telephone and electric light wires shall be put underground in New York has at last been reported in the Senate. The telegraph companies have resisted and strenuously opposed this measure. Hereafter their attention will be divided between that and a bill which the Committee on Taxation to-day ordered to be reported, taxing all telegraph and electric light poles as real estate.

The act giving the Comptroller power to revoke permits given for the occupation of market stands has passed the Senate.

The bill of Senator Daly, regulating and defining the powers of the Superintendent of Buildings, in connection with the application of fire escapes to buildings used on tenement houses or flats, has been ordered to third reading in the Senate. This is an important measure to all owners of that class of property.

The question of transit, both rapid and by surface roads, has received considerable attention in the Legislature this week. The lines are being more definitely drawn between the several interests and different propositions, and the contending interests better known than heretofore. In the first place, the bill extending the hours on which only five cent fares shall be charged by the elevated roads to from 4 to 10 A. M. and from 3 to 9 P. M., or twelve hours each day, has passed the Assembly and is now awaiting the action of the Senate. The argument before the joint Railroad Committee on the bill enlarging the powers of the Broadway Underground Railway Company, and authorizing the construction of a four-track road on the Arcade plan, has taken place, and the nature and character of the opposition to that measure revealed. There appeared in opposition to the bill E. S. Jaffray, A. P. Mann, C. V. S. Cruger, H. H. Anderson and a few other representatives of property owners on Broadway, including the Trinity corporation. Four hours were allowed them to present their objections. Mr. Anderson made a legal argument, dwelling upon the fact that the construction of the road would disturb the sewer and other pipes laid under Broadway—a repetition of the story so often told in the past. The same set of protests were presented as those laid before a commission appointed by the courts a few years ago to determine whether a company organized under the tunnelling act should be allowed to build an underground railroad from the City Hall to Fourteenth street. Letters were, however, presented from several of these parties subsequently, announcing that they were in favor of the Arcade project.

The other objections were that the excavations would disturb the foundations of buildings, and that Trinity steeple would tumble over on to the bulls and bears of Wall street, causing a sad havoc among them, that the vaults would all be destroyed and that the temporary bridge used for traffic over the excavations while the work was in progress might break down. Last of all, the plea was set forth that Broadway belonged to the nation, and that the Legislature had no right to interfere with it by authorizing the construction of a railroad on, over or under it. It was too sacred to be used for any such purpose. This is the argument used by the late A. T. Stewart to keep surface roads off the street. As a result, the retail business was nearly all driven from Broadway below Fourteenth street to that portion above, which was provided with a surface road. The gentlemen who represented property on that street do not appear to have learned by the developments in New York that the value of their property is regulated by its accessibility, and that railroads, both surface and elevated, have increased the value of property for business purposes on streets through which they run. The value of realty for stores and business purposes is in proportion to the modes of transit by which they are accessible.

President Smith, of the Arcade Company, gave the objectors the names of the principal men connected with the enterprise, showing that it was no chimerical concern, and also presented numerous letters from large property holders on Broadway in favor of the project, while Engineer McAlpine and Architect Post explained the methods by which it was proposed to construct the road, and demonstrated that neither the Trinity Church steeple or the walls and foundations of a single building on Broadway would be disturbed or affected by it. As to the pipes and sewers, plans for their regulation and replacement where they could in the future be repaired without tearing up the street, were presented. It was shown that in building the underground railroad in London not only was the road built under some of the largest buildings but constructed under one of the largest monuments there without disturbing it or the foundations of the buildings in the least. The hearing was largely attended, and the opponents learned something of the possibilities of modern engineering, while the members of the committee congratulated the promoters of the Arcade Road on their complete and satisfactory answer to all the objections raised.

The promoters of the plan for a system of surface roads to be operated by cable power have had another hearing before the Assembly Committee and another interesting scene occurred. It has been demonstrated that the present street railroads and the promoters of the pending surface railroad bill are opposing the cable company's project. Those connected with the cable company are in turn opposing the street or surface railroad schemes. A direct conflict between them is the result, the cable company bringing to its aid all the political forces possible, and for that purpose they have brought here O'Brien, Chairman of the Republican Committee, and other New York politicians. It has been believed all the time that the bill for the extension of the time of the Rapid Transit Commission appointed by the Mayor in the interest of the cable company, was not in reality the legislation that they desired. At the hearing this week, Mr. Cozzans, who represented the city, announced that there must be something else behind it, and insisted upon their presenting their entire scheme, so that it could be seen whether there was any objection to it on the part of the public. This brought out Mr. Shaw, the attorney for the cable company, who showed that they desired the right to construct roads across town, and lengthwise through the city, with privilege to charge five cent fares in conjunction with a system of exchange tickets, which would enable a person on one side of the city to ride across town and then take one of their roads either up or down town, without paying extra or additional fares. This system is in operation in Philadelphia, and it would be of great benefit to New York. That statement and plan is a decided stroke to popularize the cable company's plans.

Mr. Shaw then explained that they wanted the restriction in the rapid transit act, which prohibited the crossing of Fifth avenue and Broadway and the erection of a road on Broadway below Fourteenth street, removed, so that they could construct a surface or other roads on Broadway, to be operated by cable power, and enable them to cross Broadway, Fifth avenue or the Central Park in the transverse roads, with their lines. This part of it, as a matter of course, stirred up the surface railroad interests and created a stir.

The bill to provide for the organization and construction of street railroads in cities and villages of the State occupied the time of the Senate for one entire day. This is the bill prepared by the railroad commission to meet the requirements of the State constitution. It provides for the organization of new companies, and for authority for present street railroads to extend their lines to meet the growth of any locality. The bill has been amended in some particulars, and in the consideration by the Senate its advocates carried all the amendments presented by their side, and all presented by those desiring to obstruct its passage for any cause were rejected. The Cable Company interest are however organizing against it with the hope of accomplishing something when the bill is taken up again next Tuesday. A section has been inserted authorizing the companies organized under it to use animal or horse power, or any other than motor locomotive steam power which may be assented to by the local authorities, in operating these roads. In all cities of over 150,000 inhabitants the companies operating roads under the law are required to pay 3 per cent. of their gross receipts to the city. The only thing that will prevent the passage of the bill is the war that has broken out between its supporters and the Cable Company. They may succeed in defeating each other.

On Wednesday the Board of Street Openings and Improvements met in the Mayor's office. There was a large attendance of property owners interested in the opening of Lexington avenue, between Ninety-eighth and Ninety-ninth streets, which is now partially taken for the use of the repair shops of the elevated roads. The subject, however, was not seriously acted upon by the Board, and a suggestion by Commissioner Thompson that the neighborhood mentioned be personally examined by the members of the Board was agreed to with an understanding that the question will come up for action at the next meeting. The Board resolved to lay out streets within the grounds of the Convent of the Sacred Heart, in Manhattanville, as desired by the authorities of the convent, and to close One Hundred and Fifty-fourth street, between Avenue St. Nicholas and Ninth avenue, on account of the steep grade.

"Money is a drug in New York; people don't know what to do with it, or rather are too cautious or scared to venture much. Yes, real estate is in good demand, and I guess it pays about as well as anything, and is certainly safe; certainly it has been that way in the case of the Astors, our greatest real estate proprietors. What will be done with the money? Oh, things will change; you can't tie money up in that way forever. Stocks will go down to a point—or have already reached it—where people will buy them. What will stimulate Wall street and all stock-dealing centres will be the feeling generally diffused that stocks are too low," J. W. Hutchinson, of Duff fame, says to a Chicago reporter.

Real Estate Department.

This has been a red letter week in the real estate market. The sales rooms have been crowded and better prices have been paid at auction for improved property than has been known since the speculative times from 1867 to 1872. Mr. Harnett's sale of the Leggett property on Tuesday brought together the largest assemblage that ever attended any one sale at the Exchange. The prices obtained surprised everybody, but then Mr. Harnett managed the business of the sale with unusual ability and enterprise, and it was widely and generously advertised. The prices compared with the rentals, as shown by the table we give elsewhere, are really surprising, for many of the houses are anything but first-class. Still it must be borne in mind that the leases are old ones soon to expire, and much larger rentals can doubtless be obtained under new leases. In addition the old leases provide that the tenants should pay for the repairs and taxes. This large sale shows that there is plenty of unemployed capital anxious to invest in real property. The experiences of investors in Wall street securities and in general business have been very unfortunate for the last two years, and it is now found that improved realty on New York island is not only a surer investment than the average run of stocks but also yields a larger return for the money invested. Still much of the success of this particular sale is due to the auctioneer, for on Wednesday a property which had not been advertised, the five-story brick store, No. 180 Front street, was knocked down for $36,750, when, according to a deed recorded last month, it sold in September last for $42,000 to Oscar E. Schmidt. However, taken as a whole, prices on 'Change were never better, the attendance larger or the bidding more spirited.

There are other properties soon to come into the market which will attract a great deal of attention. French's Hotel will be offered shortly and it ought to be eagerly bid for on account of its location. It is one of the best business sites in New York. The enormous masses of people that will cross the Brooklyn bridge in days to come will make that section of the city very desirable to first-class investors. Indeed the business of the bridge will at some time become so important as to require the entire front from Franfort street to William.

The following table contains a summary of the transactions at the Register's office for the week ending with the 20th instant, and affords a comparison with the transactions of the week ending March 22d a year ago. The aggregate amount expressed in the Conveyances, as has been the case for a number of weeks, is far in excess of that of last year, while the mortgage indebtedness again records a large decrease:

E. H. Ludlow & Co. will make one of the most important sales of the season on Thursday, April 3d. On that day they will offer for sale French's Hotel and other property of the estate of the late Col. Dick French. We have spoken elsewhere of the value of the hotel property. It has a width of 113.10 on Chatham street and a depth on Frankfort street of 136.3. This property could be put to any number of uses, all of them lucrative. Why should not the Sun Printing Company buy this property and sell their present site, so that the Tribune building could be complete with another tall tower on the corner of Frankfort street. The property included in the estate is also valuable, and comprises the four five-story brick stores and dwellings on the southwest corner of Thirtieth street and Third avenue, and No. 156 East Thirtieth street, with brick building; also No. 915 Third avenue, on the northeast corner of Fifty-fifth street, 25x 110, with four-story and three-story brick dwellings.

Richard V. Harnett & Co. will on Tuesday sell at public auction the stone front dwelling, No. 467 West Fifty-seventh street, lot 20x100.5; the plot on the northwest corner of Madison and Pike street, 54x45.9, and nine valuable improved lots, three on the southeast corner of Eighty-fourth street and Tenth avenue, three on Eighty-third street, and three on Eighty-fourth street.

On Wednesday Richard V. Harnett & Co. will offer No. 129 Broome street corner Pitt street, and No. 204 Broome street, each well built brick tenements, with stores on ground floors. Also Nos. 304, 306 and 308 East Forty-fourth street, three full size double brick tenements.

Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell on Wednesday at peremptory sale a number of choice private dwellings in the city of Brooklyn, on State, Sackett, Navy, Dean, Decatur and Warren streets, and Carlton and Prospect avenues. Terms to purchasers are liberal.

John F. B. Smyth elsewhere announces sales at public auction of a number of valuable properties. On Tuesday next he will sell the premises No. 26 Laight street, extending through and including No. 5 Vestry street, and on the same day the three-story brick dwelling No. 121 East Eighty-fifth street.

On Wednesday next Mr. Smyth will offer the following: No. 440 East One Hundred and Twenty-first street, a full-size three-story and basement dwelling, and a lot on the south side of One Hundred and Twenty-first street, 175 east of First avenue; also the business property No. 273 Water street, the fine three-story and basement private dwelling No. 17 East Twelfth street, and the premises No. 26 East Thirteenth street, with two-story brick store on front and brick stable on rear.

On Wednesday, March 26, James L. Wells will sell, in partition, eighteen desirable lots on Sixth Avenue Boulevard and West One Hundred and Fifteenth and One Hundred and Sixteenth streets; these lots are in the line of immediate improvement and should command good figures.

On Tuesday next, March 25, at No. 45 Broadway, Brooklyn, E. D., James C. Eadie will sell under order in partition, the following Greenpoint property. Nos. 61 to 75 Milton street, and Nos, 60 to 68 Greenpoint avenue, on which there is a brick factory, 99.11x40, fitted with boilers, engine, &c. On the plot are also several other well constructed tenements and buildings.

The elegant dwellings on the south side of Seventy-first street, near Ninth avenue, are well worth inspection by intending purchasers. They will compare favorably with many of the first-class houses on the east side, and can be obtained for about 30 per cent. less cost, owing to the ground having been bought at a low figure. The interiors of these houses are superbly finished in hardwood. The floors are inlaid, and there are bevelled mirrors, buffets in the dining rooms, elaborate grates and fixtures, and transoms in the cabinet work. A reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE had an opportunity of inspecting the houses, including the plumbing work, which is of a first-class character. Hygienic vapor bath appliances are provided, and there are two bath rooms in each dwelling. One or two of the houses have a large and imposing entrance hall, with a grand staircase leading to the upper floors elaborately worked in oak, giving the appearance of a stately mansion. The buildings vary in size to suit all purchasers, and prices with full particulars can be obtained on application to the owner and builder, G. W. Hamilton, 408 West Seventy first street. The elevated road station is at Seventy-second street and Ninth avenue.

The well-known Empire building on the corner of Broadway and Rector street, being Nos. 69, 71 and 73 Broadway, has just been renovated at a cost of about $50,000. New floors have been laid and all the offices have been decorated and painted. There is but one vacancy in the building, which is a desirable large office on the ground floor, 42x105 feet, as will be seen from an advertisement on another page. The present annual renta of this building is said to be $110,000. It has a frontage of 82.6 feet on Broadway, 223 feet on Rector street and 53 feet on New Church street, and has an uninterrupted north light, making the offices especially desirable for artisans, architects, lawyers and others.

With money on call at 1½ to 2 per cent., sound real estate investments netting from 4 to 6 per cent. may well be considered good, not to speak of a prospective increase in value. But it appears that first-class property in the dry-goods district brings even higher figures. Daniel Birdsall & Co., of No. 319 Broadway, are offering real estate in that location which yields a net annual return of 10 per cent. Property of this kind is certain to be eagerly sought after by intending investors.

Bedford Park, inside the city limits and eighteen to thirty minutes distant from Forty-second street, by Harlem Railroad, has become a desirable residential locality owing to the improvements inaugurated by the Twenty-fourth Ward Real Estate Association. Within its present precincts have been erected a number of villas and cottages containing all improvements, which are offered at reasonable figures to those desiring handsome medium-sized dwellings in a locality convenient to the centres of business.

Mr. Leonard J. Carpenter advertises for lease the well-located plot, 75x82, with brick buildings, on the corner of Lafayette place and Great Jones street. The neighborhood is one that has for some years been increasing in value as a business location, and to those seeking a desirable leasehold site for business purposes we would suggest an investigation.

Investors and builders should not neglect to examine the advertisement of Mr. Cyrille Carreau in another column. He presents for their consideration the plot of sixteen full lots on One Hundred and One Hundred and First streets, just east of New avenue and west of Eighth avenue. The property is one particularly desirable to those seeking west side investments and is convenient to Central Park and elevated station.

A number of west side lots, all adjoining Central Park West, late Eighth avenue, are offered for sale, and present a good opportunity for investment, in view of their prospective increase in value. The lots are in the direct line of improvement; are to be had at cheap figures. Apply to V. K. Stevenson, Jr., 81 Cedar street. See advertisement.

Mr. Ferdinand Fish, of No. 149 Broadway, advertises for business property for improvement and alteration, and is prepared to purchase or lease at reasonable figures any good business site below Canal street, irrespective of its present condition.

Harry Muldoon will improve the southwest corner of Third avenue and Ninety-sixth street, and not J. J. Macdonald as heretofore announced, he having purchased the property from the latter. Eleven tenements, five on the avenue with stores, will be built on the plot at a cost of about $150,000 directly the excavations are finished, which will not be for several months yet. John Brandt will be the architect.

Ferdinand Fish has under way the improvement of No. 252 Broadway, and is preparing plans for extensive alterations to No. 265 Broadway, including the addition of an elevator, and connecting with a new building to be erected by George E. Harney on the site of No. 267 Broadway.

Samuel Smyth will erect four five-story tenements, with stores on the first floor, on the northwest corner of First avenue and Sixty-fifth street. The corner will be 25x86, and the others about 25x76 each, the total cost being about $65,000.

Sutton has leased the entire top floors of the buildings Nos 944, 946 and 948 Broadway, and intends to construct a series of beautiful art galleries, to connect with the present American Art Gallery. The principal room will be 37x75, and the minor galleries of lesser size. There will be a connecting stairway treated as a conservatory, and the decorations will be of a handsome character. The cost of the alterations will be about $15,000. H. Edwards-Ficken is drawing the sketches. Joseph Liebmann, the well-known brewer of Brooklyn, will erect a handsome residence on the south side of Seventy-second street, about 180 feet east of Madison avenue. It will be about 23x65x102.2, and finished in hard wood in cabinet style.

The contract for the erection of the additional new building for Washington Market has been awarded to Bernard Gallagher, the price being $68,550.

Charles Baxter is the architect for four five-story brick flats, 25x80 each, to be erected on north side Sixty-fourth street, about 100 feet east of First avenue. The owner, Michael Whelan, will expend $60,000 on their construction. The buildings will be interspersed with stores, and are principally intended for the accommodation of the numerous employes of the company, and will be built in the neighborhood of their factory at that place. The houses will be built in installments of ten, the first lot to commence at once, and the remainder to be completed within a few years. The estimated cost of this improvement is nearly $500,000.

J. R. Thomas has the sketches for a brick and granite church, 65x67x100, to be erected at Danville, Va., for the First Methodist Church of that city, at a cost of $40,000, and for a two-story and attic brick, granite and terra cotta residence, 45x70, to be built in the same city, for George W. Swain, at a cost of $20,000.

The structure will be 90x100, and contain sixteen rooms and one large hall on the first floor. Owner, C. O. Traynor; cost, $48,000. The plans are being prepared by Charles Baxter. The same architect has the sketches for a stone church, 60x85, for the Methodist community of Norwalk, to cost about $60,000 and to accommodate about 1,200 persons.

Special Notices.

The Bedford Oolitic Limestone has been very largely used in different parts of the country for building purposes. This stone is of a true oolitic formation, and is a good light stone for architectural purposes. It is adapted for interior decorations, its surface being susceptible of a high and durable polish. It is close grained and easily carved, and has an ultimate strength of 10,000 pounds to the square inch. The owners of the quarries are Thomlinson & Reed, Avoca Quarries, near Bedford, Ind. Their sole agent up East is Mr. Frank Williamson, No. 614 Chestnu street, Philadelphia.

Attention is called to the card of John J. Bartlett, real estate and insurance agent, whose office is at Riverhead, N. Y. Residents in New York and elsewhere having property in this location would do well to communicate with Mr. Bartlett, who is a young and energetic worker. He is also a searcher and conveyancer and examines titles to land in Suffolk County at very moderate rates. He has references from O. B. Ackerly, late County Clerk of Suffolk, now of Yonkers, N. Y.; the Hon. E. A. Carpenter, Sag Harbor, L. I.; W. M. Smith and T. M. Griffing, attorneys, of Patchogue and Riverhead, L. I., respectively.

G. S. Harvey & Co., of Brooklyn, have secured the contract for the stained glass in Luke's Church, at Albany. It is to be a very handsome and costly piece of work. Each window will contain figures representing Biblical subjects, and they will all be memorial. The dedication will take place about June 1 next.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—No very radical change has taken place on the market for Common Hards since our last. The extreme figures previously noted possibly require some little modification, but as they in most cases represented asking rates rather than an actual operating basis, there is neither loss to sellers nor gain for buyers in shading them down. As now quoted the valuations are placed at about $5.50@6 00 per M for Jersey, $6.25 or possibly $6.50 for Staten Islands, $6.50@7.00 for Long Islands, $7.25@7.50 and a possible $7.75 for Haverstraws. No "Up Rivers" at hand to date but the condition of the Hudson leads to the expectation that shipments may soon become possible. The demand during the week has been more or less interrupted by the storms and in a great many instances it was only under conditions of special necessity that buyers were willing to move. All things considered, however, the volume of trade has been fair and receivers were not complaining to any serious extent over the ruling state of affairs, especially as they found no serious burden of surplus stock to trouble them. There was always enough brick on hand and some to spare, but as manufacturers, especially on the Hudson, have been careful about the shipments, the accumulation did not run up heavy. It may be well to note again that the holding back of stock at point of production is in no way an attempt to force a higher market, but simply a natural precaution where evidences are so plain that the consumption does not require a larger quantity at the moment. From the best information to be obtained at the present time, the prospects appear good for a very fair general trade as soon as the state of the weather permits the pushing forward of work, but we observe no very buoyant expectations regarding prices. Pales of good quality are selling readily and holding a firm position with $4.00@4.25 per M. generally quoted, though inferior lots would not command quite so much Fronts remain quiet and nominal for all grades, though rates will probably soon be fixed.

CEMENT.—Just at the moment the movement of all kinds is somewhat moderate, partly for want of stock, but the tone firmer. This is especially noticeable on foreign goods, the best grades of which are in limited supply and held higher owing to a scarcity of sail tonnage abroad and an advance in freight charges from 3s. 6d. to 8s, with only small amounts of stock afloat.

LATH.—A very unsettled tone is developed on such reports as can be obtained, and an unusually wide range of figures is mentioned, so great, indeed, as to prevent the fixing of any positive rate for the present. In point of fact the manner in which this market is reported commences to assume something the form of a farce, and we repudiate all responsibility for errors, apparent or real, owing to sheer inability to obtain definite information in explanation of the remarkable difference in prices mentioned. We can obtain any quantity of gratuitous advice as to the manner in which we should conduct our business, with original and unique suggestions upon the production of market reports, but in answer to a few simple queries intended to reconcile apparent discrepancies, receive only evasive and ambiguous answers. Under the circumstances, therefore, we accord all hands a hearing, and merely record that sales have been reported to us at $2.35, $2.25, $2.20, $2.10, $2.00, $1.90 and $1.85 per M., with each figure claimed to be "about right" and the "other fellow" wrong. Conservative operators at the close thought that $2.00@2 20 per M. "might be" a fair figure, but would not commit themselves fully, and as we refuse to name a price at the moment, those interested can simply consult the above range and take their choice. There is the stereotyped report about small quantities on the way and the excellent prospects for demand, but appearances indicate that lath enough have been available of late and that no very eager attendance of buyers are awaiting additional offerings.

LIME.—There has been a fair demand and it exhausted considerable stock, but hardly possessed sufficient volume and force to withstand the influence of the larger arrivals, and the market has weakened on both grades of Eastern. There is some irregularity in the development of the change apparently, as reports do not closely agree, and we find on one hand that the market is "quoted" at $1.00 and $1.20 per bbl. respectively for common and finishing and on the other that "sales have been made" at 95 and $1.00 per bbl. respectively for the two grades as above.

GLASS.—The market in a general way continues quite irregular, and said to be more or less unsatisfactory to the selling interest. The outlet offered for stock, it is claimed, has proven much less than calculated upon, with no indication as yet of hurry on the part of buyers, but the accumulation in the meantime increasing and creating considerable trouble for those compelled to handle it. We do hear whispers, however, in contradiction of the above, and even claiming that in reality the distribution of supplies for several weeks has been quite full and is likely to continue on most regular outlets, one or two houses reporting business quite as full as for several years. On prices the tone is steady for imported goods owing to reduced importation, but on domestic a little irregularity is shown. The workmen who went to Belgium during the recent strike have returned to Pittsburg in something of a hurry, as foreign employers had commenced to cut down wages and could not be coerced by the operatives. It is reported that two new factories are to be started in Massilon, Ohio. Dispatches from Pittsburg contain the following: A committee of Western window glass manufacturers and workers have gone to the East to settle a trouble that may cause serious complications. The trouble was thus set forth by a manufacturer to-day: "The Eastern window glass manufacturers have been cutting prices lately and threatened to lower the market. They are now selling 10 per cent. below us, and that amount is a great deal just now. The Eastern scale of wages is lower than that in force here, and by cutting prices they can injure the Western district a great deal. The Eastern workmen have stuck to their rates, but the cutting was done by the manufacturers' association. A committee was appointed to go East and have a talk with those manufacturers."

LUMBER.—As it is usual at this time of year to find a comparatively quick demand for desirable cargoes offering afloat, and more or less anxiety to obtain contracts for special delivery during April and May, it is very natural that the absence of such features should create an unfavorable impression. Indeed, the continued dragging character of the current business is becoming a source of considerable complaint, and many of the Trade are laboring on a somewhat depressed state of feeling. Consumption is unquestionably slow, yard stocks are holding out beyond the ordinary average, and advices from primary sources are not calculated to raise apprehension of any important addition to cost, if any at all, yet the more recent changes assume a slightly favorable character so far as the movement is concerned. On both the Southern and Eastern product buyers have expressed a willingness to negotiate to a moderate extent when receivers have useful and attractive stock to offer, and a few special bills have also been put in for estimate, with indications of more to come in the latter line. It is true that the demand altogether looks very small compared with former seasons, but inasmuch as it is an increase over two or three weeks ago, and promises to hold and probably expand, it appears reasonable that it should be accepted as a basis for hopeful feeling. If fact, we can see no reason to expect other than a fair trade in standard grades of lumber as the season opens, but it is not likely that buyers will allow themselves to be hurried in their movements.

Eastern Spruce changes but little as to general features, though if anything the indications are of a more favorable character. Ordinary randoms and any of the riff-raff stuff manufacturers occasionally try to crowd upon this market are at quite as great a discount as ever, but when care has been taken to select a schedule adapted to the regular wants of local trade dealers in this city or Brooklyn can be found to give it attention, always providing that no attempt is made to add to the line of cost or to hurry sales. Receivers, however, cannot in every instance avoid the latter feature, owing to the necessity of securing a berth and unloading as quickly as possible, and this of course gives the buyer some advantage. Specials are coming to hand occasionally, and we also understand that manufacturers are getting some increase of business of the same kind along the Sound and at ports further east. Quotations may be placed at about $13@16 per M to cover the general run but some specials are said to have been placed recently at a higher figure.

White Pine retains the attention of exporters to a fair extent and there is said to be quite an amount of stock now under negotiation on foreign account. Home trade, however, does not afford many satisfactory or encouraging features, and there is quite an inclination to speak of the market in an uncomplimentary manner. Indeed there seems to be a strong belief that cost must go down this season and all buyers who can do so stand off awaiting the event. Coarse grades are expected to suffer to the greatest extent. We quote $17.50@19.00 for West India shipping boards; $28@30 for South American do.; $14@16 for box boards, and $16.50@18.00 for extra do.

Yellow Pine presents quite as many attractions for buyers as ever. Manufacturers are willing sellers and ready to compete closely upon all desirable calls made. Freight rates are low and tonnage capacity liberal enough to insure quite prompt delivery, but there is a failure to materially stimulate business and the small increase of demand is confined in the main to odd cargoes now and then taken where assortments require filling up or a special ordered against some positive want. Quotations under the circumstances remain somewhat nominal, but are certainly no higher. In the meantime there is a pretty good trade doing in free on board orders, and some of our local operators speak quite cheerfully of their success in that line. South America and the West Indies take a fair proportion of the goods sold, and there has been considerable done for shipment to the continent of Europe, but the trade with England is not spoken of with much enthusiasm. We quote as follows: Randoms, $18@21.50 per M; Specials, $21@32 do.; Green Flooring Boards, $22@23; Dry do., do., $23@24; Siding $22@23 do.; Cargoes f. o. b at Atlantic ports, $14@14.50 for rough, and $19@22 for dressed. Cargoes f. o. b. at Gulf ports, $13@14 for rough, and $18@20 for dressed.

Hardwoods have not been offered with much freedom, and even the "culls" were a little scarce. There is all of the latter the market requires, however, but a considerable addition to the offering of fine to choice stock could be placed at full prices. Ash, cherry, oak and walnut of high grade are all wanted for home use. The latest advices from England report a large stock of American walnut and a slow sale for it. We quote at wholesale rates by car-load about as follows: Walnut, $65@110 per M; ash, $35@40 do.; oak, $30@55 do.; maple, $20@32.50 do.; chestnut, $25@30 do.; cherry, $40@75 do.; whitewood, $27@35 do., do.; elm, $22@25; hickory, $45@52.50 do.

The following despatch came from Rochester under date of March 19, and we give it for what it is worth:

A scheme of great importance to all lumber men throughout the State has come to light here this evening by which all lumber from western and southern Pennsylvania, which has hitherto reached the seaboard by way of Philadelphia, will hereafter be controlled by wealthy lumber capitalists in central and western New York and reach the seaboard by way of the Rochester & Pittsburg and Central & Hudson River railroads to New York city. Upon the invitation of the officers of the Rochester & Pittsburg road, a company of nearly 100 of the wealthiest lumber capitalists of Albany, Schenectady, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester and Tonawanda have made a trip over the Rochester & Pittsburg road during the past three days, and held conferences with all the heaviest mill owners in southern and western Pennsylvania. The party returned this evening, and though all are very reticent on the subject, they admit that a combination has been formed by which all products of this, the greatest lumber district at present in the United States, will be controlled by the capitalists referred to, and will reach the seaboard by way of New York city instead of Philadelphia.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman and Manufacturer comes to us this week enlarged from the old folio form into a fine twenty-four page paper, overflowing with news upon lumber and lumber interests of the section it represents. The success of the paper during the past eight years is sufficient evidence of its worth, and in the new and more convenient dress we predict for it still more rapid progress. Courtesy and honesty in giving credit for "scissors" work is a marked feature of the publication, in decided contrast with some of its contemporaries. The market report of the Lumberman and Manufacturer to latest date is as follows:

There is a very visible increase in the demand for lumber all over the West. Minneapolis is now sending out 50 cars per day, and the receipts from Wisconsin points are merely nominal. A prominent buyer after looking over the Wisconsin River reports us that he failed to secure a single car load of siding or flooring of which he stood in need, although he offered $2 00 over list. Holders insisted on selling all the lower grades with uppers, or not sell at all. The Chicago cut rates continue to give that city a large amount of Southwestern business, but reports from Hannibal say that their eight cent rate is giving them a good trade, as will be noticed elsewhere. St. Louis has not the slightest reason to complain of the demand. Saginaw reports some heavy sales at $10, $20, $40, and numerous inquiries. The heaviest shipments ever made from interior points in Michigan have been made during the last month.

News from the woods becomes so definite as to enable us to say that the crop (old and new) of logs will certainly equal that of last year if it does not exceed it. The figures given of the upper Mississippi sufficiently demonstrate this. We still insist that good logs will command good prices, owing to their scarcity, and advise holders to be firm.

SAGINAW VALLEY

LUMBERMAN'S GAZETTE,
BAY CITY, MICH.

The market on the Saginaw River may yet be considered quite sluggish, although sales occasionally leak out. The market really seems worse on the surface than it really is, owing to the reticence of manufacturers, who are averse to "reporting their business" as they term it, and what sales are reported are warmed out of them by stratagem, in many cases, and then on the promise that their names shall not be divulged. On this account not half the sales which actually take place are reported. We have "caught on" to the following, however, since our last report: A manufacturer in this city sold last week 650,000 to Buffalo parties at $9, $18 and $38, but we are not at liberty to give names; 350,000 feet were sold at Saginaw on Wednesday last at $10, $20 and $40; and 500,000 feet at $8 50, $17 and $37; also 200,000 feet at same place at $8.50, $17 and $36; also a sale was made last week of 300,000 feet at $28 straight; J. & G. Backus recently sold to Ed. Germain, at East Saginaw, 400,000 feet, to be transferred by rail; John J. Winsor, of East Saginaw, also report a sale of 2,000,000 feet to eastern parties, figures not given.

Loggers are withdrawing their forces from the woods, the late spell of soft weather being the incentive. It is pretty definitely settled that the crop of logs is large, and the mills will find no difficulty the coming sawing season in putting in full time.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

CHICAGO.

The general spring demand, up to this date, has not put in an appearance. The cold and stormy weather over a great portion of the country immediately tributary to this market has rendered it impossible to use much lumber, and yard dealers in the country have deferred buying until more favorable conditions prevail. It is possible that within a few days succeeding this date a pronounced change for the better may come, as there are now evidences that the backbone of the winter is broken, and that the activities of the season will begin.

The stock of really dry lumber is becoming low. Prices in such cases are reasonably firm and uniform. When prices are made to outside customers, considerable latitude is given. It is doubtful if the feeling as to prices on common stock is quite as firm as it was early in the winter. The talk that is freely being indulged in among manufacturers about the probability that dimension, especially, will rule lower than last year, weakens the views of yard holders. Yet dry lumber of all kinds, and the upper grades in any event, will likely hold on the even tenor of their way till the opening of navigation.

On all the streams logging is progressing favorably. The thaw has struck several of the towns at the mouths of the rivers, but we have not learned that it has thawed in the woods enough to impair the roads On the contrary, in some districts where the snow was deep and mealy, there has been a temperature that has settled the snow and made hauling easier. Some contracts have been finished, and some men who could work longer, provided they wanted to, are straggling out of the woods, having had enough for one season. The indications are that driving will be begun under promising conditions.

The past week on the hardwood market has been devoid of any striking features. Business has not been quite as brisk as during the latter part of February, but on the whole has been quite satisfactory to the dealers. Prices cannot be said to be appreciably higher, but there seems to have been established a better ratio between the buying and selling prices. There is a considerable divergence of views in regard to the stocks of dry lumber in the country. Some parties occasionally have a little difficulty in filling orders for good thick oak and ash. The popularity of red oak for finishing purposes is still on the increase.

As butternut is attracting some notice, special inquiry has been made as to prices paid here for this wood. Some dealers have purchased firsts and seconds at prices below or quotations, but admit that they got them below value, and that $35 is about what they must pay.

Common whitewood is the only grade in that wood that is being handled to any extent at present, but transactions are on a very small margin, and not very satisfactory to dealers. Stocks are not large, and it will be many weeks before they can be replenished.

As we have noticed before, common and cull walnut has been meeting with a more vigorous requirement, which has settled values within more definite limits, and given a firmer tone to the market. Firsts and seconds in this wood, however, are still in limited demand, and former conditions prevail.

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot on home account has met with about the usual demand, and no open display of animation took place. Offerings, however, proved moderate, and this helped to sustain values without much difficulty. There has also been rumors of large purchases made for export, and while no admission of this kind is made there is enough smoke to lead to the impression that there must be fire somewhere. Lake quoted at 14¾@15c.; other brands, 14@14½c. Manufactured Copper fairly active and generally ruling steady at rates for some time current. We quote as follows: Brazier's Copper, ordinary size, over 16 oz. per sq. foot, 23c. per lb.; do. do. do., 16 oz. and over 12 oz. per sq. foot, 25c. per lb.; do. do., 10 and 12 oz. per sq. foot, 28c. per lb.; do., do., lighter than 10 oz. per sq. foot, 30c. per lb.; circles less than 84 inches in diameter, 26c. per lb.; 84 inches in diameter and over, 29c per lb.; segment and pattern sheets, 26c. per lb.; locomotive fire-box sheets, 24c. per lb.; Sheathing Copper, over 12 oz. per sq. foot, 21c. per lb., and Bolt Copper, 24c. per lb. IRON—Scotch Pig without much animation, and small jobbing lots satisfy the principal outlets. Stocks remain under close enough control to be carried firmly, but holders admit that to increase their business it would be necessary to reduce rates somewhat We quote at $20.00@22.50 per ton, according to brand. American Pig has met with a fair general sale, but the business was conducted without flurry or excitement and carried no impression amounting to anything of importance Agents generally speak in a cheerful confident sort of mood, and appear to feel that they can carry advantage without much difficulty, though few indulge in expectation of securing a buoyant tone on any grade. "Cheap" irons do not appear to be quite so plenty. We quote $20.50@21.50 per ton for No. 1 X foundry. $19.00 @20.00 for No. 2 X do do., and $18.00@19.00 for gray forge. Rails come under contract to some extent in small lots, but there is little or no outlet for any considerable quantity, and the general tone of the market is only barely steady. Quotations are placed at about $34.00@35.00 per ton, according to delivery. Old Rails meet with a slow and somewhat uncertain demand, but are held steadily. Scrap has been more active, and the increased movement strengthens the market somewhat. We quote at $22.00@22.50 for tee rails, $23.00@24.00 for double heads, $22.50@23.00 for No. 1 wrought scrap ex ship, $23.50@24.00 for selected do., $18.00@19.00 for old car wheels, and $22.00@23.00 for crop ends. Manufactured iron selling slowly from store grades and assortments, but a little more inquiry for agricultural shapes and assortments and at good, full figures in most instances. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 2.00@2.10c. from store, and Refined at 2.15@2.50c.; Rods, round and square 2.25 @2.50c.; Bands, 2.50@2.60c.; Norway Nail Rods 5¼@5½c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 3.00@3.20c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. LEAD—Domestic Pig has recently found a decided improvement in demand and some pretty large sales were made. This, in connection with a reduction in the output, infuses a generally healtier tone throughout the market. Holders now offer with a greater degree of caution and preserve a full line of value reached on the advance in cost. We quote at about 4.15@4.25c. per lb., according to brand and the size of invoice handled. The manufactures of lead are steady and quoted: Bar, 5c.; Pipe, 6¼c.; and Sheet, 7¼c., less the usual discount to the trade; and Tin-lined pipe, 15c.; block tin Pipe, 45c., on same terms. TIN—Pig has found a very irregular and somewhat feverish market with constant fluctuation in value. Consumers will not anticipate their wants under fear of speculative manipulation, and the tendency is to leave the carrying of supplies as near first hands as possible. We quote at 18@18½ for Straits and Australian, 19½@19¾ for English, and 19½@19⅝ for Banca. Tin plates meet with moderately active attention mostly in small lots to satisfy regular trade wants and the general tone of the market is tame on all grades. We quote I. C. Charcoal, third class assortment, $5..5@5.35 for Allaway grade, and $6.10@6.12½ for Melyn grade; for each additional X add $1.25 and $1.50 respectively; I. C. Coke, $4.65@4.67½ for B. V. Grade; $4.85@4 87½ for J. B. grade; Charcoal terne, $4.75@5.10 for Alaway and Dean grades 14x20; $9.75@10.25 for do. 20x28; Coke terne, $4.50@4 55 for Glais grade 14x20, and $9.55@9.60 for do. 20x28—all in round lots. Spelter not very active, but stocks under good control and the general market firm all around. We quote at 4½@5½c. for domestic and foreign, according to brand, quantity, etc. Sheet Zinc meeting with moderate calls and ruling about steady at 5¾@7c., according to quantity, quality, delivery, etc.

NAILS.—Demand has fluctuated to some extent but most reports agree that the general volume of trade shows no decided increase or loss, and that in the aggregate it is a pretty even business compared with some weeks past. Stocks are not in all cases plentiful, but no dealer has experienced decided trouble in filling orders, and competition is strong enough to prevent an addition to values except now and then on small lots. Quotations are named at $2.60@2 65 per keg for 10d. to 60d., but buyers of a larger quantity would obtain lower figures.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Consumption is increasing somewhat and while that has in a measure been discounted by former purchases on the part of jobbers the effect upon the general market is beneficial. Holders carry staple and desirable stocks with greater steadiness and the bids are of a prompt character from the majority of customers. Linseed oil remains quite steady and is going out in about the usual quantity. We quote at 57@58 for domestic, and 58@59 for foreign. Spirits turpentine has been very dull, was offered with some freedom and rates declined to 34½@36½ per gallon, according to size of invoice.

PITCH AND TAR.—A little more doing partly on shipping orders and the market steady all around in consequence, but sellers accept all full bids and have stock enough for the demand. We quote pitch $2.25@2.30 per bbl., and tar $2.50@3.00 do., according to quantity, quality and delivery

MARKET QUOTATIONS.

Our figures are based upon cargo or wholesale values in the main. Due allowance must therefore be made for the natural additions on jobbing and retail parcels.

J. T. LINDSEY, Business Manager.

MARCH 29, 1884.

Business is beginning to improve as the spring advances. All or nearly all the omens are auspicious. Wheat is falling in price and will continue to do so until it can be exported to Liverpool at a profit; that is one good signs. The West-bound freights are increasing, due to a better demand for goods at the West and South; that is another good sign. A very active demand has sprung up for improved real estate, which is the best sign of all. The spring is now fairly under way, the planting season is all that could be desired, money is very easy, emigration is large and good securities at present prices are tempting to investors. Who knows but what we may be happy yet?

The same day that Minister Sargent was transferred from Berlin to St. Petersburg the President sent an urgent message to Congress to vote for seven more iron-clad vessels for our navy, finish the monitors and get the plant for casting great guns for our navy and our coast defences. Of course there is no connection between the withdrawal of Sargent and the recommendation to increase the navy. Oh, no!

Why don't the Congressional revenue reformers take a leaf out of the tactics of the municipal reformers at Albany, and, instead of introducing one bill, bring in a dozen or more, each effecting special interests. It is notable that a general change has rarely been made in our tariff, never indeed except when the war opened and the Southern Senators and Representatives left their seats in Congress. The tariff has been often amended, but every bill effecting all interests has been either killed or so emasculated as not to be of any value as a reform measure.

A few years will transform the Fourth avenue between Union square and the Park Avenue Hotel. The Florence apartment house is to be extended so as to take in the whole block between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets. Then a new lyceum is to be constructed adjoining the Academy of Design. This will be a building of some architectural pretension. Then the Kiralfy Brothers have their plans prepared for constructing a theatre for spectacular purposes, adjoining the Belvedere Hotel, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets, and another great improvement is spoken of at length elsewhere, which involves a magnificent fire-proof structure which will take up all the block now occupied by the Madison Square Garden, save along the front on Madison avenue, which is to be occupied by an immense apartment house. This great hall will furnish accommodations for horse shows, circuses, fairs, floral exhibitions, walking matches and great public meetings. Of course other large enterprises will naturally follow. Restaurants will be needed, and other pleasure resorts will spring up so that the Fourth avenue may in time be somewhat like Fourteenth street between Third avenue and Broadway, thronged with places of amusement and refreshment. In times past, Fourth avenue property was held in high esteem, but it failed to realize expectations as it did not prove a good business street, and was unsuitable for dwellings. But hereafter there can be no doubt as to the estimation in which real estate on this avenue will be held.

Herbert Spencer declines to become a candidate for member of Parliament, because he thinks the sphere of government should be limited to seeing that justice was done between men and men. In his letter declining the nomination he says: "That which I hold to be the chief business of legislation—an administration of justice, such as shall secure to each person, with certainty and without cost, the maintenance of his equitable claims—is a business to which little attention is paid; while attention is absorbed in doing things which I hold should not be done at all." But what would our lawyers do if Herbert Spencer's ideal government were established? Their business is to live by litigation, to profit by the dishonesty of men. Our great and costly lawsuits are not only a denial of justice, but are a distinct sanction by government of deliberate plunder. The Stock and other Exchanges can settle money disputes of great magnitude for the merest trifle, but under the forms of our courts estates are swallowed up; our Surrogates Courts are the headquarters of ghouls, whose business it is to devour the substance of every dead man's estate; our most eminent counsel are those who are paid the most excessive and monstrous bills. Herbert Spencer is right. Justice should be certain and without cost. In this country it is uncertain and terribly dear, and results generally in injustice, and the worst of it is that it is from this plundering caste we take all our rulers. Every possible presidential nominee is a lawyer. Another point is worth noting. In England men like John Stuart Mill, Herbert Spencer, Frederic Harrison, John Morley and other lights in literature and science are asked to become members of Parliament; we bestow no such distinctions upon our Emersons or our Longfellows. Tennyson is made a peer in England; our greatest poet, Poe, died in a gutter. But, when distinction is to be bestowed, it is always the lawyers; it is never the scientist or the man of letters.

The demand for silver dollars is, of course, due to the wearing out of the one and two-dollar bills, and the refusal so far of Congress to pass an appropriation for printing more of them. There would never have been any accumulation of the standard dollars in the Treasury were it not for these one and two-dollar greenbacks. The law organizing the national banks provided that when resumption took place no issues should be allowed lower than five dollars. Accordingly, on January 1, 1879, the national banks withdrew their one and two-dollar bills. The then Secretary of the Treasury, John Sherman, was opposed to silver coinage, and, to discredit it, issued one and two-dollar greenbacks in the place of the national bank notes withdrawn. All the channels of retail trade were thus gorged with small bills, and of course the standard dollars could not circulate. This has supplied all the "fool" newspapers with a standing argument against the silver dollar as to its inutility, and the positive objection of the American people to using it. We now see they are in demand immediately the one and two-dollar bills are being retired. If Congress had only sense enough to decree that after a certain date all the paper five-dollar bills should be withdrawn, and that at some subsequent date the tens, both greenbacks and national bank notes, should be no longer issued, we would then have a gold and silver currency similar to France, Germany and the other leading commercial nations. With gold eagles, half eagles and quarter eagles, as well as plenty of silver in circulation among the people, gold would not so readily leave our shores. It is now piled up in the banks in the form of double eagles, ready for exportation. As gold has one more use in other countries than in the United States—that is, as a currency—it naturally gravitates to the countries which most need it. There need be no contraction of the paper money, for the fives and tens withdrawn could be reissued in larger denominations. It will be remembered that in England the smallest paper issue is a twenty-five-dollar note, and gold circulates very freely among the people in that country.

Sherred Hall.

Architecture is running so much to "palatial magnificence," and the distinction between art and luxury is so extensively lost sight of, that it is especially interesting to see an artistic use made of simple materials and a plain treatment.

This attraction Sherred Hall has to offer. It is the first of the series of buildings designed by Mr. Haight for the General Theological Seminary, and destined ultimately to form a double quadrangle on the square bounded by Ninth and Tenth avenues, Twentieth and Twenty-first streets.

The general scheme we described in these columns some months ago, and Sherred Hall is all that has thus far been done towards realizing it, although the funds are now available for the library at the corner of Ninth avenue and Twenty-first street. This is to be connected by a dormitory building with Sherred Hall, which stands some distance down Twenty-first street. The ends of the new building show preparations for extensions on both sides.

Sherred Hall itself is about 80 feet long by 30 wide and three stories high, with a roof of rather steep pitch, the ridge parallel to the street upon which one side of the building directly abuts. The street front is a wall of common hard brick, chosen for color, and laid apparently in cement, upon a foundation of the same slightly reddish sandstone which is employed in the wrought work and in the lintels, arches and mullions of the windows. This front is divided into three parts by the slight projection of the centre, which is gabled, with two small square openings in the stone basement and in the brick first story, a triple opening, with a simple tracery, in the second story and in the third a pointed window with perpendicular tracery in the head. On each side there are two pairs of openings in each story, pointed arches in brickwork in the first, a slight but effective contrast of color being obtained by the use of brick of more pronounced red in the jambs, and above large square-headed openings, with mullions, transoms and lintels of stone.

On the south front, which abuts upon the quadrangle, the treatment is somewhat richer, though very simple everywhere. The central third is here flush with the wall, but is distinguished by the buttresses flanking the doorway and extending into the second story, their offsets coped with stone and the lower ones sparingly enriched. The entrance is a low pointed arch, in stone, heavily moulded, the mouldings not continued through the jambs, as columns or otherwise, but dying into the splayed jamb at the impost. Over this is a row of panelled tracery in stone, and the central window above is traceried, as there is also a hint of tracery in all the openings of the third story. The sides have virtually been described already. The horizontal lines are strongly emphasized by double moulded string courses under each story, and between these, under the sills of the openings, which are part of the upper course, the bricks are set diagonally, an expedient which is effective to avoid monotony, which is also the effect of the interruption of the line of the belt under the second story by the buttresses and the panelled tracery between them. The roof is relieved only by a channelled chimney stack at each end and a questionable cupola of wood or metal at the centre, which seems to serve the practical purpose of protecting a ventilating shaft.

The interior arrangement is as simple as the architecture by which it is expressed. The central division is devoted to the staircase hall, with an easy and ample staircase of oak, and on each side, in each story, is a lecture room, lighted and aired from both sides by the windows, in addition to a complete system of combined heating and ventilation, which is said to work admirably well. The finish of the interior is calculated to attract attention, being only bare brick, red and buff, the latter forming the field of the wall and the former, besides being the material of the fireplaces, being used in belts and patterns to relieve the monotony. It is not to be apprehended that the faculty or students of the Theological Seminary will show their appreciation of this straightforward and durable finish, as the occupants of the southern wing of the Court House showed theirs, by painting it a mild and equable pea green. Bad work cannot be covered up by it as by plaster, and there is little hope of its adoption. But in public and quasi-public buildings, where a high degree of decoration is not sought, and where people do not live, it ought to be adopted. Its liability to dirt where it is handled can be obviated by using tiles or glazed bricks for surfaces especially exposed. It must be owned, however, that the plastered ceilings of these lecture rooms go ill with the brick walls, of which a timber ceiling is the proper complement, and it is a pity that the money did not suffice to supply it in this case.

The whole treatment of this work is so simple and sensible and straightforward that it would almost seem obvious and a matter of course if we did not know that the last thing an architect does, unless he is a good one, is the thing he obviously ought to do; and besides a straightforward treatment is not so obvious before it is done as it is afterwards. As an architectural composition, of course, Sherred Hall cannot be judged by itself, since it consists architecturally only of the two fronts we have described, the two ends being blank walls of rough brick calling for the other buildings which are to relieve what in its isolated state is no doubt a hard and somewhat boxlike and lonesome-looking fragment. Every separate member of an effective architectural group may be and probably must be incomplete in appearance as well as in fact. There is, however, nothing offensive in the present adjuncts of Sherred Hall as there is in the dismal old structure to which Mr. Haight has juxtaposed his beautiful buildings for Columbia College. The old buildings of the Theological Seminary are as void of offence as they are of art, being honest stone walls with holes in them, except for the somewhat ghastly wooden rudiments of tracery and the pinnacled wooden fence posts by which it has been sought to make them look Gothic, and which could be removed at a trifling expense.

Deficiencies on Foreclosure.

Our own correspondent at Albany telling us last week of bills in the State Legislature affecting realty characterizes as "dangerous" a bill introduced by Assemblyman Van Cott, which provides that whenever a deficiency shall arise from the sale under foreclosure of a mortgage of real property, or the amount received at the sale shall not be enough to meet the face of the mortgage, with the interest due, and expenses, it shall not be lawful for the mortgagee to enter up a personal judgment for the deficiency against any person whatever.

But, after all, is it so "dangerous?" There seems to be another side to it. A man buys a piece of property, pays say $10,000 for it, one-half in cash and the balance in a mortgage at 6 per cent., he keeps it in good repair, pays taxes and insurance, and for some years pays the interest to the mortgagee, then a panic comes, property depreciates, or heavy assessments are laid, say for a boulevard; he is unable to pay interest or the assessments; the mortgage is foreclosed, nobody wants the property; it is put up at auction, and only brings $4,000; the mortgagee buys his property back, and then enters up a personal judgment for say $3,000 more against the unfortunate mortgagor, who has lost his original $5,000 cash, and all his improvements. Certainly great hardship has been thus entailed on honest innocent parties by this operation of the existing laws. Why should the mortgagee not share a part of the depreciation, at least under such circumstances? Why should he have his pound of flesh, and every drop of his debtor's blood also?

Our Prophetic Department.

OPERATOR—What are your prognostications as to the coming crops? Will we have a good or a bad crop year?

SIR O.—Of course no forecast can be of much value with reference to the coming crops, in view of the many factors which enter into the problem. Still all Yankees have the privilege of guessing, and I will take the liberty in this case of pointing out some considerations which may guide the judgment of the average citizen.

OPERATOR—How about wheat, corn and cotton?

SIR O.—It looks now as if the world was about to produce the greatest grain crop ever known, or perhaps it would be more correct to say the wheat grown in all parts of the earth will be more available for the centres of population than it ever has been before. The means of transportation have been so improved in a few years that the wheat-consuming countries will have the advantage of buying in many instead of few markets. So far the prospect for wheat in this country is very good, but I should judge that there will not be as much spring wheat grown in this as in some former years. This is because the price of wheat has been so low all through the spring planting season, that farmers will pay more attention to other products; but we ought to have a splendid winter wheat crop. There was a large area planted last fall, the winter has been favorable and the spring so far moist. Accidents excepted, set me down as predicting a fine winter wheat crop, but a deficient spring wheat crop due to the smaller area of ground planted.

OPERATOR—And corn?

SIR O.—The greatest crop the country has ever seen. It may reach 2,500,000,000 bushels. Hogs are so scarce and corn has been so high for two years that every farmer in all parts of the country will put every available acre into corn. The chances ought to be in favor of the crop. The accidents of weather have been against it for three years running. In 1881 it was cut off by the drought, and in 1882 and 1883 the crop was injured by wet springs and untimely frosts in early September. The only trouble I foresee this year is too much dry weather.

OPERATOR—How is it possible to anticipate that so far ahead?

SIR O.—There is a certain average rainfall during the year. We have had so much wet weather during the past winter and so far in March that the chances seem to favor a dryer season than usual later on in the year. But still corn can stand a good deal of dry weather. It is far more likely to be injured by wet weather when it is being planted and by frost in the fall than by unusual drought in the summer time. Of course 1881 was an exception to all previous years. So serious a dry spell does not occur more than once in fifty years. Then, as to cotton, I should look for 7,000,000 bales—accidents excepted. The prices have been good enough this year to induce very free planting.

OPERATOR—How about the other crops?

SIR O.—We ought to have a large oat crop for the same reason that we are to have a large corn crop. Feed will be needed for animals and oats have paid very well for the last two years. Hogs will continue high in price until we have a larger corn crop, but our supply of mutton and beef ought to be so large as to materially reduce the price of dressed meat in the Eastern cities. Of course accidents again may intervene—the spread of the foot-and-mouth disease for instance, or a scorching summer that would interfere with the hay crop. To sum up, then, I look for an enormous corn crop, a good winter wheat crop, a relatively small spring wheat crop, a good oat crop, high prices for hogs and low prices for beef and mutton. All this means, on the whole, very cheap food for the remainder of the year. Wheat ought not to sell for more than a dollar a bushel in Chicago.

OPERATOR—How will the different sections of the country be affected by the crops?

SIR O.—Here again I may do some guessing. The Northwest, which has been so prosperous for some years past, may make a bad year of it. It grows a great deal of spring wheat, which will not be in favor this year and the price of which will certainly be low. The emigration in that direction will not be so large as it has been, and the speculation in lands in the Northwest is waning. The corn grown in that region is mainly for local consumption. It is not one of its great crops. What may help the Northwest is the alleged discovery of placer gold mines at Caeur d'Alene. If these are what they are reported to be there will be a rush over the Northern Pacific Road, and the gold-miners will scatter the yellow dust in the principal cities of the Northwest.

OPERATOR—How about Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Mississippi and the Ohio Valley?

SIR O.—On the doctrine of averages I look for a great wheat and corn crop in the countries south of the lakes and east of the Mississippi. These States have had such bad luck for so many years in the way of crops that fortune ought to smile on them just once. I predict that next fall the railroads in that section of the country will do an immense business in the carriage of agricultural products. Missouri, Kansas and Iowa on the same doctrine of averages ought to meet with disappointment in their crops this year. They have had phenomenally good luck for over three years, and the time has come when they may expect some disappointment.

OPERATOR—How about the Southwest?

SIR O.—I am inclined to think very well of the Southwest. The number of new roads and the great emigration to that region ought to stimulate all kinds of business. The opening of the line to the city of Mexico ought to profit all the Southwestern roads. This road will do a good passenger traffic, for tens of thousands of adventurous Yankees will take a trip to the halls of the Montezumas to see if an honest penny cannot be somehow turned. Then the mining regions of the Southwest in New Mexico and Arizona will attract population. The great Californian magnates who own the railway lines will make a decided effort to increase the population of the country to be occupied by their tracks. Then the cotton, beef and mutton of Texas will be in demand. I am inclined to feel bullish on Southwestern securities.

OPERATOR—How about the old slave States east of the Mississippi?

SIR O.—They ought to do a splendid business this year. The railway system of the South has been developed wonderfully during the last five years. Its iron mines in Alabama, its cotton factories in Georgia, its numerous new industries, all will help to add to the prosperity of that once neglected portion of the Union.

OPERATOR—Then you look for better business in the East, of course?

SIR O.—If the West has large crops, and both it and the South are prosperous, there will be a recovery in railroad values, and New York and the Eastern cities will be benefitted, as a matter of course. But I fear our manufacturing industries are not in a wholesome condition. We are in a position to supply 75,000,000 of people with all the manufactured goods they want. Unfortunately there are something less than 56,000,000 customers, and we are excluded from the rest of the world. I do not look so hopefully upon the prospects of the Middle and Eastern States, for the reason that it is those sections that can supply more goods than the nation can consume. We can sell our agricultural products in any part of the world. As yet but very little of our manufactures are sold beyond the seas.

OPERATOR—What have you to say about the present situation? Is there any chance of a bull movement this spring?

SIR O.—With money as cheap and stocks as low as they are, I do not see any chance for a decided bear movement. Yet I think that some time this spring there will be a slump to be followed by a sharp rise based on the prospect of a summer crop, especially if it is realized that we are likely to have an exceptionally large corn crop. The experience of the past is that during every spring there is a depression caused by the demand for money and a hopeful feeling apropos of the crop prospects. There are some weak stocks on the list yet, Erie for example; but were I an operator, I should not care to be short of the market for anything more than a turn. We have discounted, I think, all the bad news. Still, I think the wise man will not meddle with stocks speculatively on either side of the market, but those who have money to buy stocks outright cannot do better than invest at present prices.

Another First-Class Apartment Improvement.

It seems the rumor we published last week of the sale of the Madison Square Garden property for conversion into a great apartment house and other improvements was correct. The property has been sold to a wealthy syndicate by Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt, and the plans have already been drawn for the apartment house part of the scheme.

A president of one of the Home Clubs said to the writer: "I have seen the plans of the proposed apartment house and I can assure you it is to be the finest building of its kind in the world; far superior to the Navarro apartment houses on Fifty-ninth street. It will occupy the whole Madison avenue front, and will be 100 feet deep. Some of the apartments will contain as many as twenty-four rooms, but, of course, they will vary, and some few suites will contain only four rooms. The corner overlooking Madison square will have a high tower, and large, rounded windows will be a feature of the corner on every floor. These will be the choice apartments, as the occupants can have a view of Madison square, Broadway, Twenty-third street and the moving panorama below. The building will be ten stories high, and, as I said, both interior and exterior will be very striking in appearance and ornamentation. It will be built upon the duplex system."

"What," asked the writer, "will be done with the rest of the block"

"It will be devoted to a great fire-proof hall, and will be rented for fairs, horse shows, floral exhibitions and great public meetings. It is a syndicate of capitalists who are to undertake this gigantic improvement. None of the suites of rooms will be offered for sale until after the building is completed. The average investor cannot understand plans; he wants to see the rooms before he is willing to buy them."

"Does the experience of Hubert, Pirsson & Co. justify them in undertaking such a gigantic enterprise as this proposed apartment house on Madison avenue?" asked the writer.

"The 'Chelsea,' of Twenty-third street," was the reply, "which is just being completed, has proved the most profitable and popular of this firm's enterprises. All the apartments were purchased soon after the building was under way, and every suite of rooms is at a large premium over the original cost. The public have little idea of the magnificence of the interior of the 'Chelsea.' The dining room is the finest of its kind of any in New York. The owners of the various apartments do not think that running expenses will cost them anything, as the stores on the ground floor and the two upper stories are retained for tenants, so as to bring in an income. Mr. Hubert had a hard time of it at first, before he built the 'Rembrandt,' but the firm has been so successful in their subsequent enterprises that they can now command any amount of backing from capitalists. You may rest assured that this new Madison avenue improvement will be one of the marvels of New York."

The Opposition to the Arcade Railroad Bill.

The opponents of the bill to create an Arcade Railroad under Broadway have based their objections on very frail grounds. They argue that that thoroughfare will be practically useless during the construction of the road and that there will be a serious interruption to traffic. They also object on the ground that the excavations may be dangerous to the buildings on either side of the street. It is clear from the character of the objections raised that the opponents of the measure have given little or no consideration to the merits of the proposed road. In the first place there will be no obstacle to travel, as will be seen from the picture published in a recent issue of this paper showing the large iron bridge which will be placed over the street, over which passengers and traffic will pass and under which the work of construction will be proceeded with. These bridges, according to the engineer's report, will occupy the space in front of each building for about one month and will cause little if any inconvenience to the occupants of the property or the public at large. Then the fear that the safety of the buildings will be endangered is ungrounded. The engineering difficulties can be easily overcome and are not by any means as great as those encountered in constructing the London tunnel. The statement that property on Broadway will be affected seems absurd in view of the fact that in the English capital the tunnel has been bored under the highest structures, including a monument weighing nearly two hundred tons, without the slightest oscillation being discernible, whereas the Arcade Road will only run beside the buildings and not under them. The plans have been thoughtfully laid out by skilled hands, and some of the most prominent engineers in the country have given the road their sanction and think it of incalculable value to New York city. Besides it may be noted that the Arcade bill provides for commissioners to see that the road is constructed safely and well.

It is of course but natural that owners of realty should look askance on any measure which may be likely to affect their property. Real estate is very conservative and does not like change. Improvements have nearly always to be made in spite of the protests of large property owners and not with their support, and it is somewhat curious that the very men who less than a generation ago opposed some of our best public improvements have since become wealthy and have benefited most by the very measures they fought against, and among these figure some of the names of those who oppose the Arcade Road, which would probably double the value of their property on Broadway within the next decade. These gentlemen may be conservative, but they can hardly be credited with being far-sighted.

There is one thing which has characterized the promoters of the Arcade Road, and that is their willingness to give every information to the public about their plan. Railroad companies in the past have not been characterized by a desire to satisfy public opinion. They have been noted rather for what they conceal than what they disclose. The president of the Arcade Road has published in all the papers during the past week an invitation to property owners to call at the offices of the company and examine the enterprise and the plans of their engineers, so that they may be able to judge for themselves as to its merits. Mr. Samuel McElroy, engineer to the Astor estate, recently availed himself of this invitation, and expressed his satisfaction both as to the value and capacity of the proposed road.

Property owners will do well to bear in mind that the company has the right by a charter granted in 1881 to build a tunnel under Broadway. The question now is, not whether there shall or shall not be an Arcade road constructed, but which shall the company build—a tunnel or arcade? That the latter has incomparably greater advantages over the former is evident to the most unsophisticated. Is New York city to have a dark, smoky tunnel or a light, airy, well-ventilated arcade, where it will be a pleasure to promenade, and which will enable the cellars of every piece of property on Broadway to be converted into valuable stores? Were a canvass taken of our citizens, there can be no doubt that nine out of ten would favor the latter. The company states it will be forced to build this tunnel much against its inclination should the arcade plan not receive the sanction of the Legislature. It is for the property owners and the public at large to see that New York city shall receive the best road, and that road is the Arcade.

Storks made of wool and with wings outspread are suspended by invisible wires in a recess or bay window; when artistically handled they are quite effective.

Home Decorative Notes.

—What we most desire in our homes is a perfect sense of repose, how to obtain this happy result is a very important question, it may very frequently be achieved by cultivating such harmonious effects that in the groupings and selections of our surroundings such a restful feeling is engendered that when absent we are never wholly satisfied.

—Bamboo frames decked with bright ribbons are pretty and useful contrivances for holding the current literature of the day.

—Various are the uses of paper in the household; for polishing windows and mirrors there is nothing better, and if used in cleaning knives and tin ware it will give great satisfaction; preserves and pickles will keep much better if a piece of brown paper is tied over the jar, and when canning fruit remember to place a piece of writing paper on top of the fruit, as a preventive to mold.

—Screens made of leather are very beautiful for dining rooms and libraries; a pine work frame is covered with embossed or illuminated leather and decorated with leather fringe studded with brass nails.

—A very delicate and beautiful baby's carriage robe is of white eider down flannel embroidered with daisies thrown at random over it, a band of pink silk surrounds it, fastened down with fancy stitches in colored silks, the whole is finished with soft creamy lace.

—A wonderful impetus was given some few years ago to the interior decoration of American homes, however in visiting the large warerooms great diversity is found, the Elizabethan and Queen Anne are commended by many dealers, though the craze for the above mentioned styles has been somewhat overdone and the Sheraton, Adam and Chippendale designers have rapidly gained many admirers; mahogany is the favorite wood for many rooms, it is richly carved or inlaid with brass, very elegant and rare designs are now offered by Solomon & Co., of Union Square.

—Strange customs rule the hour; some born of necessity and some of marvellous absurdity. The last dictum of fashion is that hangings, whether for windows or doors, should not match.

—The ornamenting of door panels has called forth of late considerable attention, so taste and ingenuity has been called into play. A very pretty and quite inexpensive method and suited to any room is the use of ferns and leaves. If the door is white fix a piece of white paper into the panels, fastening in the corners with a tiny steel brad. Attach ferns or leaves, using mucilage in small quantities. For windows that have not an agreeable outlook, ferns and leaves pasted upon the glass will form a screen and a graceful picture.

—In the selection of pictures great discrimination and taste are required. Necessarily the purposes of each room should be considered and the subjects chosen accordingly. Many choice and beautiful engravings and etchings are now offered by H. Wunderlich, of No. 868 Broadway. "Far Away," by J. G. Brown, is among the latest engravings, and two magnificent oil paintings by Wamphausen have been recently received.

—Wrought-iron decorations for fire-screens, brackets and hanging hall lanterns are very popular.

—Great beauty and taste is evinced in every department of the establishment of D. Neuman & Co., of No. 263 Fifth avenue, odd chairs and corner seats in every variety and style of art finish, no wood is visible in the majority of drawing room furniture; in small reception chairs there is a great variety, gilded, mahogany or ebony covered with plush or Japanese silk, these are scattered about the room and in a hazy light look like so many huge butterflies; pedestals, music stands and fanciful little tables are of brass or covered and draped with the gayest of plush, velvet or satin, hand embroidered and decked with great ribbon bows.

—Heavy linen or satteen, either cream color or white, can be shaped into dainty bureau covers, or equally useful wash-stand protectors, draw all over the material, as if wafted there by the breeze, autumn leaves, maple, sumach and five-finger ivy leaves, working in outline stitch, use either shaded crewels or silk, give the brilliant coloring nature does in the real leaves, studying the character of each, you will find there has been a lesson in it, as well as a little piece of art work.

—The prevailing style of Easter card this season consists of plush with panel of cushioned satin and a great variety of beautiful floral designs engraved or painted. A very fine selection is displayed by Putnam & Co., of 25 East Twenty-third street. A very elegant panel card has the cushioned satin with a cross formed of rich purple pansies; a very fine Easter novelty has a plush-covered cross set in a pyramidal vase, resting on the vase and leaning on the cross is an anchor with chain attached and gracefully arranged around the lower part of the cross, the whole is covered with white plush of a delicate bluish tint, thereby giving it quite the appearance of marble.

—Very beautiful and enjoyable is the fashion rapidly gaining ground of decorating mirrors and glass with painting in oil colors; mirrors framed in plush, ebony or maple have branches of flowers thrown across them dropping from the edges. A screen, having water lilies, rushes and grasses gracefully grouped, with a few birds fluttering about, is quite lovely.

—The new ideas concerning domestic art have put a countless number of attractive tasks at the fingers of hundreds who would have never earned a penny if they had nothing to rely on beyond the dull monotony of canvas and cross stitch. At the rooms of Mrs. J. Randall, No. 16 East Twenty-third street, may be found something to interest every one; there are ornaments for the drawing-room, library and chamber, exquisite embroideries and paintings on plush for screens, portieres and table scarfs, knitted and crocheted goods of every conceivable style and design, many extremely attractive pieces of china in odd shapes and decorated with graceful sprays of flowers and grasses, an invalid's set decorated with the coreopsis flower was particularly attractive.

Concerning Men and Things.

John T. Hoffman, about whom we had some pleasant words to say last week, did one extremely evil deed when Governor. A bill was passed providing for an Arcade road under Broadway. The Tweed ring could not get control of the charter, and at the request of Hall, Sweeny, Connolly and "Boss" Tweed, Hoffman vetoed the bill. The ring were interested in a viaduct scheme, which finally came to naught. If Hoffman had signed that bill Broadway would to-day have been the wealthiest thoroughfare in the world.

The Real Estate Exchange and Auction Room (Limited) has on file at its office, No. 11 Pine street, all the bills introduced into the Legislature affecting real estate. This is for the benefit of its members who wish to know what is going on at Albany officially. The secretary of the Exchange also issues an abstract of the bills, which is sent to subscribers. There ought to be some means by which non-members of the Exchange should be able to obtain this important information by paying a small fee.

Fanny Davenport tells the story of how she reduced her weight from 180 pounds to 130. It was by eliminating sugar and starch from her diet and refraining from soups and liquids. Then she walks ten and twelve miles a day. Her general health was never better than it is now. Prince Bismarck has also rid himself of his superfluous flesh recently, to the great betterment of his bodily and mental activity. There is a Mrs. Dr. Dinsmore in this city, who has relieved litterally hundreds of New York ladies of superfluous flesh. She gives some medicine, but her diet regimen is very strict. The writer knows of several formerly stout ladies of his acquaintance who have been reduced to reasonable proportions under this lady physician's advice. So there is no longer any necessity for being over-fat.

The Commercial Advertiser under its new management is now the best written and most dignified of all the evening papers. There have been a number of ventures recently into the field of evening journalism, but none of them promise much success. The experience of all large cities is that a cheap journal giving the most recent news in a popular way is what is most in favor with the patrons of afternoon papers. Advertisers do not take kindly to evening journals, which are forced to depend upon their circulation for their profit. There are altogether too many afternoon journals in New York. While the Commercial Advertiser is well written its news departments are not up to the mark of other evening papers.

The daily newspapers which, like the Herald, refused to say a word about the organization of the Real Estate Exchange are now giving columns about real estate, in which are some very, very wild statements. The authorities they quote are not by any means the best in real estate circles, and they allow themselves to be used to puff up certain west side lots at the expense of other and more valuable property. The present movement in real estate is confined to house investment property. The demand is for dwellings and stores which will yield a good income, which is due doubtless to the insecurity of the so called securities selling on Wall street.

"Put me down for a bull on the situation," said Mr. John Foley, the lawyer, last Thursday in the office of Trask & Co., "at least for the next three weeks. It seems to me as if everything is getting ready for a swift advance. The bad weather is over, I hope, and if so business will become brisk all over the country. Wheat is down and will soon be moving east on the railways; farmers in the West have got to buy and stocks of goods are light out West. Money is absurdly easy; when you can borrow at 2 per cent. and purchase sure investments which will give you 6 per cent., there is the strongest possible inducement to invest in securities. The steady buying of bonds by the public is usually a forerunner of an active and higher stock market. Next fall the market may be lower, indeed I look for a slump in the spring, but it is safe to buy at present figures."

Brown Stone Men Feasting.

A banquet took place at the Grand Union Hotel on Thursday evening last at the invitation of the Connecticut Brown Stone Companies and the Dorchester Union Free Stone Co. A sumptuous feast was provided and tables were spread for about one hundred and fifty, each gentleman being presented with a neat bouquet. Many well-known local builders and brown stone men were present, as well as delegations from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Brooklyn and New Jersey. The occasion was the first of the kind in the annals of the brown stone companies, and it is intended to have a similar reunion annually, so as to keep up an entente cordiale among the producers and consumers. A number of toasts followed the repast, among which were the following: "The Master Free Stone Cutters Associations of New York and Brooklyn," by Robinson Gill and William Bradley, respectively; "the veterans of the trade," by Henry Wilson, and the "young men of the trade," by J. B. Gillie, of Gillie & Walker. Toasts were also rendered by Messrs. Michael Brennan, Geo. N. Williams, William L. Maxwell, R. G. Pike, Wm. Peacock, Alderman Andrew D. Baird, of Brooklyn, William Gray, of Philadelphia, and George H. Mann, of Baltimore. Among the others who participated were Geo. P. Sherwood, F. W. Russell, O. W. Mack and E. P. Brainerd, the latter being in the chair. An original poem was recited by Mr. J. Furlong, which contained an amusing parody on the names of well-known brown stone quarrymen and others present, which was received with much laughter and applause. Mr. Russell, the toastmaster, handed round an extract from the laws of the stonecutters in England, dated A. D. 957, from which it would appear that this fraternity did not possess the highest reputation in olden times. It read: "No fellow to go out at night without a fellow with him to prove he was in an honest place." After a few remarks from Mr. Russell the proceedings were brought to a close, the company separating in the early hours.

Realty at Albany.

[From our own Correspondent.]

ALBANY, March 27.

The measures relating to transit, or railroads in cities, especially in New York, have occupied considerable attention in the Legislature this week. The contest between the street or horse railroad interest and the Cable Company system has reached a culmination resulting disastrously to the scheme of the Cable Company in relation to New York in both houses. The Senate has amended the general bill for the organization and construction of street railroads in cities and villages, by changing the 16th section so as to prohibit the construction of a railroad on the surface of any street in any city under authority of a commission appointed under the Rapid Transit Act of 1875. It was under this act that the commission appointed by the Mayor last fall laid down the numerous routes in New York for the National Cable Company. The amendment made is a prohibition upon their proceeding with the construction of their line under that law. The reason given by the Senators favoring this change was that there should be but one law under which street railroads could be constructed. Another section of the bill was changed so as to provide that cable power or any other save locomotive steam could be used upon the roads constructed under this act, or applied to existing street railroads upon obtaining the assent of the local authorities and a majority of the property owners on the route of the line. The bill was then made available for horse railroads or cable power, which in either case are confined and limited to this bill. After making these and other changes, the surface railroad bill last night passed the Senate and now awaits the concurrence of the Assembly.

The Cable Company's interest finding that the Senate was against their schemes, as marked out by the commission, directed their efforts to the Assembly. They secured the adoption of their amendment by the Railroad Committee for removing the restrictions contained in the Rapid Transit Act to the construction of roads on or across Fifth avenue and Broadway, and to the use of the transverse roads in Central Park, the provision for exchange of tickets or five cent fare for rides across and up town, and then a favorable report by one majority of the committee. The minority, through Mr. Dayton of New York, presented a written report against the bill, attacking the scheme of the Cable Company. A motion was however made by Mr. Van Allen to recommit the bill with instructions to strike out the enacting clause. The scheme was assailed as a monstrosity by Mr. Roosevelt and the house, and defended by Mr. Littlejohn, who dwelt specially on the provision for one fare and exchange of tickets up and down and across town. The temper of the Assembly was against the measure, and the motion to strike out the enacting clause was adopted by a vote of 107 to 10. This killed the project of the Cable Company in the Assembly. The remaining question is whether they will have power to defeat the Street Railroad Bill in the Assembly. With the exception of its influence in opposition to that bill, the Cable Company is now eliminated from the contest for railroads and transit in cities.

The bill to enlarge the powers of the Broadway Underground Railroad, to authority to construct an Arcade road has again been reported in the Senate. The committee before reporting it amended the bill in accordance with the suggestion of the city authorities and with the approval of the promoters of the enterprise, by providing that the sidewalks built by the company shall be only 10 feet below the present sidewalk, which will not take that part of the excavation as low down as the foundation of the old buildings on Broadway. They also provide that the sewer and other pipes shall be placed under the roadbed, instead of under the new sidewalk. This leaves that portion under the walk for vaults to the buildings. They also provide that the portion of the road on Madison avenue shall not disturb the front areas of the buildings, or excavate under them. These changes remove many of the objections that had been presented by the property owners. Also the apprehended changes that the foundations would be disturbed by excavating up to the face of the buildings to the full depth of the roadbed. It is probable that the Senate will act upon this bill some time next week.

The Senate has passed Senator Daly's bill regulating the powers of the Superintendent of Buildings in the application of fire-escapes to tenement houses and flats in the city of New York.

The bill authorizing the introduction of salt or river water for the extinguishment of fires and sanitary purposes has been ordered to third reading in the Assembly. This is the measure that authorizes the city to contract with a company for the introduction of river water through a new system of pipes for the purposes alluded to.

A bill was introduced in the Senate by Mr. Plunkett to-day which empowers and authorizes the Board of Street Openings, after ten days' official notice, to change and alter the grades of the streets between Eighth and Ninth avenues from Fifty-ninth to One Hundred and Twenty-third street, so as to adjust the grades thereof to that of Eighth avenue.

Senator Plunkett has also introduced another Park bill antagonistic to that of the commission to locate parks in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards. It provides that the Department of Parks shall, within four months, prepare and file maps for parks in those wards which shall embrace the lands designated by the commission to locate parks included in St. Marys, Claremont, Crotonoh and that portion of the southern part of Van Courtland Park which was a few years ago recommended by the Park Department for a park. It requires the Corporation Counsel to proceed in the Supreme Court to obtain title to the lands thus designated and the issue of thirty years' bonds by the city, to be called the "New Park Fund Bonds," to pay for the same. This, it will be seen, leaves out the Bronx Park, the Pelham Park and the northern portion of the Van Courtland Park recommended by the commission in its report to the Legislature.

Senator Plunkett has tried to get the committee to report this bill so that he can jump it ahead of the bill of the commission, and is understood to have the support of some of the members of the Department of Parks. It thus is brought up in antagonism of the plan of the Marsh Commission.

The bill for repaving Fifth avenue under a special commission has been reported adversely in the Assembly and killed. The city authorities have sent another bill, providing for the repavement under plans to be prepared by the Department of Public Works, to be done by contract, the cost not to exceed $350,000. This has been introduced in both houses.

The bill for the extension and widening of Elm street has also been killed in the Assembly.

The bill for the purchase of Rikers Island in Long Island Sound, and its annexation to the city, also the bill re-establishing the lines of Mott avenue in the Twenty-third Ward, have both passed the Assembly.

A bill introduced by Senator Gibbs has been reported in the Senate, enlarging the powers of the Board of Health in New York, in connection with the plumbing and drainage of buildings hereafter erected. The bill provides that the drainage and plumbing work of all buildings, both public and private, hereafter erected or altered so as to require new or additional plumbing work or drainage in the city of New York, shall be executed in accordance with plans and specifications or descriptions showing the work to be done, the material to be used, and the manner of executing the work. The drainage or plumbing work for any such building shall not be begun until the said plans and specifications therefor shall have been submitted to and approved by the Board of Health, and placed on file in the Health Department. The plans shall be accompanied by a statement in writing, sworn to before a notary public or commissioner of deeds, giving the full name and residence of the owner or owners of such building and of the premises to be built upon. Every such building shall have a separate and independent sewer connection where there is a public sewer passing the premises, but the Board of Health may waive or modify this requirement in its discretion in special cases. The drain pipes and sewer connections shall not be covered up, but shall be left exposed so that the same may be freely examined by an inspector, until twenty-four hours after notice that the same are ready for inspection shall have been received at the Health Department.

Another section gives the Health Department additional power in cases where contagious diseases are found in houses, arising from defective drainage and pipes.

The bill introduced in the interest of Prof. Adler's movement for model tenement houses has been reported in the Senate. It provides for the appointment of a commission composed of Alexander Shaler, Joseph W. Drexel, S. O. Vanderpoel, Felix Adler, Oswald Ottendorfer, Moreau Morris and William P. Esterbrook, who are to investigate and inquire into the character and condition of tenement houses and their occupants in the city of New York. It is to report to the next Legislature, and $5,000 is provided for the expenses of the commission.

Real Estate Department.

The past has been a busy week in real estate circles. The Exchange has been thronged every day a sale took place. For investment property the bidding was eager, and the prices obtained more than satisfactory. The experience of the past week demonstrates the fact that the present Exchange Room is not large enough to accommodate purchasers when a really important sale takes place.

The salient feature of the market is the demand for improved property. Unimproved lots are neglected. The statements made in the daily press on the authority of brokers interested in unimproved property, as to its popularity with investors, are not warranted by the sales recently made. This was shown by the result on Wednesday of the auction of lots on Sixth avenue and One Hundred and Fifteenth and One Hundred and Sixteenth streets. In December, 1882, this property was sold, but there was some flaw in the title, which has since been corrected. The following table gives the result of the two sales:

	1882. Dec.	1884. Mar.
6th av, cor 116th st	$9,800	$9,000
6th av, 2 lots, adj	14,600	12,650
6th av, 1 lot, adj	6,900	6,250
116th st, 4 lots, 100 west of 5th av	18,200	16,500
115th st, 1 lot, adj	3,830	2,000
116th st, 1 lot, 100 west of 5th av	6,050	5,350
116th st, 3 lots, adj	16,500	14,950
115th st, 1 lot, adj	5,000	3,125
	$73,550	$69,825

Now these lots are among the most desirable in the market, as they are in the line of almost immediate improvement, and there are any quantity of building enterprises projected in this so called quadrilateral. It will certainly be built over within a few years, and the houses will rank with some of the best in the city. Yet we see that the lots did not command as high prices as in December of 1882. To show that this is not an exceptional instance, it will be noticed that on Thursday four lots on One Hundred and Eighteenth street, west of Fifth avenue, clear of rock, were knocked down at $3,500 each, and it is understood were bid in. This last property was not, however, advertised in the medium which reaches the builders, and the expenses of the sale were, of course, a loss to the owner, and yet the lots are desirable and ready for building.

In real estate as in other markets there seems to be certain fashions, as it were, in the matter of investments. At one time the demand is for downtown property; then apartment houses are the rage; store property and business districts will at other times be most in favor. Just now the demand is for any improved property which will pay a fair interest at present rentals. At the sale of Seventh and Thirteenth Ward property on last Thursday the bidding was very spirited, and the prices which the estate brought did not seem warranted by the rents the property has commanded. We learn that at these sales the property was not bought for investment only, but for the use and occupancy of the purchasers. Of course, unimproved property will again be in favor, indeed in all speculative eras it is vacant lots which are the more readily traded in, but undoubtedly the present demand is for investment property, which is popular because of the doubt about Wall street securities.

While the demand just at present is for investment property there are signs that before long there may be a more active demand for unimproved property. In our gossip department will be noticed that among the investors in west side property are the Astors and other wealthy and far-sighted owners of realty.

The brokers are exceptionally busy just now in renting. The season has been so unpropitious on account of the weather that the heads of families deferred making inquiries until the pleasanter days came. Renting is now going on rapidly; it is the first and second weeks in April that see the largest number of houses hired.

On Saturday, flats on One Hundred and Third street and First avenue, and a lot with building on Roosevelt street, were sold under foreclosure. On Monday all the sales announced were adjourned. On Tuesday many sales of improved and unimproved property were held, and good prices obtained. On Wednesday the room was packed with eager bidders for the property offered by Messrs. R. V. Harnett & Co., John F. B. Smyth and J. L. Wells, the sales of the first two consisting of improved property, and of the latter eighteen lots on Sixth Avenue Boulevard, West One Hundred and Fifteenth and One Hundred and Sixteenth streets, which sold at fair prices; the table given above shows a comparison with a former sale of the same lots. On Thursday the attendance was also very large and the prices obtained for the Seventh, Eleventh and Thirteenth Ward property were very good, one lot on Pitt street bringing $9,100, the lot adjoining being sold in January at private sale for $7,000. Four lots on West One Hundred and Eighteenth street were knocked down at $3,500 each but not sold, and the dwelling, No. 11 East Forty-eighth street, sold for $70,000. Yesterday only one sale took place.

E. H. Ludlow & Co. are the busiest of all the Pine street firms, especially during the renting season now upon us. By their advertisement it will be noticed that they have some very desirable offices and suites of rooms to rent in the Boreel, Duncan, Guernsey, Real Estate Exchange, Post, and other of the finest down-town office buildings.

E. H. Ludlow & Co. will, on April 3d, offer for sale what remains of the estate of the late Richard French. The principal parcel will be the hotel on the corner of Chatham and Frankfort streets. This sale will undoubtedly draw a large crowd, and the property will be in great demand. What a story Mr. E. H. Ludlow could tell were he to relate all the great transactions in which he has been engaged since he first commenced business at the corner of New and Wall street, half a century ago. A diary of prices of the property sold by him would be interesting reading to real estate circles.

Another very important sale will take place on Wednesday, April 9th, when the estate of William Kennelly will be sold. In his day Mr. Kennelly was a real estate auctioneer of note, and his judgment as to the value of property was simply excellent. The parcels to be sold on the 9th of April are very valuable, and those who buy have the assurance that the original purchaser knew what he was about. The property to be offered consists of the dwellings and lots, Nos. 134 and 136 West Forty-seventh street, and No. 51 West One Hundred and Thirtieth street, and the following well-located lots: Two on Sixth-first street, west of Eighth avenue; two on Sixty-second street, in rear of the last mentioned; four lots on Sixty-second street, 200 west of Eighth avenue, and four lots on One Hundred and Thirty-first street, east of Sixth Avenue Boulevard.

John F. B. Smyth will sell on Wednesday, April 2d, the improved private dwelling, No. 46 East Twenty-eighth street; the four-story and basement well built flat, No. 231 East One Hundred and Ninth street, and the first-class stone front dwelling, No. 48 West One Hundred and Nineteenth street, with two-story private stable in rear.

The same auctioneer will offer on Tuesday, April 8th, No. 129 East Twenty-third street, a four-story private dwelling and four lots, each 24.6 x100, Nos. 500 to 506 Eleventh avenue, between Thirty-ninth and Fortieth streets.

Richard V. Harnett will sell on April 2d, the tenements Nos. 3 and 5 James slip, near Coenties slip.

Mr. Harnett will also offer on that day the fine dwelling, No. 180 Carlton avenue, in the city of Brooklyn.

In addition to the above, the same auctioneer will sell a valuable plot containing over 10 city lots located on Kingsbridge road and Bathgate avenue, north of One Hundred and Eighty-third street in the Twenty-fourth Ward.

On April 3d, Mr. Harnett will sell the dwelling No. 50 East Ninth street, Sailors' Snug Harbor leasehold.

As elsewhere announced a sale by order of Charles H. Russell, receiver of the Knickerbocker Life Insurance Company, will be held by J. L. Wells, auctioneer, on Monday, April 7th. It includes property on Fifty-second street, between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues, houses on Stryker's lane, in the immediate vicinity of the former, lands on One Hundred and Forty-sixth street, at Spuyten Duyvil, and in the village of Yonkers.

First-class suites of rooms are to be obtained in the "Rutland," on the southwest corner of Fifty-seventh street and Broadway, which has just been completed. A picture of this handsome structure will be found on another page. The building is eight stories in height, exclusive of basement and attic. It has a frontage of 150 feet on Fifty-seventh street and 54 feet on Broadway, the material being of brown stone in the first two stories and Philadelphia brick, Connecticut stone and terra cotta above. There are forty-three suites, containing six to twelve rooms each, with rentals ranging from $1,200 upwards. The rooms are finished in mahogany, ash and cherry. Easy access to the upper stories is obtained by six improved Otis hydraulic elevators, three for passengers and three for servants and freight. The plumbing is of a scientific character, and there is steam heating. The floors and partitions are thoroughly fire-proof, so that in case of fire it would be confined to the room in which it originated. The building is on a rock foundation, on high ground, and near the Central Park and the Sixth and Ninth "L" stations, while three surface roads are close by, though the latter do not run past the building. Inspection is invited, and further information can be obtained by applying on the premises at the central entrance on Fifty-seventh street, or to the owner, Sidney De Kay, No. 115 Broadway, Rooms 75 to 77.

J. Edgar Leaycraft, the well-known real estate and insurance agent, of No. 1544 Broadway, Longacre square, has a number of very desirable three and four-story houses to let in good locations, renting from $750 to $3,000, as well as flats, with elevator, heat and other modern conveniences, from $750 to $1,500, and a large number from $20 to $100 per month. Mr. Leaycraft gives special attention to renting and collecting. His advertisement will be seen in another column.

Leonard J. Carpenter offers a number of new three-story high stoop private houses on the north side of One Hundred and Thirty-second street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues, as will be seen from his advertisement elsewhere. They are in a good and improving location, and are only three blocks from the west side "L" station. They are finished in mahogany and black walnut, with mirrors, electric bells and all the modern improvements. The price asked is $13,000 each, $10,000 of which may remain on mortgage at 5 per cent., with the privilege of paying off $500 on any interest day. Apply to Mr. Carpenter, No. 56 East Twenty-third street, Y. M. C. A. building, or at No. 68 Wall street.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Geo. W. Hamilton, who offers for sale the first-class four-story high stoop brown stone houses, built by him on the south side of Seventy-first street, near Ninth avenue. These houses are well worth the inspection of intending investors. They are one block from the "L" road station, and are offered at very reasonable figures.

Fifty-four lots are offered for sale on the east and west sides, the property of James H. Coleman. Several of them are well located, and they are all desirable for building purposes, and would also prove good holding investments. Apply at Mr. Coleman's office, No. 20 Nassau street. See advertisement elsewhere.

Out Among the Builders.

The rumor first published in these columns of the purchase of the Madison Square Garden by a syndicate of capitalists, and that several large apartment houses would be erected on the site, has received a good deal of attention from the press and the real estate public during the week. In order to verify the rumor a reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE called upon Mr. John D. Cheever at his offices on Park row, who would have nothing to say about the matter. When shown a newspaper report containing the names of the other parties connected with the enterprize, viz., Messrs. Hubert, Pirsson & Co., John G. Heckscher and James R. Keene, he stated, however, that the latter gentleman's name should not have appeared. Messrs. Hubert, Pirsson & Co. were also seen, but they preserved an unshakable reticence, though they did not give any denial to the report that the property had been purchased, and that they had already drawn the preliminary sketches for the buildings to be erected thereon. The interview in another column sheds more light upon this important enterprise.

Mr. Eggert will erect a two-story brick store and dwelling, 40x45, on the southwest corner of Atlantic and Kingston avenues.

It is rumored that the property purchased by J. Rodwell and Millard F. Smith on the northwest corner of South Ninth and Eighth streets will be improved by the erection of a vaudeville theatre at a cost of about $30,000, particulars of which have not transpired.

Vollweiler & Co. have plans for a three-story frame store and tenement, 33.7x30.6x52, and a three-story frame tenement, 25x50, adjoining, to be erected on the corner of Ellery street and Delmonico place at a cost of $10,000; owner, Mr. Kolb.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—After a chat with the principal operators we do not discover that the market for Common Hards has undergone much change during the week, except in the way of increased animation. The demand certainly has improved and assumed a more general form, with a pretty good business transacted from day to day whenever the weather would permit the handling of supplies, and the indications are favorable for a continuation of trade in good volume, but thus far offering has balanced the outlet and sellers gained no advantage on price. There is, we notice, some difficulty in bringing quoted rates down to a close range, owing, probably, to the absence of a full assortment and the fact that with little if any stock showing better than a good medium quality a portion of the trade inadvertently suggest figures they would expect on fine if here. About the average operating basis appears to be $6.25@7.25 @7.50, with a slight possibility that the outside might be exceeded on a few extra lots and a strong probability that the inside has been and would again be shaded on considerable of the offering. Arrivals have come from all sources, extending from Long Island to Haverstraw and one arrival from Newburg Bay, but the latter only barely gives opportunity for claiming "Up Rivers" on the market. We understand that manufacturers still feel more or less dissatisfied with going rates and are keeping the shipments as low as possible, while the intention to delay the commencement of production is still openly and freely expressed To a certain extent these plans appear judicious and likely to meet with fair success. It may, however, be well to suggest that while a goodly amount of work is undoubtedly laid out for the opening season, much of it is calculated to have the benefit of comparatively cheap material, and efforts to increase cost are likely to meet with more than ordinary resistance. Pales have fair demand, but most reports this week seem to consider $4.00 high enough to quote, and unless quality be very good $3.50@3.75 per M nearer the mark.

CEMENT.—The market for foreign grades continues pretty firm and in very good form. As noted last week, the advices from abroad indicate that very full rates recently named for freight room will prevent laying stock down here except at a material addition to cost, the amount afloat under cheap transportation charges is comparatively small, and the accumulation now in first hands is certainly limited, especially of the better grades. In fact, importers generally look upon the statistical position as far more encouraging than last season, and are confident from evidences already in hand that consumption will be good and possibly liberal for anything that previous trial has convinced buyers to be a useful and reliable quality. The arrivals during the month have been fair, mainly from the Continent, but do not appear to disturb the views of holders or lead to any effort to hasten sales. Domestic Portland is also doing well with considerable contracts already reported closed and further negotiations in progress at full and hardening rates. For Rosendale the market does not as yet appear to have taken really positive form. About $1.10 on "Creek" and $1.20 per bbl. here are about the rates, but some change may yet be made. The principal difficulty is said to be over the proper regulation of the supply. Considerable stock was wintered over, and this must be disposed of, if possible, without overloading any of the outlets, after which manufacturers desire to keep the supply within manageable bounds. It has been proposed to make a reduction of 10 per cent. on the output of last year, but as yet we can learn of no definite understanding. The general prospect for demand is said to be quite encouraging.

HARDWARE.—From some sections of the interior the orders are coming to hand with greater freedom, and as the old line of demand has not greatly diminished, dealers feel correspondingly hopeful. Buyers, however, have by no means forgotten the cautious hand-to-mouth policy and can rarely be found handling goods beyond carefully calculated wants, and the selection in the main is of the most rigidly standard character. Prices somewhat irregular and several new lists have lately been issued. Only a couple, however, interest our readers The manufacturers of Cabinet Locks have advanced the list rates in many cases and fixed discount at 45 per cent. The Association of American Axe Manufacturers have agreed upon reduced prices as follows: Single Bits—Regular quality, in-steel or lap steel (2¼ to 2¾ inches), bronze, $7.25 per dozen; regular quality, in-steel or lap steel (2¼ to 2¾ inches), bronze, beveled, $7.75 do.; regular quality, in-steel or lap steel (2¼ to 2¾ inches), full polished, $7.75 do.; regular quality, in-steel or lap steel (2¼ to 2¾ inches), full polished, beveled, $8.25 do.; double steel, in-steel or lap steel (3 to 3¼ inches), bronze, $8.00 do.; double steel, in-steel or lap steel (3 to 3¼ inches), bronze, beveled, $8.50 do.; double steel, in-steel or lap steel (3 to 3¼ inches), full polished, $8 50 do.; double steel, in-steel or lap steel (3 to 3¼ inches), full polished, beveled, $9.00 do; triple steel, in-steel or lap steel (3½ to 4 inches), bronze, $8.25 do.; triple steel, in-steel or lap steel (3½ to 4 inches), full polished, $8.75 do.; all steel, regular in-steel or lap steel (2¼ to 2¾ inches), bronze, $8 25 do.; all steel, regular in-steel or lap steel (2¼ to 2¾ inches), bronze, beveled, $8.75 do.; all steel, regular in-steel or lap steel (2¼ to 2¾ inches), full polished, $8.75 do.; all steel, regular in-steel or lap steel (2¼ to 2¾ inches), full polished, beveled, $9.25 do.; light steel, in-steel or lap steel (2-inch steel), bronze, $6.75 do.; light steel, in-steel or lap steel (2-inch steel), bronze, beveled, $7.25 do.; second quality axes, $6.75. Double Bits—Regular in-steel or lap steel, bronze, $12 per dozen; regular in-steel or lap steel, bronze, beveled, $13 do.; regular in-steel or lap steel, full polished, $13 do.; all steel, in-steel or lap steel, bronze, $13 do.; all steel, in-steel or lap steel, full polished, $14 do.; light steel, in-steel or lap steel, bronze, $11. For second quality no price was fixed.

LATH.—The market appears to be in a more uniform condition, or at least the reports are in better shape, and indicate an operating basis at $2.00@2.10 per M. At these figures a fair business has been taking up all the supply available on spot, and reaching out for some of the more desirable parcels afloat, with no indications of dissatisfaction over cost among buyers. Consumption locally commences to pick up somewhat, and in addition to the local exhaust dealers from other points are now and then heard from affording receivers a chance independent of this market. It may be noted that some of last week's sales were even lower than we mentioned, but for very poor stock, and manufacturers may learn through such experience that while this market will take a good article at a fair rate it is pretty sure to slaughter an inferior offering.

LIME.—Some little irregularity has again been shown. State stock as yet remains simply nominal and cannot fairly be quoted, while on Eastern we hear claims for two sets of figures about the same as last week. The indications, however, are of a steadier character, and it looks as though former full rates would be restored on the next sales. Indeed there is some reason to believe that the recent shading was hasty and in the main on a sort of outside run of stock, without really establishing a general or positive decline.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

Saginaw Valley

LUMBERMAN'S GAZETTE,
BAY CITY, MICH.

With the advent of spring, the lumber market is exhibiting much more activity, and sales are reported more frequently, while the inquiry is much more pronounced. We have no hesitation in expressing our conviction that over 25,000,000 feet has been sold during the past ten days. We are, however, unable to report all of it because of the perversity of many of our manufacturers, who stubbornly persist in their reticence in regard to sales, much against their own interests. We have managed, however, to "catch on" to the following: Butman & Rust, to S. D. Collie, 500,000 feet at $8, $16 and $36; 250,000 feet was sold on Tuesday last at $8.50, $17 and $37; Butman & Rust also sold through Thomas Madden, to Buffalo parties, 1,000,000 feet at $14 and $14.50 straight. Sales were also reported at East Saginaw as follows: 1,000,000 feet at $14.50 per thousand straight; 500,000 feet under inspection to Toledo parties, at $8 for shipping culls, $16 for common and $36 for uppers; 3,000,000 feet to be cut at $9, $18 and $38. D. Whitney also sold 7,000,000 feet to Sumner & Hacy, of Albany, and $2,000,000 feet to other parties at $9, $18 and $38; W. Whitney also sold to Ohio parties 600,000 feet at $17 straight; R. J. Briscoe purchased last week 950,000 feet of shorts of S. O. Fisher and other parties; a manufacturer, who don't wish names mentioned, sold 850,000 to Buffalo parties at $9, $18 and $38 for part of it, and $14.50 straight for the balance; a sale of 2,000,000 feet was also made at East Saginaw at private terms.

There is much more inquiry at present than has been noticed heretofore this season. Dealers from the East and from Chicago are putting in an appearance and feeling the market. Manufacturers still maintain a firm attitude, and considerable lumber is consequently changing hands at regular prices.

LUMBER.—There is nothing to justify reports of a positively improving market, yet we find expressions in some cases a little more cheerful. The better "spells of weather" have demonstrated that a fair number of buyers are ready to negotiate when opportunity admits, and will probably soon open a larger outlet for stock, but it is quite as clear that they have no idea of hurrying themselves, and any attempt to force the demand would be likely to meet with ignominious failure. In the first place, whatever ultimate consumption may prove to be, it will not open with a drive, and against any outlet at present thought probable there is an accumulation both in quantity and assortment. Furthermore, at all sources of supply now within reach the tone is easy, and reports received from time to time indicate that when the course of nature restores facilities for moving more distant stocks, owners will be sufficiently anxious to realize to check any buoyant tendencies. Exceptional grades may, of course, have a somewhat better chance, but on the general run of stock the seller can hardly figure upon gaining any important advantage. If, however, calculations are based upon doing a fairly active business in most leading descriptions, enough possibly to prevent any further shrinkage of importance on values, it is more than likely that both the wholesale and retail operators will meet with serious disappointments.

Eastern Spruce still fails to meet with a direct demand of magnitude or importance, and receivers understand that even of fine cargoes they must not allow too many to accumulate if they expect to hold prices against a break. Offerings in consequence are made openly and readily as soon as schedules are available, with considerable success experienced in keeping the supply sold up. Manufacturers are rendering some assistance and making comparatively light shipments just now, but we hear a fear expressed that whenever the production extends beyond the control of the leading mills the amounts sent forward will not only be larger but less carefully assorted and with the usual results. Specials are going out to a moderate extent and some cover very distant delivery. The quotations now current are at $13.00@16.00 per M on general run, and up to $16.50@17.00 per M for extra difficult, etc.

White Pine continues to meet with more or less attention in a jobbing way, but as a rule home calls are indifferent and unpromising in character, with buyers still expecting to make a gain by holding off. Exporters in the meantime retain a fair representation upon the market and are picking up considerable stock when they can do so without paying an advance. The West India shipments have of late been quite full, but fair amounts still taken for South America. We quote $17.50@19.00 for West India shipping boards; $28.00@30.00 for South American do.; $14.00@16.00 for box boards, and $16.50@18.00 for extra do.

Yellow Pine gains no features of an animated character, and the local market is dull and unsatisfactory all around. Now and then a pretty good sized special is secured and the transaction is generally well advertized, but it seldom if ever acts as a stimulus, as buyers will not move except as a matter of necessity. That of course keeps the position for randoms tame and flat and there is really no regular line of prices for them. In the f. o. b. trade business is very fair and values well sustained though at one or two ports even this line of trading shows some reduction. We quote as follows: Randoms, $18@21.50 per M; Specials, $21@22 do.; Green Flooring Boards, $22@23; Dry do., do., $23@24; Siding $22@23 do.; Cargoes f. o. b. at Atlantic ports, $14@14.50 for rough, and $19@22 for dressed. Cargoes f. o. b. at Gulf ports, $13@14 for rough, and $18@20 for dressed.

Hardwoods are not active in a general way but all goods showing attractions of quality secure attention and command full rates without an effort on the part of sellers. The general offering has been somewhat smaller of late. We quote at wholesale rates by car-load about as follows: Walnut, $65@110 per M; ash, $35@40 do.; oak, $30@55 do.; maple, $20@32.50 do.; chestnut, $25@30 do.; cherry, $40@75 do.; whitewood, $27@35 do., do.; elm, $22@25; hickory, $45@52.50 do.

Shingles have been a little more sough after on home account, and, with continued fair attention from exporters keeping the supply low, prices are firmly maintained and in some cases show a slight advance. Holders, however, meet the call readily on all really full bids. We quote Cypress at $8.0. @8.50 per M. for 5x20 and $11@12 do. for 6x20 regularly assorted shipping. Pine shipping stock $2.00@2.50 for 18 inch, and Eastern saw grades at $2.00@2.50 for 16 inch, as to quality and to quantity. Eastern shaved cedar $4.00 @4.50 per M. Machine dressed cedar shingles quoted as follows: for 30 inch, $15.00@20.00 for A, and $23@ 28.50 for No. 1; for 24 inch, $13.00@15 for A and $18.50@20.50 for No. 1; for 20 inch, $8@9.50 for A and $11.00@12.50 for No. 1.

NAILS.—The general volume of business has been fairly active and without the development of any really new features during the week. A control of the stock is maintained sufficient to prevent a surplus offering, and now that a regular list rate is extant there is an effort to adhere to it. Customers wanting any full quantity of stock, however, would probably be able to obtain some shading. We quote on boxes of $2.60 per keg for 10d. to 60d.

PAINTS AND OILS.—Demand has fluctuated somewhat, but on the whole wanted enough stock to create quite a fairly active market, and the indications are thought to be favorable for a still further increase of business. The form of demand reveals nothing new, a simple average assortment coming under call and good solid standard stock finding greatest favor. Linseed Oil fairly active in moderate stock and steadily held at 57@58c. for domestic and 58@59 for foreign. Spirits Turpentine continues moderately active only and the tone easy at 34@36c. per gallon, according to size of invoice.

PITCH AND TAR.—For pitch the demand is slow, but tar secures slightly increased attention on home and foreign orders. Prices very well maintained as a rule and the accumulation of stock small. We quote pitch $2.25@2.30 per bbl., and tar $2.50@3.00 do., according to quantity, quality and delivery.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

Needless Bloodshed.

Our editors lose their heads when a riot takes place. The smell of gunpowder maddens them as it always does a mob. The English authorities of late years never employ fire-arms in fighting mobs, at least not since the Bristol riots, when the Duke of Wellington was Prime Minister. On that occasion the use of cavalry and fire-arms provoked so wrathful a feeling that the government wisely decided to trust hereafter to policemen and their clubs, but of course always to hold the military in readiness in case of a vital emergency. The efficiency of the policemen was shown subsequently at the great Chartist demonstration, which really threatened revolution. Special constables of citizens were sworn in to help the police, but they were only armed with clubs. It will be remembered that Louis Napoleon, then an exile in London, acted as a special policeman on that occasion. Since then there have been many riots in England, of which the most notable were those at Hyde Park, but the police were always sufficient to quell the most violent and unreasonable mobs. London can probably supply more dangerous characters to a mob than any city in the world. It is populous and the work people are poor and often depraved. Even in Ireland, where the whole population is at enmity with the government, it is the constabulary who are employed, rarely if ever the soldiers, in dispersing the disaffected meetings. The rough fellows who compose those excited gatherings understand the club, and do not like to have their shins barked or their skulls cracked, but the use of gunpowder always creates a frenzy. The French resort to it and hence the frequent scenes of madness in the streets of Paris. We Americans also promptly resort to shooting, and always with disastrous effects. The Astor place riot was signalized by shooting at a mob, which could have been far easier suppressed by a quiet charge of bayonets. Our raw militia, however, are naturally excitable, and some fool in the ranks fires before the order is given. This always lets the devil loose in a mob. The draft riots in this city during the Civil War, the Pittsburg labor riot, and now this late Cincinnati business, might all have been put down without a shot being fired. It was the regulars who put an end to the Pittsburg riots by marching through the streets with fixed bayonets, and thus dispersing the mob without resorting to gunpowder. The Cincinnati rioters were not Communists, dynamite Irishmen, or ignorant emigrants, but American citizens, whose moral sense had been outraged by the leniency shown to notorious criminals by the corrupt courts of that city. There was no need of a single person being shot or wounded in Cincinnati. Outside of France on the continent of Europe the soldiery are never used in case of riot. Within a few months a mob of dangerous disaffected workmen in Vienna were put down by the police. We will probably keep on shooting at mobs in the United States until we get older and wiser. Our rulers are generally recruited from a class which is at once timid and rash, and the members of which hold office for short terms. Our militiamen are very inexperienced, and then our editors, in case of an outbreak, are sure to cry "Shoot them down," as witness nearly all the papers during the past few days.

It seems to be settled that all or nearly all the reform bills introduced by Mr. Theodore Roosevelt in the Legislature will be adopted. We have no doubt they will accomplish much good but they are far from perfect. The Comptroller should not be elected but appointed by the Mayor. The Board of Estimates should not be confined to four officers whose ordinary duties should take up all their time. That board should be enlarged by the addition of several tax-paying experts who would do all the executive work. Single-headed departments are all right provided the Mayor has the power of prompt removal, which the Roosevelt bills do not give him. The case of Hubert O. Thompson and that of the Surrogate show that rank abuses flourish in single-headed departments when the tenure of office is for a fixed term. Then the Park Commission, like the Charities and Correction, should be composed of three or five members appointed by the Mayor. Still if the reform measures pass, imperfect as they are, a good work will have been done.

The Facts About Real Estate.

The daily press of New York has made such ado about the so-called "boom" in real estate that a wrong impression has been created as to the actual facts in the case. It is quite true that there has been eager bidding at the auction sales for certain kinds of investment property; it is also true that brokers and dealers feel very much more encouraged at the present outlook than they were when the year commenced. But there is no "boom" in real estate as the tables in this article, compiled from the records in our own office, very clearly show.

The tests in any business are the number of sales and the amounts involved. From the tables it will be seen that there were about 150 more conveyances in the first three months in this year compared with the first three months of last year. But while $42,514,564 was expended in purchases in realty in 1883, the first three months of this year show an aggregate of $39,028,444, some $3,500,000 less. The March showing this year does not compare favorably with the same month last year.

Then turning to the new buildings projected we find that there were only 614 projected during the first three months this year against 687 new buildings projected during the same period last year. The cost of the projected improvements this year are $8,348,286, against $12,775,400 last year, a falling off of nearly four million and one half. Still it may be remarked in passing that the first three months of 1883 were the best in the year, and among the plans were some very large and costly dwellings. Here are the comparative tables:

A careful study of the above figures will serve to dispel some illusions. Transactions in realty are increasing; this is due to the growth of our population and the greater number of holders, now that so many large estates such as the Jumel, Morgan and others have been divided up. The outlook is, however, very fair; investment property is in growing demand. Vacant lots, however, except in the line of immediate improvement, are still slow of sale, though undoubtedly their turn will come in time. Real estate never advances along the whole line; first one kind of property is in demand, and then another; when there is a speculation on the east side the west and other portions of the city are apt to be neglected. In this respect real property is not unlike Wall street securities, which advance or recede in groups, as shown by the history of prices in the Grangers, the coal stocks, the Vanderbilts, etc.

There is real harm done to the best interest of realty when extravagant statements are made respecting prices. It has been the aim of THE RECORD AND GUIDE to stick closely to the facts so as not to deceive its readers. The prospects of real property are so good that there is no need of putting forth illusive and deceptive statements.

The Cause of the Trouble.

Now that the Cincinnati riot is over, and law and order has been restored, it may be well to draw the moral of the occurrence.

The outbreak might have been anticipated. The original impulse was a creditable one. It was a popular revolt against the gross corruption of the Cincinnati courts, and a demand on the part of an indignant public that murderers should be hanged and malefactors punished. It seems that since 1866 only one murderer has been hanged in that city, and he a negro. The "fixing," or, as it is termed, the "monkeying," of juries had become a regular business, and the murderer and thief were sure of an acquittal or a light punishment if they had money enough to pay for the necessary legal machinery to defeat the ends of justice. There was no hope from the press. It failed to voice the public indignation. The Legislature, of course, would do nothing. Like all other State Legislatures, it was composed mainly of lawyers, generally of the bribable kind. So the shameful abuse of the courts was continued year after year. The beginning of the riot, therefore, was due to the indignation of the public, and shows that the popular conscience is far more sensitive than is that of the press and the lawyer politicians. Had the mob been able to hang four of the murderers confined in the jail, that would have been the end of the riot. But they were unable to do this, and gave vent to their indignation by the very significant act of destroying the court-house, which in that city was not a hall of justice, but a shrine of refuge for the criminal classes.

The law in this country utterly breaks down in insuring swift and certain punishment for wrong doers. Hence for the last half century on the frontiers the people have been obliged to take the law into their own hands. Judge Lynch sometimes makes mistakes, but he has been a terror to evil doers in all new settlements. No vigilance committee was ever appointed except where the courts failed to do their duty.

It is curious to note, however, how unelastic our legal system is. It is never reformed, notwithstanding the experiences of the new communities. As soon as law and order is established the courts go on procrastinating in the same old way, so that the lawyers can pile up their fees. This Cincinnati horror will probably lead to some better state of things for a while. A few murderers may be hanged, but the final administration of the law will be continued in the old, old way.

The primal cause of all our troubles of this kind is the monopoly of law-making, law-expounding and law-executing, which is given to the one class in the community. The lawyer in this country is supreme. It is an aristocracy not of birth but of selected, carefully-trained talent. Outside of the worlds of business and invention, the lawyer caste has a monopoly of the brains of the country. There is a process of natural selection constantly going on which keeps the lawyers in their places of power. There is probably on the whole as much morality in that class as in any another, but "business is business," and the interest of all class legislation is to maintain a state of things which adds to the wealth and power of the caste which controls public affairs.

In England there is no trouble about bringing murderers to justice, and that speedily, as witness the case of O'Donnell and the Phœnix Park assassins. It took us a year to hang Guiteau, though his crime was committed in daylight in the presence of a hundred witnesses. In this city we are in almost as bad a condition respect ing the administration of justice as was Cincinnati. Juries are "fixed" here as they were there. The law's delays are intolerable. Murderers are unhung; thieves and law-breakers go unpunished. But it is safe to say there will be no outbreak in New York. One such an occurrence as that at Cincinnati takes place at very rare intervals. There is nothing to do but to bear the affliction as best we can. The press of New York will not protest, as there is a lawyer somewhere about the editorial rooms with his hand on the throat of every editor.

The Brooklyn elevated road is again under way. The managers expect some of the cars will be running on a portion of the track by next August and that the road, seven miles long, will be finished by January, 1885. This road will connect the bridge and Fulton ferry with the Long Island system of railways, and the Brighton Beach, Coney Island, railway. Two miles and a half of this elevated road was constructed several years ago but the company got into trouble and the property was sold to a syndicate of capitalists, who are now at work completing it. The capital stock of the new company is $5,000.000, and there will be a bonded debt of $3,500,000. The fact of the construction of this road accounts for the activity in real estate and building in our sister city. Of course in time some arrangement will be made to unite the Brooklyn with the New York elevated system by way of the great bridge.

The daily press of this city was justly hauled over the coals in the State Assembly for its defence of that den of ghouls, the Surrogate's Court. It was proved beyond all peradventure that the most monstrous abuses were permitted in that office, yet the Democratic Sun and the Republican Times, as well as several other papers, apologized for and excused the Surrogate. The report of the Roosevelt committee, and the debate in the Legislature, shows that that official ought to be promptly "fired out" of the important position he held, if there was any authority that could do so. No wonder there are so many new papers started when those in existence no longer voice the public conscience.

Our Prophetic Department.

INVESTOR.—What is there to be said about the real estate "boom?" Do you not think its final effects will be detrimental to trade?

SIR ORACLE—What do you mean? How can activity in any department of business be finally injurious to any part of the country?

INVESTOR—What I mean is this. Will not the absorption of capital in real estate investments tie it up and thus diminish the fund by which the business of the country is carried on?

SIR O.—Well, there may be something in what you say, but let us look into this matter. James Brown buys a house of John Smith, paying therefor fifty thousand dollars. Now, to be sure, Brown has not got that money but Smith has, so that does not diminish the amount of capital in actual use. It is merely transferred from one hand to another.

INVESTOR—What I am trying to get at is this. A movement in real estate means increased building. Now the erection of costly houses and apartment buildings, indeed all new dwellings and stores, changes floating into fixed capital. The money is spent upon the material and labor involved in the construction of the edifice, and there is therefore so much the less to help other enterprises.

SIR O.—Yes, but here again there is simply a transfer. Mr. Moneybags, the millionaire, pays out his hundred thousand dollars for a fine house, but the persons who receive the money are the sellers of material, the laborers, mechanics, furnishers and decorators of the house.

INVESTOR—I do not think that your explanation tells the whole story. Mr. Moneybags' cash is represented by a hundred thousand dollar house, but he has so much less to use productively. The laboror merely lives on his wages, he does not store it up. The fixed capital is dissipated. It is the capitalists after all who store the golden money of the world, and when these accumulations are scattered the reservoirs, as it were, are emptied in which were kept the active capital of the country. I am very much afraid that the present activity in real estate is a repetition of the old, old story. It is a phenomenon which always occurs at the end of every speculative cycle, and precedes the crash. Real estate was at its highest the year preceding 1873. When money is plenty, and there is trouble in the stock market and in general business, men hasten to put their accumulations, or what is left of them, in the most tangible of all property—real estate. But it is locked up and cannot be utilized when the day of real distress arrives.

SIR O.—Your views deserve consideration. It is quite true that speculation commences in the stock market, or in the demand for iron, and generally ends in real estate. And it is worthy of note that we have been erecting costly buildings in all the large cities of the country. We know the figures of our railway expenditure, but quite as much money has been put into new dwellings since 1879. Now the multipliers of railroad securities have this advantage: They can be used as collateral in banks on which to lend money. Not so with costly buildings. Improved realty cannot be used as an asset for a bank loan. There is not a monied institution in New York that would lend a dollar on the Western Union or Equitable building, but the bonds or stocks of any rattletrap railway is a good collateral at a bank. In this lies the peril. If our laws could be changed so as to remove the legal disabilities from realty, the latter would at once become an asset in a bank. Real estate would be, as it were, mobilized and put on the same plan with railway and other negotiable securities.

INVESTOR—I noticed that in last week's conversation you spoke hopefully about our corn crop, while predicting a diminished yield of spring wheat, and low prices for the latter. Now is it not a fact that our corn is consumed here at home, and that the wheat is our export crop? If we cannot furnish Europe with wheat will we not be forced to send gold, and may not that eventually create trouble?

SIR O.—That is the problem for the country to solve. If the rest of the world adds to its yield of wheat as it has during the past two years then Jay Gould is right. We must consume our own wheat, or rather grow no more than we can use ourselves. To retain our precious metals we must send other things abroad, and that is why the tariff question will be a vital issue in our politics for years. We must have a foreign market for articles we produce and manufacture at home, and we cannot have this without free raw material and lower duties. We can now produce vastly more goods than we can consume, and we must have a foreign outlet or there will be trouble.

At Last.

When THE RECORD AND GUIDE two years ago suggested that a constitutional convention was needed, to reform in essential points the fundamental law of the nation, there was no immediate response. We kept up the agitation, however, and the matter was at length taken up and discussed very fully by the press of the country districts. Our leading city papers failed to appreciate the value and importance of the suggestion. But they will be forced before a great while to discuss the matter exhaustively, as the subject has at length got into Congress, as will be seen from the following dispatch copied from last Tuesday's Herald:

WASHINGTON, March 31, 1884.—Representative McCoid, of Iowa, has prepared a joint resolution, to be introduced as soon as possible, providing for the appointment by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, of a commission, to consist of seventy-six persons, two from each State, of different parties, for the purpose of considering and proposing to the several States the propriety of calling a convention by at least two-thirds of the States to propose amendments to the constitution. The members of the commission are to be called together by a proclamation of the President after their appointment. They are to sit not exceeding thirty days, at each time and place as he may designate, and are to receive the same pay and emoluments pro rata as members of Congress. The convention, should it be called by the States, is to meet July 4, 1887. Mr. McCoid supports the plan of the proposed convention by pointing to the unexampled growth of the country during the past century, the development of new interests and the important constitutional questions that have arisen. He says that the science of constitutional government has steadily advanced with this growth in the several States, their constitutions having been amended more easily than the federal constitution could be, and many of them by conventions similar to the one now proposed, and that a large number of constitutional amendments have been introduced in Congress, recommended by Presidential messages and urged by the public press. Among the subjects to which these proposed amendments relate are the Presidential succession, the election of President and Vice-President, the exercise of the veto power, woman suffrage and a number of other subjects, such as the regulation of trade marks, the establishment of a federal system of popular education and the freedom of the civil service from political control, which have come up for action since the constitution was adopted, and with which Congress has now no power to deal. Mr. McCoid says the appointment of the commission is simply a preliminary step to bring about concerted action by two-thirds of the States. He suggests July 4, 1887, as the date for holding the convention, because that year is the centennial anniversary of the submission of the original constitution to the original thirteen States.

Our readers will notice that every point in Mr. McCoid's bill was taken from the columns of this paper, even to the time of the meeting of the proposed convention. Once the discussion is started it will elevate the tone of the politics of the country. The political articles in our newspapers are a disgrace to the press and the country. There are scarcely any vital issues to difference the two parties, and the only interest in the discussion is the personal one involved in the struggle among the second-rate lawyers who are spoken of as presidential candidates. There are other and far more fundamental topics than those suggested by Mr. McCoid to be considered when the convention finally meets, as meet it will. But these it is not essential to discuss just now.

Over the Ticker.

WE gave bull points on Pacific Mail from the time it was selling from 38 up to 50, but while the stock may go higher than it has been quoted, no one must buy it on any recommendation of ours.

THERE are lots of "may be's" about Pacific Mail. Congress may help it by paying a decent figure for the carriage of the mails. Lessep's Canal Company may want Pacific Mail steamers. When Treanor W. Park was alive, he had arranged with the Canal Company to sell out on the basis of $55 per share, but his death broke up the negotiations.

FROM the swarm of lawyers employed by the North River Construction Company we judge there will be nothing left for the stockholders of that unfortunate concern.

TWO weeks ago the "Ticker" had the advance news that Western Union was about to issue Construction bonds. The stock was then selling for 73½. It has since touched 69¼. The additional bonded indebtedness was discounted by the insiders before the fact was made public.

WESTERN UNION looks wonderfully cheap at 70, but then this stock was always undervalued by the street.

COTTON is a purchase. The world is short of that flocculent fibre.

WHEAT is selling at 84½ a bushel in Chicago, and is weak. Is not this wonderful? The growing winter wheat crop looks so good that there is no great margin for an advance, but it looks dangerous to short wheat at these figures.

Home Decorative Notes.

—The love of flowers is or should be natural and healthful, and in hundreds of homes where no vestige of nature is visible beyond that suggested by embroideries or paintings, with the very air hot and lifeless, what can be more delightful in this early spring season than the introduction in the recesses and windows of lovely blooming plants; they are not only beautiful in themselves, but will lend enchantment to those who are influenced more or less by the nature of their environments.

—Candle-sticks of Berlin iron in reproductions of celebrated forms are much sought after and greatly admired.

—A crystal dish supported by an imitation in bronze of a branch of the cherry tree, with its delicate pink buds and blossoms, is a new and very attractive design for holding fruits or bonbons.

—Numerous Easter novelties of great elaboration and elegance in exquisite pieces of Royal Worcester and Crown Derby in forms of the ovate gems, are offered by J. Cezilly, 1208 Broadway. Interesting and worthy examples of Mexican pottery have also quite recently been received; vases, trays, water-bottles and minor ornamental objects.

—A unique thermometer is composed of a deer's leg, the hoof of which is finely polished and mounted in silver.

—A leopard's head of old black oak, handsomely carved and mounted on antlers' feet, forms a handsome waste basket for a library.

—A handsome combination of color in a felt table scarf, is of sea foam and sage green, the latter in a band bordered by a running vine of yellow jasmine, the ends of the scarf finished by a cut fringe of both colored felts.

—The new decorative wall papers simulate to perfection bronze, brass, old gold and tinted metals, while the designs for friezes, dados and decorations are made up of a mixture of conventionalized and realistic forms in high and low relief in the style of the best repousse and carved work.

—Square tables for drawing rooms are of carved mahogany, or they have marquetry tops, or open-work brass richly chased with tops of Mexican onyx.

—A novelty in lambrequins is in the form of a scarf, either plush or felt, with ends embroidered in clusters of graceful flowers, while each corner is caught up with loops of ribbon or silk pompons and heavy cords.

—Whatever capers the popular taste may cut the demand for thoroughly artistic embroideries is not likely to cease, the beauty of tints, of tones and of light and shade in fine specimens of colored embroideries will not pine for admirers; among the attractive works exhibited at "The Decorative Art Rooms," No. 28 East Twenty-first street, are the portieres and hangings contributed by Mrs. Townsend, also a very magnificent curtain, designed by Samuel Colman. The display of embroideries is indeed encouraging and indicative of a development of American art.

—A dainty pongee chair back has the maple leaf design wrought with a combination of painting and embroidery, many of the leaves are simply outlined with the brilliant colors peculiar to the autumn season, others have the solid embroidery, and others again delicate touches of the brush in water-colors, the result is indeed extremely pleasing.

—An effective border for a square table cover may be formed by applying disks of silk or satin on handsome contrasting material; in the disks embroider sprays of flowers, birds, butterflies or geometrical figures.

—There is a vast difference between the fancy work of this generation and the last, and when we look at the worth and charm of some of the modern work, not only in its influence on our homes but its marketable possibilities, it receives a new importance. At the rooms of the Associated Artists, No. 115 East Twenty-third street, are fabrics of such lovely combinations of color as to defy description, in needle woven tapestry there are many beautiful specimens suitable for curtains and portieres. The canvas upon which this embroidery is wrought is particulary adapted in texture to the purpose; specially harmonious in coloring and originality in design is a bed-spread, with ground work of pale yellowish green satin sheeting, upon it gracefully falls the pale pink and tea roses, exquisitely embroidered with silks and fine crewels; the faint old greens and pale yellows of the leaves, and the occasional soft and extremely pink buds harmonize most wonderfully with the peculiar background.

—Bevelled edges, as thick as the means will permit, are liked for ornamental mirrors, buffets, etc.

—An exquisite table floral decoration consists of a long mirror placed in the centre of the table to represent a lake, this is bordered with forget-me-nots, pink roses and hyacinths, while on it are swans made of lilies of the valley and little boats of carnations and violets.

—Numerous and beautiful are the bronzes cast in every form from statues of heroic size to tiny birds; at The Meriden Co., of No. 46 East Fourteenth street, was noticed a unique design for an umbrella stand; it was in the form of a trunk of the larch tree, several of the branches with cones attached surround it; attached to one of the twigs is a robin's nest, while the bird rests nearby carefully guarding the home.

—There is a satisfaction in having about us some productions of our own skill, and very probably but few of us have not at one time or another tried to solve the eternal question—How to make the most out of a little. Some of the following suggestions may be of service, and the results obtained highly satisfactory. A frieze of fans arranged about the ceiling line is very effective; corner brackets and hanging cabinets made of pine, with oddly-shaped shelves, and covered with plush, brighten up corners and relieve the monotony of side walls; a very attractive toilette table may be constructed by using an ordinary pine table and cover it with Madras muslin or cretonne, both of which may now be procured with most charming designs and exquisite colorings. Cover the top of the table with a plain piece of the material, then make a deep flounce, which will reach from the edge of the table to the floor, and fasten on with gilt nails. It may be either plaited or gathered as fancy pleases. Take a long piece of the material and fasten the centre over the mirror, letting the ends fall over the side of the table; bows of ribbon and lace edging enhance the effect materially.

Waste and Extravagance in Terminal Transportation.

The elegant little Brooklyn ferryboats of the Pennsylvania Railroad, known as Annex Nos. 1, 2 and 3, are familiar spectacles to all New Yorkers who go often to the neighborhood of the Battery. They cost about $65,000 each, or a total of $195,000, and are navigated at an expense of $50 per day, a sum which, multiplied by three, the number of the boats, produces $150. The landing place in Brooklyn, Jewell's wharf, is rented to the Pennsylvania Company at $10,000 per year, and the ferry slip in Jersey City, although the property of the road, may be regarded as worth $5,000 in space, a total of $15,000 to be placed to the account of rent. Add to this the sum of $54,700, the annual cost of navigating the boats at $150 per day, and you find a total of $69,700, or $300 less than the interest on $1,000,000 at 7 per cent. This represents one item in the transportation account of New York harbor. Let us follow up the investigation through the operations incidental to the transfer of freight and see if the figures can be carried to any very satisfactory "terminal point."

It is difficult to obtain the precise figures which represent the cost to the Pennsylvania Railroad of its Brooklyn freight traffic. Merchandise is handled less in bulk there than in New York, consignments being made and received in parcels at a great number of places. As a consequence of this peculiarity in the business floats for the transportation of cars are less used than lighters and barges, and it is not easy to keep an accurate record of the cost of transfer for any specified period of time. The superintendent in charge of the Pennsylvania Railroad lighterage service, however, estimates the average daily expense of the Brooklyn traffic at not less than $200, a sum which may be accepted as an approximation to the true figures, more likely under than over the mark. But the sum of $200 per day for one year amounts to $73,000, or 7 per cent. on a little more than $1,000,000. Add this to the million represented, or swamped rather, in the cost of navigating the annex ferryboats, and we see a total of more than $2,000,000 to be charged against the Brooklyn traffic of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

But it will be observed that in making this estimate no account has been taken of the capital invested in ferryboats, floats, lighters, barges, tugs, &c., on which interest is perpetually due, nor of the many and various losses to which such a service must be continually subject. It would not be an exaggeration to say that the Brooklyn traffic of the Pennsylvania road costs the interest, at 7 per cent., on a capital of $2,500,000, or at 4 or 4½ per cent., the prevailing interest on money, about $4,000,000.

But this is only the beginning of the account against Brooklyn when the city water front is regarded as an objective point in the operations of transportation. There are four railways besides the Pennsylvania road which find their terminal points on the west bank of the Hudson River, and though they have not an equally elaborate and complete ferry service to Brooklyn for the transportation of passengers, they are all subjected to heavy expenditures when it is a question of the transfer of freight between their piers and the Long Island warehouses. Say that each of the four roads pays for this service 7 per cent. on $1,000,000. This is a not unreasonable average; and adding it to the capital represented by the Pennsylvania Railroad water service, we find a total of $6,500,000, the sum which the commerce of the port of New York pays in the form of tribute to the little attenuated domain of water which Neptune has laid down between New Jersey and Long Island. It is a considerable sum; and it would bore possibly two four-track tunnels under the Narrows, and build bridges across Staten Island Sound at Perth Amboy and Elizabeth.

There is a collateral question, too, to be considered in this case, economic in one of its features political in another, and public in every lineament. The capacity of Jersey City to hold freight cars, and pass passenger trains to and fro at infinitesimally short intervals, has been tried to the utmost and it is found wanting. The area of the city is too small for the service imposed; and our neighbor has been literally crushed beneath the iron heel of the locomotive that smokes along almost every avenue. It would be worth fifty millions of dollars to Jersey City to-morrow could half the railroad traffic that converts her territory into an immense freight yard, perilous to life and limb and suffocating with dust and smoke, be transferred to the more extended water front that invites its coming on Staten Island and Long Island. The dilapidation of Jersey City, a dilapidation that even the most patriotic Jerseyman will confess, is due almost entirely to the hopelessness of the task of attempting to convert a freight yard into a beautiful city.

The sum of $20,000,000 could be more profitably and economically invested for the perfection of transportation agencies around the harbor of New York than in any other section of the country. The immense population and vast commerce of the metropolitan district are concentrated on three detached islands and the mainland represented by New Jersey, and thus far there has been but little practical effort at uniting the disconnected sections. We have a tunnel, now filling with water, constructed under one-third of the distance across the Hudson River, and the New York and Brooklyn Bridge, a perfectly useless structure for the demands of wholesale commerce. These two improvements represent the extent of our labors at forming close connections between New York, Brooklyn, Staten Island and New Jersey, and in default of such connections we are driven to the use of the most primitive and wasteful devices. There is probably no city in the Union not provided with better terminal machinery than New York, and none where the operations of transportation cannot be more economically conducted. We owe our commercial supremacy to the accident of location at the end of interior lines of communication, and to the almost illimitable extent of the harbor. Constructive art and arrangement have thus far added next to nothing to our natural advantages.

Three hundred laborers have been put at work on the extension of the Staten Island Railway between Vanderbilt Landing and Tompkinsville. Simultaneously with this news comes the report that petitions are being circulated asking for the passage of Senator Murphy's bill reducing the fare between New York and Staten Island to five cents during certain morning and evening hours. This looks very much like an effort at killing the goose that promises to lay golden eggs. The first thing that Richmond County needs is more frequent ferry trips to New York made in reduced time. A business man's time should be worth five cents an hour. After more efficient local service is secured, communication with the main land will follow, and then if the Rapid Transit Company is found to be making too much money it will be time enough to talk of a reduction of fares. It is understood, we believe, that a ten cent fare over the new line is to include both the ferry and railroad trip, and this is only half the cost of a trip to Newark from New York, a distance of only nine miles.

Realty at Albany.

[From our own Correspondent.]

ALBANY, April 2.

Nothing has been done in the Legislature this week, in relation to the advancement of the measures relative to transit in New York city, except the reporting of the Arcade Underground Railroad bill, by the Railroad Committee of the Assembly, and the argument before the Senate Committee against the bill extending the five cent hours on the elevated roads. The Arcade Underground bill has been favorably reported by the Committees in both Houses. The outward opposition to it is decreasing, and its promoters have popularized the measure among the class who originally opposed it, on the ground that "it would disturb that sacred thoroughfare, Broadway." Another week will test what strength it has in the Senate.

The Assembly Railroad Committee has given notice that it will hear on next Wednesday all who desire to oppose or advocate the general street railroad bill, or any of its provisions. The representatives of the National Cable Company, who were so disastrously routed on their measure last week, are here trying to organize an opposition to the street railroad bill, and may succeed in jeopardizing its passage.

The Senate, after a sharp contest, has advanced to third reading the bill to appoint a commission to examine the tenement houses in New York and report to the next Legislature a system for their construction. This is more in the interest of Prof. Adler's reform in tenement house structures, he being one of the commissioners. Like all other reforms it was bitterly opposed.

The reform bills reported by the Roosevelt special committee have at last been considered in the Assembly and all save one, which was abandoned by the committee itself as not satisfactory, have been ordered to third reading in that body. They make the County Clerk and Register salaried offices, but furnish no relief whatever to the public who have business with those offices by the reduction of fees. The same fees are retained for searching titles, docketing judgments, filing papers, recording deeds and mortgages as before. Nothing contained in the bills reduces in the least the cost of transferring the titles of real estate. The reform consists as far as these offices are concerned in the fees all being paid over to the city instead of being pocketed by the officials, who are to be paid a stipulated salary. With the enormous profits that the County Clerk and Register are alleged to be making, it would seem that a reduction of the fees to be charged and the relief of those having business with those offices to the extent of that reduction, should have been incorporated into the bills. That would have been a practical reform which would have benefitted all owners of realty in New York, who pay the expenses of the city government and the fees in those offices besides.

Another bill provides that the clerks and searchers in the County Clerk's office shall be paid by the city instead of by the clerk out of the fees, the amount of salary to be fixed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. Neither of these bills affect the present County Clerk or Register. They will continue to receive the fees during the terms for which they were elected.

The bills relating to the Sheriff and Surrogate are more practical, and place both of those offices under the control of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. The bill will make those offices less expensive to those who have business with them, and will break up the abuses to a great extent in each. There is every reason to believe that the passage of these bills will be of great advantage to the public, as well as reduce the cost to the city. As to the Sheriff's office the amount to be charged for the transportation and boarding of prisoners is regulated by the Board of Apportionment, and the restrictions placed upon the Surrogate cannot fail to prove beneficial for a time at least.

One bill proposed to reduce the Park Department to one Commissioner after this year, but the indications are that before the bill passes it will be changed so as to make the board consist of three Commissioners.

The bill to establish an exterior street on the East River, from Sixty-fourth to Ninetieth street, has been favorably reported in the Senate.

The Senate has at last passed the bill for the removal of the unsightly telegraph poles in the streets of New York, and putting a stop to the stringing of telegraph, telephone and electric light wires over buildings and across them, a system that has been carried on to such an extent as to become a positive nuisance. The bill provides that all such wires shall hereafter be placed underground; also that every corporation, association or person owning or controlling telegraph, telephone, electrical or other wires, or cables, shall, before the 1st day of November, 1885, have the same removed from the surface of the streets in New York and the poles taken down. If the corporations refuse or neglect to remove them, then the city is authorized to do it at the expense of the owners of the wires and poles. The bill has yet to be acted upon by the Assembly.

The act allowing the owners of lots who have paid assessments for boulevard or street improvements a rebate equal to the reduction afterwards made in the assessment list of similar property on which the assessments had not been paid has been favorably reported in the Assembly. The city is to issue assessment bonds to refund this rebate to those who paid in full.

The bill of Mr. Clarke, authorizing the use of native asphalt pavement in any streets, when the property owners on that street petitions for it, has also been reported in the Assembly.

A bill of Mr. House, authorizing the owners of the piers at West Forty-first street to extend its length to 100 feet, and make it 60 feet wide, has been favorably reported in the Assembly. This is to facilitate the business of the West Shore Railroad, and increases its accommodations at that point when it commences to enter the city by that ferry.

The bill introduced by Mr. Clarke, authorizing the Department of Parks to construct a bridge for passengers and vehicles over the Harlem River, from Second avenue on the south side, to Lincoln avenue on the north side, has been reported in the Assembly. The bridge to be free, constructed with a draw and in such manner as not to obstruct navigation, at a cost not to exceed $400,000.

Among the new bills introduced this week is one adding the President of the Fire Department to the Commission in charge of the work connected with the proposed new Croton Aqueduct. Also a bill in both Houses, directing the Department of Parks to revise, lay out and make new maps of that portion of the Twenty-fourth Ward known as the Kingsbridge and the Woodlawn districts.

The Governor has signed the bill establishing a park at Coenties slip. That park is now a fixed fact.

The opposition which at one time manifested itself to the system of parks recommended by the commission appointed to locate parks north of the Harlem River, has in a great measure disappeared. Senator Plunkett has changed his programme to taking portions of the parks recommended by that commission and abandon the other, on the agreement that the bill shall be amended so as to place the parks when the title is acquired under the control of the Park Department. The proposed parks being located in the district which he represents, his opposition endangered their passage, but this change and his active support insures the passage of the bill. It is to be considered in the Senate to-morrow. The establishment of these parks now, when the property can be obtained at a moderate price, will be an important step, as well as enabling the other improvements hereafter to be made to be adjusted to them. There is no measure before the Legislature relating to local improvements that has received so strong co mmendations from the large property-holders in New York city as has this measure for the laying out and establishing an elaborate system of parks north of the Harlem River. Their letters to members have been strong and earnest for the passage of the bill.

Going Back to First Principles.

A tenant in one of the finest apartment houses in New York said to the writer:

"I wish THE RECORD AND GUIDE would advocate one change in the building of large apartment houses, which I think is very much desired, and if tried would, I am sure, be very popular. The water-closets, it seems to me, and the accompanying bathrooms and lavatories should be put in a building by themselves, or at least in a section or sections of the building detached from the apartments in which the families live. I reside in a fine apartment, but the water-closet is located between my sleeping room and kitchen. Now it is impossible to rid the rooms of foul smells with such an arrangement. Then there is the constant danger that if there be any defect in the plumbing the sewer-gas, as well as the gas which comes from the decomposition of fecal matter, pervading the rooms in which our food is prepared and in which we sleep. You see no provision can be made for renewing the air in a water-closet constructed in the middle portions of most of the apartment houses. The objection to the old privy in the back yard is that it was difficult of access in stormy weather and was uncomfortable in the winter time, but if a privy was attached to an apartment house it could be heated by steam pipes and made as comfortable as any of the rooms in the main building. In short, let us go back to first principles. The instinct of men in all times and countries has been to separate the necessary from the house in which one lived. The need for doing so is quite as great and even greater in an apartment house swarming with people. Reform they say of all kinds is spiral. We don't go back, but we keep going round, finally reaching the same point at which we started, only higher. There ought to be a prize offered for architects to prepare plans for an esoteric structure such as I have indicated. We are only beginning to learn how to live in vast buildings, but this is a matter of vital concern and should receive attention at once."

The Cable Company to Go Ahead.

Abraham R. Earle, one of the Rapid Transit Commissioners, was asked if the recent action of the Legislature would put a stop to the work of the Cable Company in New York.

"Not at all," said Mr. Earle, "the Rapid Transit Commissioners will organize a company, and the work will go right on. There is ample power under existing laws to justify the company that is to be formed in giving New York what it so urgently needs; greater facilities for intermural travel, cheaper rates and a more rapid means of conveyance than is afforded by the horse cars."

"Will the cross-town roads also be constructed?" asked the writer.

"Yes," said Mr. Earle, "the constitutionalty of the laws prohibiting tracks crossing Broadway and Fifth avenue below Fifty-ninth street, Fourth avenue above Forty-second street, as well as the enactment prohibiting the crossing under or over the elevated road tracks, is disputed, and the matter will be brought before the courts. At any rate the longitudinal roads will certainly be constructed. The commission would have liked to have had the endorsement of the Legislature, but there is plenty of authority to do this work under existing laws." Since the date of the above conversation Mr. Earle has resigned his place on the commission.

Why Dead Men's Property?

It is well known that the property most eagerly bid for on "'Change" is estates sold by order of court or by the executors. If it belonged to a well-known citizen, such as ex-Governor Morgan, it will bring higher figures than if owned by an ordinary citizen. This preference of purchasers is wholly unreasonable, for realty is realty, and the factors which enter into its value, whether it is a part of a dead man's estate or belongs to a person who has not as yet "shuffled off this mortal coil." A couple of weeks since, some property offered by the Ottinger Brothers, was sold by A. H. Muller & Son. at prices so low as to excite comment. The following letter from the former owners of the property is pertinent to the point made above:

NEW YORK, March 26, 1884.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

Many were surprised that the houses on Sixth avenue, between One Hundred and Thirty-first and One Hundred and Thirty-second streets, recently sold for our account at the Exchange, sold so low, and that we did not protect them. In the first place, we did not wish to make a mock-auction out of the affair, and we had determined to sell the property offered, if possible. There is, however, a prejudice against the offerings by sellers who are still amongst the living, and dead men's property brings the most money. We hope this may be an example to those who missed bargains, by having less confidence in the living than the dead; besides the accesion of owners in that block may help the others, as tenants generally in Harlem occupying private houses have had a pic-nic, and are spoiled as to rentals, and have very frequently injured the sale of property. They will run down the property in order to retain the house at a low rental, whereas any private house below Eightieth street, west of Third avenue, brings from $1,200 to $1,500, and west of Lexington avenue much more. Yours, truly, OTTINGER & BROTHER.

Prominent Buildings Under Way.

The new Cotton Exchange has its first story completed. It has a frontage of 116.4½ feet on William street, 89.2 on Pearl and 87.6 on Beaver. It is to be eight stories and basement high, there being six floors of offices above the Exchange proper, which is to occupy the entire space of the building, including entrance way, gallery and elevators. The offices are to be rented, and will be taken up by cotton brokers, lawyers, merchants and others. The material for the frontage is of Bowling Green Poolite stone, with buff brick and Perth Amboy terra cotta. There are to be three Otis elevators in the building, and steam heating by Baker, Smith & Co. The other contractors are: Plumbing, T. J. Byrne; iron, West Point Foundry; carpenters, McGuire & Sloane; stonework, Fordyce & Hipler. The masons are A. A. Andruss & Son. The cost of the building is estimated at $530,000, and it is to be ready for occupancy on January 1, 1885. Geo. B. Post is the architect.

The "Dakota" is at last near completion, and is receiving its finishing touches prior to its opening in May, when it will be quite ready for dwelling purposes. This huge structure is ten stories and basement in height, and has a total frontage of over 600 feet, 204.4 feet on the avenue and 200 feet on both Seventy-second and Seventy-third street. It contains fifty-six suites of apartments, with two to twenty rooms in each, there being about five hundred rooms in all. It is expected that when the building is fully occupied that some three thousand people will reside in it, including the army of servants and other auxiliaries. The material is of brick and Nova Scotia stone. A novel feature will be that the building will be lighted throughout by electricity, supplied by a machine of 600 horse power. This will communicate also with the row of buildings belonging to the Clark estate on the north side of Seventy-third street, which will also contain electric lighting, being probably the first instance on record where the new light will be used for domestic purposes on so large a scale, there being some thirty houses in all. The building has eight Otis elevators, four passenger and four freight. The principal contractors are: John L. Banta, mason; T. Brien, plumber; Post & McCord, ironwork; J. L. Hamilton, carpenters; J. Gillis & Son and Henry Wilson, stonework, and Pottier & Stymus and others, woodwork. It may be interesting to note that the highest pinnacle on the "Dakota" is 185 feet. The architect is H. J. Hardenbergh, who states that the building when completed will have cost over $1,000,000.

The "Randolph," at Nos. 12 and 14 East Eighteenth street, will be a fine building when completed. The interior is to be handsomely finished and decorated. It is to be eight stories and basement in height, 53x90 in size, and have a front of brick and Belleville stone. There will be only one suite of apartments on every floor, to contain twelve to fourteen rooms each. David H. King, Jr., is the mason, and the Durham House Drainage Company the plumbers. There will be two Otis elevators, and all the rooms will be lighted by the Edison electric light, the other electrical apparatus being supplied by Edwards & Co. The building will be steam heated throughout by F. Tudor & Co., and among the other contractors are Messrs. Post & McCord, who are supplying the iron work; Ellen & Kitson, the stone carving, and the North Belleville Stone Works, the stone. The cost is estimated at $160,000, and the building is to be ready in the fall. The original elevation was drawn by Prof. Clark, of Boston, who has been succeeded by Montrose W. Morris, the present architect.

The New York Real Estate and Traders' Exchange have made the necessary legal application to have their title changed to that of the New York Board of Trade, which will include bureaus devoted to the buying and selling of various commodities of trade. There is now in active operation at 78 and 80 Broad street a cotton bureau and there will be added an oil bureau and one for real estate. We have received the following communication from Mr. John W. Stevens, the president of the Exchange.

Editor REAL ESTATE RECORD:

Enclosed please find one of the circulars indicating the change in the character of the Real Estate and Traders' Exchange with the proposed change of name and location. In view of the fact that real estate is to be placed second in the business of the Exchange, and believing as per my card published by you last fall, that the real estate interest should be consolidated, I have offered my resignation to the trustees of the Exchange, as I do not intend to allow my attention to be diverted from the real estate business. Yours truly, J. W. STEVENS.

A well-known real estate operator, who is too modest to have his name be made known, said to a representative of THE RECORD AND GUIDE that he believed that we are not only going to have a heavy spring but also a large summer business in real estate. There was to be a "boom," he thought, in improved property. Three years ago he got rid of his unimproved lots and advised ex-Mayor Ely to do the same thing. His impression was that improved property would assimilate to London and Paris prices. The lower rate of interest hereafter to obtain would not reduce rents but would enhance the value of house property. Stores and dwellings that now brought their owners from 7 to 10 per cent. would retain their rental value, but would advance largely in price, for investors would be satisfied with 4½ and 5 per cent. for improved realty. All his rentals this year were better than last year. The only unimproved property he held was in the annexed district, in which he thought there would be in a short time a great deal of activity.

The height of the Morse building, on the corner of Nassau and Beekman streets, is 142 feet from the sidewalk to the top of the cornice. Temple Court is about the same height, and the Potter building, when finished will measure 161 feet from the pavement to the top of the parapet wall.

Real Estate Department.

All the omens are favorable for real estate. The transactions, public and private, are large, the attendance on 'Change was never more numerous, the bidding is generally satisfactory, and the feeling among dealers and customers is excellent. But the Herald and some other papers misunderstand the situation when they talk of a "boom" being under way. This is entirely untrue. For certain kinds of investment property there is an active demand, but there are plenty of bargains, as will be seen by the list of last week's auction sales. French's Hotel brought only $410,000, although $550,000 had some time ago been bid for it at private sale. Fully one half the property offered at auction last week sold below its intrinsic value. As usual the best prices were secured for down-town property and for dead men's estates. It is curious how purchasers prefer poor property at an executor's sale to valuable realty offered by live men.

We wish we could re-echo the extravagant statements made by the daily press, but facts are stubborn things, and subscribers of THE RECORD AND GUIDE at any rate do not want to be deceived. Bona-fide customers are driven away from the market by stories of the high prices of real estate. As a matter of fact property is very low and ought to and will command very much higher prices, and that before many years are over. On Saturday the four sales announced under foreclosure were adjourned. On Monday four dwellings on East Ninety-fourth street, between Third and Lexington avenues, were offered under foreclosure to satisfy second mortgages, and they all sold for less than the amount of the mortgages thereon; five dwellings on One Hundred and Eighth and One Hundred and Ninth streets, west of Fourth avenue, also sold for less than the amount due on the first mortgages foreclosed; a lot on Fourth avenue, east side, 76.8 feet north of Seventy-eighth street, brought $10,750, and four lots on West One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street, west of Eighth avenue, were sold for $4,000 each. On Tuesday the sales of six tenements on East One Hundred and Ninth street were adjourned, and one dwelling on the same street, west of Fourth avenue, was sold for $850 less than the amount due on the mortgage which the house was sold to satisfy. On Wednesday three dwellings on Sixty-second street, one on the corner of Madison avenue and two commencing 40 feet west of Madison avenue, sold under foreclosure for about the amount due thereon. A Madison avenue dwelling (No. 704), lot 20x70, offered at public auction, was knocked down for $33,250. The four-story brick house, No. 954 Sixth avenue, lot 21.6x75, brought $26,100. Dwelling houses on East Twenty-eighth and One Hundred and Ninth streets and West One Hundred and Nineteenth street, were sold at fair prices, and the dwelling No. 2 West Twenty-ninth street was withdrawn on a bid of $52,000; this house sold about one year ago for $63,000. On Thursday the sale of property belonging to the French estate was held; the dwellings on the northeast corner of Third avenue and Fifty-fifth street, lot 25.5x110, was offered first and sold for $50,400; the Third avenue and Thirtieth street property was sold in parcels for $129,750, and the hotel, corner of Chatham and Frankfort streets, was knocked down for $410,000 to T. J. French, one of the heirs, the first bid offered being $400,000, the amount realized by the sale was $590,150. Property on Canal and Wooster streets, and Seventh avenue corner of Twenty-first street, was sold in partition, and parcels on West, Washington and Canal streets by order of executors. Several houses on Fulton street, Brooklyn, a Sailors' Snug Harbor leasehold (No. 50 Ninth street), and four houses on East One Hundred and Ninth street were also sold, the latter under foreclosure. On Friday two houses on East One Hundred and Ninth street were sold under foreclosure.

The official list of Conveyances for the past week shows an increase over the business of the corresponding week of last year as will be seen by the following comparative table:

The sale of the French estate naturally brought together a large attendance, among whom were many persons well known in real estate circles. Mr. Daniel Sweeney, an old "crony" of the late Col. French, and the originator of the first six-penny eating houses in New York, was present; also Amos R. Eno., Joseph I. West and ex-Mayor Ely, besides a large number of the leading dealers in real estate. There is some mystery about the sale; the Sun Association is believed to want the property, as it has a standing offer from the Tribune Association for its present building. It is known that Mr. Dana tried to make a bargain with Orlando B. Potter for the old World site, but Mr. Potter's ideas of values were too high for the Sun's proprietors. It is yet a question whether Mr. French bought the property for himself or the heirs. There is suspicion that the Sun Association will finally secure the French hotel building.

Among the important sales to take place on 'Change is one by E. H. Ludlow & Co., on Wednesday, April 23d. It comprises the property of F. Mayer & Co., who failed some time since, and embraces several large apartment houses. There will be much curiosity respecting the result of this sale, as first-class apartment houses have so far escaped the ordeal of a public auction. Those offered are, however, so strictly first-class, that they will no doubt command high prices. The apartment houses to be offered are "The Strathmore," on the northeast corner of Broadway and Fifty-second street, "The Adelphi," on the northwest corner of Seventh avenue and Fifty-second street, and "The Newport," on Fifty-second street, extending from Broadway to Seventh avenue. The other parcels to be sold are the valuable residence, No. 13 West Fifty-sixth street, the excellent stone front dwelling, No. 162 East Sixty-fourth street, and five three-story brick buildings on the southeast corner of Third avenue and Ninetieth street.

Investors should remember that the sale of the estate of the late William Kennelly will take place on Wednesday, April 9th, Mr. D. M. Seaman being the auctioneer selected. The property includes desirable private dwellings, and a number of building sites well located for immediate improvement, a full description of which will be found in our advertising columns.

Mr. Richard V. Harnett will have a busy week of it. On Tuesday, the 8th inst., he will sell the dwelling No. 530 West Sixty-first street; two full lots, with the improvements, on East Eighty-eighth street, between Park and Lexington avenues, and the fine dwelling in the city of Brooklyn, No. 69 Columbia Heights.

On Wednesday Mr. Harnett will offer the plot, 75x100, with frame buildings on the northwest corner of Jackson and Cherry streets, the tenement No. 283 Mott street, the dwelling No. 50 Lexington avenue, the stone front tenement No. 481 Ninth avenue, two valuable building lots on the easterly side of Lexington avenue, between Fifty-first and Fifty-second streets, three lots on Seventy-first street, 225 feet west of Avenue A, and four lots on the north side of Seventy-third street, west of Avenue A.

The same auctioneer will sell on Thursday, April 10, the property on the east side of Montgomery street, extending from East Broadway to Division street. There are two substantial five-story and four-story stores and tenements, fronting respectively on the two last named streets. Property throughout this section has of late been in especially strong demand and readily disposed of. On the same day will be offered by him four lots on Ninety-ninth street, east of the Grand Boulevard. Each of the above sales are announced as positive. Also the desirable investment property, Nos. 114 to 120 Division street, having a frontage of over 70 feet.

On the same day, Thursday, April 10, Mr. Richard V. Harnett will also at peremptory sale, dispose of Nos. 215 to 223 West Fifteenth street, five four-story and basement brick houses, in excellent order and containing all improvements. Also the two five-story brick flats, Nos. 122 and 124 East Thirty-second street, and three brick houses, Nos. 28, 30 and 32 Mott street.

John F. B. Smyth will on Tuesday next, April 8th, sell at public auction, the plot, Nos. 500 to 506 Eleventh avenue, near Fortieth street, 98.8x100, with frame building, and the desirable private dwelling No. 129 East Twenty-third street.

On Wednesday, the 9th inst., Mr. Smyth will sell the well-constructed dwelling No. 439 Lexington avenue, and the stone front dwelling with stores, No. 1574 Second avenue.

On Monday next Mr. J. L. Wells will sell, by order of Charles H. Russell, the receiver of the Knickerbocker Life Insurance Company, a plot of three and a half acres at Spuyten Duyvil, containing handsomely laid-out grounds, with stable, carriage house, etc., and six lots on Fifty-second street, between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues, and other property in this city and Yonkers, as elsewhere announced.

Ferdinand Fish, of No. 149 Broadway, has a large number of well-located down-town offices to let. His list is so extensive that all tastes can be gratified. See advertisement.

Parties wishing to make a good investment are referred to the six four story and basement brown stone double flats, just completed, at Nos. 110 to 120 East Ninetieth street, between Lexington and Park avenues. These houses have been built in a first-class manner. They have portico doorways and the halls are trimmed in hardwood. The size of each flat is 27.6 x82x100.2, there being accommodation for two families on every floor. The suites in the parlor and basement contain eight rooms, and those above seven, exclusive of bath rooms. The halls, parlors and parlor floors are heated by hot air furnaces, and there are four elegant chandeliers of artistic design in each suite. The mantels are of marble, and the halls and stairs are richly carpeted throughout. One of the features is the excellent light and ventilation provided. There are two air shafts in each building, every room having direct light and ventilation communicating with the open air. There is a dumb waiter for each house, and an additional one for the use of each family on the parlor floors, connecting with the basements. The plumbing work is all exposed, and has been done under the supervision of the Board of Health. There is plenty of closet room, and all the modern conveniences are provided. It may be added that these flats are situated in a choice location. They are on high ground, and are a few minutes walk from the Third Avenue Elevated station, at Eighty-ninth street. Ninetieth street, by the way, has a direct entrance to the Central Park. All the rooms in these houses have a cheerful aspect, and the general arrangements are so attractive to tenants that there is every likelihood of their being continually occupied by a good class of people. The houses are offered for sale by the owner and builder, Mr. Dennis Loonie, who invites inspection from parties desiring to invest, and from whom every information as to terms and so forth can be obtained on the premises. The same owner offers for sale the four four-story and basement brown stone front flats built by him at Nos. 334 to 340 East Seventy-first street, between Second and Third avenues, 20x65x100 in size. Out Among the Builders.

The projected improvement on the present site of Madison Square Garden, about which we gave some information last week, will be of colossal magnitude. In addition to the superb apartment houses on Madison avenue, which will occupy a whole front and be 100 feet deep, there will be erected he finest building of its kind in the world on the rest of the block, with the exception of 50 feet running from Twenty-sixth to Twenty-seventh street, which will separate the apartment houses from the monster building, which will front on Fourth avenue. This space will be needed for light and ventilation for both buildings. The great iron structure to be erected on Fourth avenue will run back to within 150 feet of Madison avenue, and will have far finer accommodations than are at present afforded by the whole Madison Square Garden. It is now all ground floor, and much of the space is necessarily wasted, but according to the plans of the architects there is to be a basement underneath the main exhibition hall covering the entire space. The hall above will probably be the largest one in the world, and could be used for monster circuses, hippodromes, and great cattle fairs, for which purpose the basement can be utilised, as well as the grand salle above. If Barnum should double the size of his present circus he will find ample accommodation in this contemplated gigantic amphitheatre. The acoustic effects will be carefully studied, so that the hall can be used for monster mass meetings and spectacles, and probably for operas and concerts for the million. It could also be utilized for exhibition purposes as well as for a summer garden, if New Yorkers could be persuaded to stay in town during the summer months. The cooling or refrigerating apparatus to be used in the Chelsea will be available in the apartments and the grand hall on Fourth avenue. Great masked balls like the Arion and Liederkranz will probably be held in this new building. Hubert, Pirsson & Co., who are the architects, still decline to speak about this immense improvement, but as we have learned some of the facts we see no reason why they should be withheld from the public.

The Equitable Building Improvement Company, lately incorporated, intend to erect a ten-story apartment house on the north side of Fiftieth street between Madison and Fourth avenues, opposite the Columbia College. The material will be of brick, brown stone and terra cotta, and the dimensions 75x100. Special Notices.

Dorchester yellow freestone has stood the test of actual use for thirty years, and is one of the strongest and most durable of light-colored stones. It has been used in the "Dakota," the "Victoria" and other large apartment houses, the Continental, American Exchange and Merchants' Exchange Banks, and in the new Capitol at Albany, for the Assembly Chamber, and the huge platforms and steps for the staircases, corridors, etc., thereto. The Corsehill Scotch red stone, a beautiful bright red sandstone of fine texture, and particularly adapted for fine carvings, has also been extensively used, and is at present being supplied for the grand staircase to the Senate Chamber in the new Capitol. Both of these stones are supplied by G. P. Sherwood, 24 Pine street.

Geo. S. Harvey & Co., dealers in ornamental window and stained glass, Nos. 192, 194 and 196 Willoughby street, Brooklyn, since their purchase of and establishment at that address, have greatly extended their business in art stained glass. This firm recently finished two handsome memorial windows, representing St. Peter and St. Paul, for the private chapel of Col. Kent, at Tarrytown, and have just completed the work for the new Methodist Episcopal church at Red Bank, N. J., receiving the unstinted praise of the builder and the congregation of the church.

In this busy building season there are houses to be moved and shored for repairs. F. & S. E. Goodwin, of 517 East Seventeenth street are experts at this business.

Murtaugh's dumb waiters, manufactured at 145 and 147 East Forty-second street, are highly recommended by all who have used them. Carriage and safety invalid elevators are a specialty with this house.

Richard Lines, whose real estate office is at No. 94 East Seventh street is an efficient superintendent and collector of rents, whose experience will be found valuable to owners of east-side and centrally located realty.

Mr. V. T. Hervey has succeeded the firm of Hervey & Hamilton, located on the southeast corner of One Hundred and Sixteenth street and First avenue. Mr. Hervey continues as his specialty the collection of rents, and is well versed in all matters pertaining to realty.

Mr. Peter Macdonald, real estate broker and agent, 1651 Broadway, corner of Fifty-first street, is the successor of the firm of Hall & Macdonald. All information regarding city real estate will be cheerfully imparted by Mr. Macdonald on application. The management of estates and smaller properties will be well placed in his hands.

The annual election of officers for the Building Material Exchange, of the City of New York, will be held at their rooms, No. 12 Dey street, on Monday, April 14, 1884. Polls open from 2 to 3 P. M.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—It is possible that the gain in demand for Common Hards noted last week may have been retained on the aggregate of business accomplished, but there certainly has been no further growth and many of the trade claim a falling off. The consumption at least was smaller and quite irregular owing to the changeable weather and at this season of the year that buyers would invest to any extent against future wants. Indeed manufacturers are inclined to complain somewhat over the indifferent manner in which the ruling comparatively low rates are received and acted upon by dealers and consumers and it is quite probable that at many of the yards the straightening up preparatory arrangements against the new production will be allowed to drag along in a slow, unconcerned sort of manner until the latest possible moment. In the meantime there can be little danger of any famine of stock, as both the accumulations along the "River" and at other sources of supply upon which this city draws are full and will be ready to come forward as soon as it is reasonably certain that the market can exhaust a larger amount of stock without undergoing further depression on the line of value. Really fine stock is showing only small proportion in the current offering and on this some display of steadiness is made but for the bulk of the stock quotations have a slightly nominal position as variations take place to suit immediate influences of negotiation. About $7 is the average top with $7.25 now and then made and possibly a fraction more to be obtained on fancy and from this there is a range down to $5.50 for Jerseys with some washed lots sold lower. Pales steady at $3.50@4.00 as to quality. Fronts generally quiet at the moment, but the outlet promises well. The cost of Baltimores has been fixed at $37.00@41.00 per M. at pier with the usual addition for delivery.

CEMENT.—We understood that the rate for Rosendale has been fixed at $1 per bbl. at Creek and $1.10 do. here. The manufacturers have expressed no intention or desire to attempt to fix an arbitrary bas's for cost, but it has said have entered into an agreement to limit the production and that work is to be suspended at the mills one day in each week during the season.

GLASS.—The market for window glass has taken somewhat better form of late, and reports are of more generally cheerful character. As we noted a fortnight or so ago the demand for consumption since the first of the year has really been very full, and this, with reduced importation and prospective falling off in the home production, consequent upon renewed strikes, has a strengthening influence upon prices all around. A certain amount of competition continues among local operators, preventing a uniform gain in value, but buyers generally discover that fuller bids must be made to obtain stock than was necessary last month.

LATH.—Receipts have been somewhat fuller since our last, but a large proportion was sold before arrival and with a good outlet for the remainder the market ruled firm. The business appears to have been in the main at $2.20@2.25 per M., closing with latter about the inside rate. Receivers report the tone as generally more promising, with an increased consumption and a corresponding degree of interest among receivers.

LIME.—With no great surplus of stock on hand, holders have been making some showing of steadiness, and, as a rule, former outside rates were asked. It is, however, evident that the market has not as yet settled down to a uniform basis and quotations should be looked upon as nominal.

LUMBER.—There is not much of a really encouraging character to suggest on the general market for lumber at this port. There has of course been a gradual growth in the volume of distribution for some two or three weeks past, and it is almost a certainty that consumption will further expand, both on building and manufacturing account. Exporters, too, have been fair operators, and though the foreign demand is likely to prove somewhat erratic, it has thus far, since January 1, held its own very well in comparison with last season. None of the above outlets, however, are active or quick in their character, buyers calculate coolly and closely to well assured wants and are quick to resist any attempted addition to cost. Beside the above there must also be taken into consideration the light winter trade, leaving a full and well assorted accumulation on hand, coupled with steadily increasing facilities, and lower rates for transportation between primary sources. Sellers therefore find little to give them an opportunity to expect any immediate decided advantage, and they are inclined to accept ability to hold the position with some sort of steadiness at about the best to be expected under the circumstances. Advices from interior markets are somewhat wavering and generally lead to impressions of weakness.

Eastern Spruce remains in about the old position. Moderate arrivals of stock can be placed by careful management without greatly disturbing the general tone of the market but a surplus of stock afloat, and it does not require many cargoes to make this surplus, creates an unsettled tone from which the buyer generally manages to obtain most advantage, even a choice random cannot in all cases be depended upon to command good figures, though full lengths and sizes have reasonably sure sale. Some of our agents are picking up a few specials, but assert that they find it an extremely difficult matter to reconcile the views of buyers and manufacturers, a little New England trade obtained by the latter having stiffened their ideas of late. The line of values as we close stands at about $13@16 per M for the average, but to get extra difficult cuts it would be necessary to bid up to $16.50 @17.00 per M.

White Pine in some cases is talked pretty steady, but this is mainly among holders whose stocks and assortments have become broken of late, and is probably most marked on the shipping grades. As a rule, however, the accumulation is holding out very well compared with previous years, and this in conjunction with the really moderate outlet and better opportunities for getting additional stock prevents expectations of any improvement in tone, and many, if not the majority of the trade, are still confidently awaiting lower rates from manufacturers' hands. We quote $17.50@19 00 for West India shipping boards; $28 00@30.00 for South American do.; $14@16 for box boards, and $16.50@18 00 for extra do.

Yellow Pine has little direct demand at this point calculated to send encouraging advices to manufacturers who are constantly urging agents to place a "little stock." It is not a matter of price, as it would be a very unreasonable customer to complain over the current line of cost, but simply that supplies are not wanted in the way of random and only occasionally on specials. When the latter do come out, however, they excite interest and lead to sharp competition, through which the buyer rarely suffers any loss. We quote as follows: Randoms, $18@21.50 per M; Specials, $21@22 do.; Green Flooring Boards, $22@23; Dry do., do., $23@24; Siding $22@23 do.; Cargoes f. o. b. at Atlantic ports, $14@14.50 for rough, and $19@22 for dressed. Cargoes f. o. b. at Gulf ports, $13@14 for rough, and $18@20 fordressed.

Hardwoods of choice and attractive quality are not bad stock to have on hand, and there is also a better chance for the lower grades. Enough of the latter, however, are within reach to satisfy all immediate wants, and values while steadier fail to positively improve. We quote at wholesale rates by car-load about as follows: Walnut, $65@110 per M; ash, $35@40 do.; oak, $30@55 do.; maple, $20@32.50 do.; chestnut, $25 @30 do.; cherry, $40@75 do.; whitewood, $27@35 do., do.; elm, $22@25; hickory, $45@52.50 do.

The exports of lumber from the port of New York during the month of March last, and since January 1, were as follows:

	Feet.
To West Indies	3,429,000
To South America	3,239,000
To East Indies	693,000
To Europe	29,000
Total feet	7,390,000
Previously reported this year	13,713,000
Total since Jan. 1, 1884, feet	21,103,000
Total, same time 1883, feet	19,512,000

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

LUMBERMAN AND MANUFACTURER, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

The more extensively the situation and outlook is examined the better the intelligent lumberman becomes satisfied with his position. The stock of lumber on hand is being diminished at a rate which threatens to leave nothing but new green stock on the yards on the 1st of July. We were much impressed with the remark of a shrewd lumberman this week who said "the folly of our disposing of any part of our dry sawed lumber for anything less than list is now becoming so apparent that no one will do it save only the man who has to sell to pay debts."

Chicago is now drawing heavily on the Northwest for lumber. At least 25,000,000 have been sold in Wisconsin and Minnesota in March, to Chicago parties, and many more inquiries are being made from the same source, all to fill orders taken by the Chicago parties. This fact makes it apparent that lumber is not being slaughtered either in Michigan or Chicago. The freight rates still disturb the natural trade relations of the West, and there is but little prospect that the Northwestern lines protect their own or the lumbermen's business by meeting the Chicago rate.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

A condition of uncertainty in regard to the season's outcome appears to prevail in this city and at lumber points around the lakes. A large log crop has been put in on the Menominee, and leading operators think the limit of good management has been passed in this regard. The manager of a leading company states that 500,000,000 feet of logs will be in the Menominee and tributaries this spring, when there should be but 350,000,000. In such a state of things the mills will be run at the top of their speed throughout the season in order to get rid of as many logs as possible.

The holders of cross-piled lumber in both eastern and western Michigan are standing out against any tendency to weakness. Sales are reported at Saginaw points at figures about the same as prevailed last season, with an occasional deal at private terms It is alleged, however, that the Saginaw sales often have a mystery in them that is apt to beguile the uninitiated. Yet the apparent steadfastness of Saginaw is somewhat reflected at Albany, where values do not exhibit any noteworthy weakness. It is yet early to form any conclusion as to the temper values will assume after the opening of navigation and the starting of the mills. That there is a feeling of uncertainty among both manufacturers and dealers is unquestionable, and yet the prospects for a heavy demand for consumption are bright.

There is no marked change in yard prices. There are allegations of cutting and disregard of the price list, but when they are sifted to the bottom it is discovered that the cut between yards is far from 50 cents to $1 a thousand, and in some cases perhaps more. It is said that the concerns intending to remove to South Chicago, or go out of business entirely, are selling very low, but in the majority of yards prices are held quite steady at the discount mentioned. Prices in the country vary within a range from full list down to $1.50 below, according to the customer or the sharpness of competition. The monthly price list meeting that should have been regularly held on March 27 has been postponed till April 29, so that any action it might have taken will not become a disturbing element during the month to come.

Dealers who have orders for car loads of choice hardwoods do not like to pay freight on water, nor do they like to uncover their piles and submit a large part of their stock to the wetting down process, and so have been taking it easy, and have postponed business as much as possible. Prices show no change as yet, but the approach of the opening of navigation is beginning to be felt by the kinds of lumber that during the summer mainly arrive by lake. Quotations are not yet actually lower, but there is a manifest reluctance on the part of dealers to pay prices that have been ruling.

"What shall the harvest be?" will be known as soon as the result of the work of the different operators on the various streams can be collected The work is ended. From every direction comes the information that the camps are breaking up generally. The warm weather, when it did come, showed no partiality, but put in an appearance in all sections of the Northwest at about the same time. Preparations for driving are active on all of the streams, and on a few of them it is already under way.

FOREIGN.

The London Timber Trade's Journal has the following:

We understand that there are no best pine regular deals in first hands at the present time on this side, and, if our information is correct, it will have to be something extraordinary in the state of the demand if prices do not advance. The absence of this quality in any considerable quantity from the sales of the past month so far bears our information out, and it will be the end of June at the earliest before the open-water shipments at Quebec reach this market. Second quality in the regular dimensions are also reported scarce here. For this latter quality we hear business has been done at a considerable advance on auction prices in fairly large lines. Third quality is not getting any weaker, even if no improvement is traceable. The fact of other goods being plentiful with which this class of pine comes into competition will prevent any but the very best shipments from making any decided advance.

Pitch pine planks are another item that still continues heavy in stock, there being some 50,000 pieces now yarded against 14,000 this time last year.

These goods, like flooring, soon recover themselves if the market is not unduly pressed, but pitch pine has had a long interregnum of dulness and which does not appear to be relieved by the reported shortage of logs at Pensacola and the other Gulf of Florida ports.

We have been told that there is a constantly increasing demand for Baltic timber, which is said to affect unfavorably pitch pine more than any other description, both planks and balks. Whether this is so or not, there is evidently something less active in the inquiry for Southern pine the last two or three seasons. The quantity of logs of pitch pine in the Surrey Commercial Docks are now about the same as they were last year at this time.

Though somewhat heavier, yellow pine and spruce stocks are not so materially different from what they were last year. Prices, supposing trade to be in anything like an average stage of activity, need not be affected; but the general indifference displayed by merchants on all sides is becoming characteristic of each succeeding spring.

The notion that prices are still declining has got abroad, but though we cannot see any actual improvement of sufficiently marked a character to enable us to speak of it as an advance, we certainly see no symptoms of this market further weakening. That some descriptions of timber are slighted is apparent to the most careless observer, but that prices of really sound deals are sinking there is not the least sign, and we daily look for something very different from the result of the next few weeks. It will be noticeable that when well-known marks are put up for auction, it matters little whether red or white, buyers are found at prices quite as good as previously obtained for similar descriptions. Yellow pine is said to have been slightly weaker at the last sale, but the difference was confined to a couple of lots out of some dozen or so, which went 5s higher the fortnight previously. On the other hand, the upset price for 4ths, put in the sale with a reserve on them, was £8 15s, which certainly did not appear to convey the impression that this class of stuff was less firm; precisely similar goods had a sale or two before being sold without reserve at £7 15s. and £8.

METALS.—Copper—Ingot continues moderately active on home account, but consumers appear quite cautious and unwilling to take anything beyond early and well defined necessities. Prices, however, are steady, as the offering of stock is kept well in hand. Some speculative inquiry prevails on foreign account, but the bids range almost too low to obtain much stock. It may be noted, however, that information now in hand tends to confirm the rumor noted by us two weeks ago regarding purchases on foreign account. The quantity taken will, it is said, foot up about 1,000,000 lbs., and that cost does not exceed 13½c. per lb. Operators are unwilling to make admissions upon the matter of this export business, but information from domestic and foreign sources renders it almost a certainty that the movement has taken place. Lake quoted 14¾@15c; other brands, 14@14½c. Manufactured Copper in about average demand and the line of cost showing no great variation. We quote as follows: Brazier's Copper, ordinary size, over 16 oz. per sq. foot, 23c. per lb; do. do. do, 16 oz. and over 12 oz. per sq foot, 25c. per lb.; do do., 10 and 12 oz. per sq. foot, 28c. per lb.; do., do., lighter than 10 oz. per sq foot, 30c. per lb; circles less than 24 inches in diameter, 26c. per lb.; 84 inches in diameter and over, 29c per lb.; segment and pattern sheets, 26c. per lb; locomotive fire-box sheets, 24c. per lb.; Sheathing Copper, over 12 oz. per sq. foot, 21c. per lb., and Bolt Copper, 24c. per lb. Iron—Scotch Pig shows little or no change worthy of note. Importers are selling a fair number of parcels to consumers against consignments afloat and accept former rates, and there is a little jobbing distribution at outside figures. Accumulations in first hands are moderate. We quote at $21@22.75 per ton, according to brand, etc. American Pig also has a rather dull and somewhat monotonous market, with not much of special interest to advise. Demand comes simply from regular sources and rarely extends beyond the ordinary trade parcels, but still the offering seems to show a fair balance all the while, and the production is evidently carefully adjusted to the wants of the market. Small fluctuations in cost take place according to momentary governing influences, but on the general range there is no great variation in prices. We quote $20.00@21.50 per ton for No 1 X foundry, $19.00@20.00 for No. 2 X do do, and $18.00@19.00 for gray forge. Old rails have found some little sale, but at quite irregular rates and with something of a tendency toward an easier basis, though a great deal depends upon the point of delivery. Scrap iron about steady, but not meeting with a very active or general demand. We quote at $21 50@22.50 for tee rails, $23.00@24.50 for double heads, $22.50@23.00 for No. 1 wrought scrap ex ship, $23.50@24.00 for selected do., $18.00@19.00 for old car wheels, and $22.00@23.00 for crop ends. Steel rails have met with only a light uncertain demand, and with evidences that rates were quite irregular as considerable competition prevailed to obtain such trade as might be going. We quote at about $33.00@34.00 per ton, according to delivery. Manufactured iron has not been quite as active as some operators hoped for, and the market is more or less unsettled. Supplies, however, are carefully adjusted to the outlet and sellers manage to maintain some degree of steadiness on durable and standard goods at least. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 2.00@2.10c. from store, and Refined at 2.15@2.50c.; Rods, round and square 2.25@2.50c.; Bands, 2.50@2.60c.; Norway Nail Rods 5¼@5½c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 3.00@3.2 c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. Lead—Domestic Pig has found a very good and steady demand from regular trade sources, and holders managed to retain sufficient control over the stock to keep prices firm at about old figures. No large parcels of stock appear to be wanted at the moment. We quote at about 4.05@4.15c. per lb., according to brand and the size of invoice handled. The manufactures of lead are steady and quoted: Bar, 5c.; Pipe, 6¼c.; and Sheet, 7¼c., less the usual discount to the trade; and Tin-lined pipe, 15c.; block tin Pipe, 45c., on same terms. Tin—Pig meets with a fair average trade demand, but beyond that buyers will not operate. Cost, however, undergoes considerable fluctuation in following the foreign market, and this keeps the tone unsettled. We quote at 18¼@18½ for Straits and Australian, 19@19¼ for English, and 19⅞@19¼ for Banca. Tin plates have of late found a somewhat better demand for consumption, and values steadied up accordingly with an advance in some instances shown. We quote I. C. Charcoal, third class assortment, $5.50@5.75 for Allaway grade, and $6.10@6.12½ for Melyn grade; for each additional X add $1.25 and $1.50 respectively; I. C. Coke, $4.70@4.75 for B. V. Grade; $4.85@4 87½ for J. B. grade; Charcoal terne, $4 75@5 10 for Alaway and Dean grades 14x20; $9.75@10.25 for do. 20x28; Coke terne, $4.50@4 55 for Glais grade 14x20, and $9.55@9.60 for do. 20x28—all in round lots. Spelter meeting with only a slow demand, but in view of a curtailed production holders are showing a somewhat greater firmness, and offerings are light. We quote at 4½@5¼ for domestic and foreign, according to brand, quantity, etc. Sheet Zinc going out moderately and ruling about steady at 5¾@7c, according to quantity, quality, delivery, etc.

NAILS.—Demand has been somewhat irregular, but sellers will not admit any falling off, and some claim an increase. Supplies have proven sufficient to fully balance the immediate outlet, but we hear the usual suggestion of a coming scarcity, and repeat it for what it is worth. It may be noted, however, that even during the strikes at the mills there never was such a scant offering of stock as to compel buyers to wait for the filling of their orders. We quote on basis of $2.60 per keg for 10d to 6d.

PAINTS AND OILS.—Business appears to be on the mend, and especially in the way of orders from local and near-by interior sources. Jobbers and retailers have all bought so close to actual wants that they immediately feel the influence of an increased consumption, and are compelled to give the benefit of the same to the wholesale market. Selections are general on the line of standard goods, and prices well sustained. Linseed Oil in good fair demand, and closes steady at 57@58c. for domestic, and 58@59 for foreign. Spirits Turpentine has further declined, but the reduced cost attracts some attention from buyers. Quoted at 33@35c. per gallon, according to size of invoice.

PITCH AND TAR.—Business of about the usual size and form, and without new features or important change in the line of values. We quote pitch $2.25@2.30 per bbl., and tar $2.50@3.00 do., according to quantity, quality and delivery.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

J. T. LINDSEY, Business Manager.

APRIL 12, 1884.

The newspapers shout "job" so often when there is no occasion for it that their cries of alarm are not heeded when a case of real jobbery comes along. Five hundred thousand dollars is too much for paving Fifth avenue properly, for experts say $350,000 is more than enough. The Fifth avenue roadway is in a very bad condition, and ought to be repaved from Washington square to the upper end of the Central Park. The way things are going on some time or other Broadway must be repaved. The various companies that have torn up the street have not relaid the pavement in the best manner. The greatest sinner in this respect has been the Western Union Company. The stones have been taken up to lay the pneumatic tubes, and the subsequent repaving has been slovenly in the extreme. All this will be an excuse for a costly job for repaving the Broadway pavement some time.

The determination of the cable company people to build new lines for city travel is not a matter for real estate owners to cry over. We need more surface cars and, if possible, a swifter means of conveyance than horse-power. Anything that economizes time in traveling without adding to the expense is a public benefit. The opposition to the new street roads in the press is, of course, in the interest of the existing horse-car monopolies. Then the promises of the cable company to charge only one fare of five cents to any part of the city, even though two or more lines of travel are used, is very attractive and will make the enterprise popular in spite of the newspapers. We cannot, however, but think that the city ought to have some return for the use of its streets. The cable company should pay a percentage on its gross receipts for the great privilege. Had this been done in the past by omnibus lines, horse-cars, gas and ferry companies and the elevated roads, we would have yearly a handsome addition to the receipts of the city treasury. Then a monopoly of the streets should not be given for steam power alone. Some motor other than steam may be found desirable in the future. The electric railway may be so perfected as to be used on our surface roads with safety and economy.

The great cotton crop of 1882–83 reduced the price so low that growers became despondent and operators predicted that in a few years we might expect to see standard cotton selling at eight cents. But the pendulum swung in quite a different direction. Cotton is now worth twelve cents instead of eight and may go higher, and that in face of the cheapening of all standard products due to the endeavor of the commercial nations to make gold alone do the work of gold and silver combined as the unit of value. Now the cry is that we must stop growing wheat in this country, because the Hindoo is raising it, and can furnish a better quality at a cheaper price than we can. While it is true that the great markets of the world are glutted with grain, that is no reason why we should stop growing wheat in the future. The cotton crop of India was a short one last year, because of the very heavy crop of the previous year in the United States. Wheat-growing nations this year will naturally refrain from planting so large an area, and it is just possible that our fine growing crop of winter wheat may command excellent prices next fall and winter. The wise farmer will continue to grow the product which the unwise farmer refrains from planting. If Mr. Jay Gould even did say that America would be forced in future to consume its own wheat he talked nonsense. We are nearer Europe than is India, and can produce and transport wheat in the long run as cheaply as any nation on earth.

The number of standard silver dollars coined up to April 1, 1884, was $168,425,629, about $3 per head for every man, woman and child in the United States, but France has $14.40 per capita, the Netherlands $13.30 and Belgium $9.46 per capita. That this excess of silver does not drive out gold is shown by the additional fact that France has a gold circulation of $23.25 per head, Belgium $17.85 per head and Holland $8.00 per head, in other words France has a gold circulation of $13.00 per head greater than our own people, and Belgium $7.50 per head. Then the Bank of France, while it has $200,159,000 in silver five-franc pieces in its vaults, it also has $197,461,000 in gold, which is a greater amount of the yellow metal than is in the vaults of the Banks of England and Germany combined. Only 32,397,467 silver dollars are owned by our treasury, the rest are in circulation or in the form of certificates. The Bank of France has over seven times the amount of silver held by our treasury, yet gold is steadily leaving our shores to go to France. It seems likely, however, that much of the silver now in the treasury will be needed in the channels of retail trade, as the one and two-dollar greenbacks are wearing out. The number of one-dollar bills originally printed was $58,168,000, and of two-dollar bills $49,540,000. From this it will be seen that were these bills withdrawn there would be an immediate demand not only for all the silver dollars in the treasury but for the eagles and half eagles in gold. If France, with 20,000,000 less population than the United States, can make use of 540,000,000 five-franc silver pieces, it is very certain that the United States can keep on coining 2,000,000 silver dollars per month for the next quarter of a century without doing any harm.

Across the North River.

There are few places in the world more thoroughly dismal by nature than the flats of Jersey City and Hoboken, as on the other hand there are not many places pleasanter by nature than the heights behind them. But the heights and the lowlands have equally been neglected in the past by art, and it has been a standing wonder to the occasional visitor to these suburbs how those of the inhabitants who resisted the temptation to suicide have kept from taking to drink.

It is gratifying to observe that the æsthetic impulse has actually propagated itself across the river. People who have not had occasion to cross the ferry to Hoboken within five or six years will, of course, scout such a statement as wild, but it is nevertheless true that the surroundings of the ferry are interesting; nay, they are cheerful. The ferry house itself was done early in the frenzy of Queen Anne, and shows mementoes of the period in pot-bellied balusters and rising suns and other of those fantastical details which were then imagined to constitute a style, and of which the revivalists are now probably no more enamored than anybody else. But along with these affectations there is some clever and appropriate detail, the work is soberly painted, and upon the whole is agreeable. Just outside of the ferry house is a shingled tavern, which is still better, being simple and broad in treatment, and having the quaintness which belongs to a building of this kind, and was so conspicuously lacking to the building of the Jersey shores ten years ago. The quaintness of the building is enhanced to the dabbler in local history by the sign of "Duke's House." This is probably only a coincidence of names, and imports no more than that one Duke is the tavern keeper. Moreover, the "Duke's Farm," which makes so conspicuous a figure in the colonial annals of "Paulus Hook" and "Harsimus," was, we believe, a mile or more below the site of the house which seems to commemorate it. But, at all events, the coincidence, if it be no more, is a lucky coincidence.

There are some brick buildings just beyond the wooden tavern which seem to be parts of the same "improvement," and are equally meritorious in their way, being of rather pale brick, relieved by brick of a more positive red in quoins, copings and jambs, all very modest, straightforward and inoffensive in the general view. To say that a building in Hoboken is inoffensive is to give it high praise. The old, gaunt and depressing rows of houses are still there, but they are in a manner hidden by a foreground of better work. The German steamship company has however built a pretentious and overloaded edifice, apparently sheathed with tin, on the water front which is conspicuous for vulgarity even in Hoboken.

Jersey City is by nature more depressing than Hoboken, as being further from the heights, and topographically even more depressed, while by art it has been made to look very much as Hoboken looked before the erection of the buildings we have been talking about. The only oasis near the water front is a little two-story house on an irregular corner which looks as if it might be a hundred years old, and consists of a rough stone wall with brick quoins. There is nothing to distinguish it except an absence of vulgarity, and this is really a great distinction among its neighbors. Further back, in the streets devoted to dwellings, the effect is as discouraging in its way as that of the business quarter. An immense stable, belonging to the Adams Express Company, is noticeable, not for its architecture, which consists of a great round pediment in the middle and a gable towards each end, and is as commonplace as possible in treatment, but for its great size and its material, which is brick from Haverstraw, of a very good though light color, with variation enough of tint and roughness enough of surface to make a very pretty wall. The effect of it, as a piece of brickwork, is very good indeed, and is not injured by the rough courses of sandstone which belt it at intervals, although the rocky keystones of the brick arches look foolish and unnecessary. It is to be feared, from the character of the design, that the designer only used this excellent material because he could not afford a nice, smooth, uniform, pressed Philadelphia brick. In that case we ought to be thankful that he had no more money to spend.

To a rapid tourist from the metropolis a square half a mile or so back from the river (Van Vorst park?) seems to be the swell quarter of Jersey City. The square has a number of old trees and is as attractive as anything in so flat a town could be expected to be. But the building is the commonplace "3-s., h. s., b. s., all imps." into which the economical advertisers in the Brooklyn paper have compressed the metropolitan and suburban style of building. There is, however, one signal exception to the reign of commonplace in a new house at the northwest corner of the little park. This is a large mansion, of brick and terra cotta, three stories high, 25 feet one way by 100 the other. The entrance is in the centre of the long front, and the whole breadth of the narrow front is thus made available for the eastward outlook on the park, for the further enjoyment of which a stone balcony traverses the second story. The long front has a crow-stepped gable at each end and a narrower gable over the central doorway. This central division of the front is treated as a separate feature, with a deeply arched doorway in a projecting porch between piers in the first story and a round arched door in the second story, giving access to the roof of the porch and flanked on each side by a small square-headed window under the impost of the arch. The composition is very good, and the porch is enriched with copious ornament in terra cotta, which is also very well designed, bating a little hardness here and there. The subordinate openings are segmental arches in brick, effectively spaced and well designed. One wonders that an owner who could afford to build so good a house should not have gone up Bergen Hill to build it. But if one were sentenced to serve a term on the flat in Jersey City, this house promises to make life as endurable as it could be under that condition.

The High Building Question.

The bill before the Legislature practically prohibiting the erection of very high structures to be used as dwellings ought not to pass in its present shape. The elevator has made the construction of such edifices not only possible but profitable. They are the outcome of our latest civilization, and they enable persons of moderate means to live in dwellings and get the advantage of accommodations not to be found in the palaces of kings. Under the law, as proposed, no dwelling on a sixty-foot street shall be higher than seventy feet. On wider streets an eighty-foot-high house is permitted. But why this requirement on a structure opposite a park? There are several thousand lots in this city which face a square, a park or a river front. To limit the height of houses on these would be a senseless proceeding. Then suppose a block should have been secured for improvement, surrounded by sixty-feet streets and avenues, why not allow a high building providing there is in the plan a sufficiency of sidewalk, and a setting back of the building from the street such a distance that no interference with the light and air of the houses opposite will ensue.

We do, however, require legislation on this subject. Every building over a certain height should be made absolutely indestructible by fire, and another requirement should be that not more than 60 per cent. of the area should be built upon; that is to say, if a structure is to occupy a certain given space 40 per cent. of ground must be vacant, so as to allow of sufficient air and ventilation in the building as well as out of respect for the rights of adjoining property holders.

The object aimed at in the pending bill is commendable. Very high structures should not be permitted on very narrow streets. The air and light of neighboring property holders should not be taken away from them, and provision should be made to insure the safety of life and limb in these exceptional structures.

These great buildings are distinctive so far as this metropolis is concerned. There is nothing like them in the world. They are a conspicuous feature in our domestic architecture. The destruction of the "St. George" flats is, however, a warning which should be heeded. We cannot sacrifice the safety of human life to the interest of the capitalist or to render possible splendid architectural piles. As society advances every new danger is met by some new device to guard against it. In warfare there is a constant contest between means of offence and defence. A dangerous new gun or a new explosive of exceptional destructive power is antagonized by new defensive devices in the way of armor or earth fortifications. As an offset to the danger of the apartment house we have the fire-escapes and the scaling-ladders, and, doubtless, invention will soon furnish us devices to secure absolute safety in the very highest buildings. This is a matter which should engage the attention of the Institute of Architects. Committees should be appointed to investigate the whole subject and report such amendments to the building laws as will admit of the construction of these palatial structures, and at the same time guaranteeing the safety of the inmates, but some limit should be placed to the height of houses upon narrow streets.

About the Lawyer.

It is curious how the press puts the blame of the maladministration of justice in this country upon every factor of the case save alone the principal one. The politicians are blamed and public opinion is said to be at fault, but the principal anathemas are showered upon the heads of the unfortunate jurymen. Business men are called to account because of their natural reluctance to neglect their own business to attend to that of other people. Literally thousands of articles in the press, as well as utterances from the bench, are directed against juries and the jury system. But it should never be forgotten that the corner stone of our entire judicial structure is the lawyer. Not only the administration of justice, but our whole political system, is run by that one class. If the machinery of our government does not work right the fault is with the lawyer, for he has had all to say in its construction and management. If our courts do not secure justice and malefactors are not punished the fault is with the lawyer class, which makes all our laws, expounds them and executes them.

David Dudley Field acknowledges, in a recent address, that the lawyer caste is to blame for the shortcomings of our judicial administration. The eating up of estates in the Surrogate's Court is because the legal profession has regarded the property of dead men as its legitimate prey. "It takes," says Mr. Field, "from five to ten years to get any case settled in which a great corporation is concerned. The Court of Appeals reverses the decisions of the courts below in one case out of three." This address of Mr. Field, by the way, tells more truth about the waste and wickedness resulting from the lawyer monopoly of power than do the utterances of the press of the entire country during the last ten years.

We live in an age when invention, and the best business energies of the race, are employed in economizing time and money, but our legal practices become more and more procrastinating and expensive as time goes by. It is far worse than it was before the days of steam, telegraphy and the devices for economizing the use of money. This anomaly cannot last. The lawyer has become a nuisance. The great business exchanges are forced to settle their own disputes, and to expel any member who appeals to the courts. It will be a hard fight, but although the lawyer caste have on their side the ablest men in the country, who are now absolutely in control of every department of the government and every Legislature in the United States, they will be forced eventually to succumb. The present state of things has become intolerable. It is stated that more persons are lynched in the United States than are hanged under the law, and such a thing as real justice in money matters is almost unknown under the rulings of our courts.

A Defenseless Nation.

"In this great country of ours, one of the richest in the world, with ten thousand miles of coast, dotted with great commercial cities and manufacturing towns, there is not a single one of our ports on the ocean or lakes that an ordinary ironclad could not pass." So said Admirable Porter, and no man will question his judgment. Our old superannuated forts have not a single modern gun to damage an enemy's ironclad; yet Congress recently appropriated only a few hundred thousand dollars to finish one small ironclad, which required plates only seven inches thick for her armor. The Secretary of the Navy advertised in this country for bids for those plates, but not one was tendered; they could not be made in any of our navy yards, nor in any private establishment in this country, so they were contracted for in Europe.

Recently a board of officers was appointed to determine which navy yard should be used for the manufacture of heavy ordnance, but was unable to give any idea of the extent or of the cost of the necessary plant, and was finally sent to Europe to procure the needed information. The board has just made its report, and says that it would require three years to make the tools and put the plant in order before the first gun could be made. Three years, with all their contingencies. Can this nation afford to wait three years? Can we begin too soon? England to-day has in her navy 65 powerful modern ironclads with a tonnage of 402,000 tons, with the most improved guns, and 434 ships for general service with a tonnage of 270,000 tons or 499 ships with a tonnage of 672,000 tons. Those ships are manned by 4,964 officers and 63,836 seamen, and supported by an appropriation (for 1883 and 1882) of $55,697,000. Any eight of those ships could be sent, two to New York, two to Philadelphia, two to Baltimore and two to Boston, and as we have no ironclads for the defense of those cities, could pass our old forts and shell and burn those cities; or we could save them by raising the white flag, paying the ransom demanded, and swallowing the deep humiliation. France, Germany, Italy, even Chili, could do the same thing.

When the four cruisers now in course of construction were first talked of, information was placed before the Naval Committee by government officers that they could not be built in the navy yards without expensive improvements, and, what was worse, they had not the skilled labor in the yards; and yet one private establishment contracted to build the whole and there are other yards fully equipped to do as much; but none of these yards has the facilities to make armor plates of modern size. But to-day, with the raw materials at hand from which to build ships and guns, we have none.

We are without forts, without guns, without ships, without shipyards, and without the skilled labor to build them. Break down the shipyards and give the nation up, bound hand and foot, to English capital and English greed. Then where is the skilled labor to come from? We would be compelled to go for it where we have gone for our armor plates; and if nothing but cost is taken into account in this country, why not engage England to do our fighting as well as our carrying? She is the only nation we can buy from. Can we trust her? Remember the Alabama, the Trent affair, the blockade-runners. Shipyards are of more importance to us than Annapolis. To cotton and bread we must give the credit for all the respect that other nations have for us; certainly not to our means of defense.

h Not a Government Telegraph?

Congress seems disposed to give a contract to some telegraph company for a postal service. The Western Union is in the field, it is understood, with a proposition underbidding all competitors. It offers to send twenty words within a radius of 1,500 miles for twenty cents. It can better afford to do this than any other existing company, for the combined opposition lines have not a tenth of the wireage of the Western Union.

It is a great mistake to encourage the creation or continuance of corporations having relations with the government. Such alliances are a constant source of corruption. When the nation does its own work no such scandals result as when it deals with contractors or corporate institutions. Every Legislature in the Union has been run at one time or another, and most of them all the time, in the interest of some railway corporation. The Credit Mobilier disclosures, and the recent publication of the Huntington letters, tell the story of how Congress has been corrupted time and again by the corporations it had brought into existence. The United States gave most of the money and empires in the way of land grants to construct the Union and Central Pacific railways. It could have built the roads itself at one-quarter the cost and kept them running, like it does the Postoffice, for the benefit of the community; but its money and land grants were used to build up a monopoly for private persons, and finally led to the scandalous disclosures about Congress itself, referred to above.

The nation should own its own telegraph wires. Every civilized country in the world—save alone the United States—has made the telegraph system a part of the postal service. It has cheapened telegraphy for business and social purposes, the work is well performed, and we have yet to hear of any evil effects resulting therefrom. A telegraph company or companies competing for government favor will only reinforce the lobby and increase the corruption fund.

The Financial Chronicle is anxious to amend the constitution so as to reverse the mischievous legal tender decision of the Supreme Court of the United States. But it sees lions in its path and says:

> It is no easy matter to amend the constitution. Only four amendments have been made in eighty-five years, one of which was rendered necessary by the Jefferson-Burr contest, and the other three were the result of the war. The present effort will not be successful without a struggle. Every hard-money man in either House of Congress should take a constant interest in the subject. Hard-money men out of Congress should take an early opportunity to let every candidate know that they will, under no circumstances, vote for a man who will not promise to support a limitation of the power of Congress over the currency. Even after the amendment has been carried through Congress, it must go to the State legislatures; and this suggests the great importance of an early organization of the friends of coined money in every part of the country to promote the ratification of the amendment when it has been submitted to the legislatures.

It was in view of this difficulty in changing our fundamental law, even when urgently demanded by the best interests of the country, that THE RECORD AND GUIDE in the fall of 1882 tried to induce the press of the country to commence an agitation for holding a national convention on the anniversary of the adoption of the present constitution to alter, amend and improve our somewhat ricketty and uncertain fundamental law. The constitution which was quite adequate for 3,000,000 of ex-British subjects over a hundred years ago, is clearly unsuited for 56,000,000 of Americans, whose conditions are entirely different from those of their ancestors. Indeed, there have been greater changes during the past twenty-five years in all the civilized world than in any previous century in the world's history.

But while our call attracted much attention it was forgotten, and now something has occurred which makes it indispensable that the constitution should be amended, and behold it is found that there are insuperable difficulties in the way. On another point the Financial Chronicle deserves to be disciplined. It has made war upon the silver policy of the nation, and now it finds that in order to get the constitution amended, it will be requisite to come to an agreement with all who believe in silver, as well as gold, as the basis for our paper currency.

Our Prophetic Department.

CITIZEN—As the political pot is boiling, suppose we discuss the situation. What is the present outlook?

SIR ORACLE—To me it looks like Arthur or Lincoln as the Republican nominee, and General Slocum or some other "dark horse" as the possible Democratic nominee.

CITIZEN—But I thought there was such a combination against Arthur that he would be likely to lose his own State.

SIR O.—The politicians of the Republican party in this State are, it is true, against him, but I believe him to be popular with all classes of people, not only in this State but in the Union. He will be stronger at the polls than he will be in the convention. This fact will be understood by the delegates from other States when the nomination is made. General Slocum would make an excellent Democratic nominee. His war record is good, his personal character unexceptionable, and he is one of those quiet, undemonstrative men who prove so popular in a presidential contest. Your brilliant statesmen are never favorites for that position with the average voter. Hence I take no stock in the talk about Blaine or Logan.

CITIZEN—How about the platform? Will there be any new issues raised?

SIR O.—I think not. The Democratic party will be forced to take ground in favor of revenue reform and the Republicans will enter the field as a protection party. Both sides will claim to be in favor of civil service.

CITIZEN—Will there be any anti-monopoly plank or planks?

SIR O.—There may be some vague declarations on that subject, but the time has not come for asserting the power of the government against the corporations. It will some time or other be a vital issue, but the pear is not ripe.

CITIZEN—But surely a nation of fifty-six million of people must be affected by influences which necessitate government action. The tariff issue is as old as the country. There must be other matters to enter into party contests.

SIR O.—Party strife is more likely to be heated and acrimonious in a small than in a large community. A nation is not unlike a club. In its early history these associations of gentlemen develop differences of opinion which show themselves on election day, but when a club becomes large and prosperous the elections are tame affairs. This has been the history of the Union League, Lotos, Century and the leading English clubs. Our country has got to be so large that the construction of national platforms has become a very difficult matter. Party leaders find it best to deal in "glittering generalities." Any new issue will have to overcome a vast amount of inertia before it can find its place in a national platform.

CITIZEN—I see John Swinton is trying to discover the tendency of "the new political forces," and has finally concluded to form "liberty leagues," as he calls them, to radically change the politics of the country.

SIR O.—Yes; but Mr. Swinton makes the mistake of supposing he can organize a new party, either on a prejudice or a philanthropic ideal. He regards the very rich as the enemies of the community, and wishes to change the tendency of modern business life, which is gradually but surely concentrating wealth in a few hands. But his war on the Goulds and Vanderbilts has not yet borne any fruit. His "liberty league" aims to prohibit child labor and to force the government to forfeit the lands of railway companies which have not fulfilled the conditions upon which the grants were made to them. Now parties in a free community can never be organized on any such basis. There are never but two great parties in any country. The stand-still or conservative party, and go-ahead or liberal party. The former believes in the central government, and would add to its powers; the latter generally demands individual freedom and local independence as against the central authority. The European socialists wish to inaugurate a new party, one that will add to the powers of the heads of the nation, so as to benefit the working classes and the mass of the community. There is room for such a party in the United States, but it requires a man of first-class genius to organize it. I should not be surprised to find such an organization founded in the not distant future, but the American Lassalle has yet to appear. The coming political contest will not be an exciting one. Should civil service reform ever become an accomplished fact our annual contests will become very tame affairs.

Why should not leases be sold at auction? There are many buildings in New York from which a large rental could be obtained which would be in eager demand were they offered at public auction. Investors do not have such property brought to their notice under the existing system of private negotiations through brokers. When the Real Estate Exchange is well under way leases should be sold at auction as well as contracts for the sale of property.

The Forty-second street reservoir is again brought to the attention of our citizens by the proposition to call what has been known as Reservoir square, Bryant Park. There is, however, no particular reason for making the change. Mr. Bryant was in no sense a benefactor of New York. He died a rich man, without leaving any benefaction to the city in which he made his fortune. He will live as the author of a poem he wrote at nineteen years of age, and will be remembered in journalism as the chief proprietor of a paper, which, although high-toned, was conducted without enterprise, because of the penuriousness of the persons who owned it. The Evening Post's editorials were well-written, but, although one of the literary lights of his day, Mr. Bryant's journal had no authority in the world of letters, partly for the reason he would not antagonize contemporary writers, but mainly because of his reluctance to pay the rates demanded by good critics. Mr. Bryant was, in short, a literary Turvydrop. His age, white hairs and venerable, benign appearance somehow made people believe him a very different person from what he really was.

As Prof. Wm. G. Sumner, of Yale, says in his admirable little book, "What Social Classes Owe to Each Other," there is a man in the community who ought to be called the "Forgotten Man," there is the "Noble Social Reformer" and the "Poor Man," but the man who, by his own effort, raises himself above poverty appears to be of no account. He is forgotten. And so it would seem to be that the widows and laborers, who have their few poor dollars carefully hoarded in the savings banks, are to be entirely overlooked, while a tax of one-quarter of 1 per cent. is to be taken from them, from all their deposits and surplus, by the bill for that purpose, now before the New York Legislature [General Orders No. 553]. What if the small sums saved up by these thrifty people amount to a large aggregate. The burden of the tax would be felt severely by each forgotten woman and man. The bill ought not to pass.

Over the Ticker.

AND now another Wall street broker has failed. If these dull times continue there must be other bankruptcies, for the last three years has made havoc with the bank accounts of all the members of the Stock Exchange.

THE victory of the Denver crowd over General Palmer's friends is to be celebrated in time by an advance in Colorado Coal as well as Denver & Rio Grande.

THE last quotations of wheat, corn, pork and lard are all too high in view of the immense stock of food products in sight in this country and Europe.

THAT dividend in Pacific Mail may be declared next week. It has been honestly earned but we do not advise a purchase of the stock at present prices.

MATTERS look blue just at present in Wall street, but there will be an active and advancing market some time this spring, later on; that is unless the crop outlook is very bad, which is not likely.

AND now the rumor is that Central will give its stockholders a chance to subscribe for some additional stock at par. This will be to enlarge the Grand Central depot and make preparations for having a through line to Chicago, via the Michigan Central, which would be superior to the Pennsylvania (Limited) Express.

The second mortgage bonds of the Canada Southern are 5 per cents and yet do not sell for more than 87½, while the first mortgage bonds, that are no better secured and paying the same interest, sell above par. The Michigan Central and Canada Southern are now practically one company, and in time will become the most important link in the Vanderbilt system between New York and Chicago. It is on the cards to commence the competition with the Pennsylvania Central by way of the Canada Southern instead of Lake Shore as at present. A good railway bond is a real estate investment, and must necessarily grow in value with the increase of the population and business of the country.

The cheap cabs have made their appearance on the streets. They will prove a financial failure of course, as have all previous experiments of the same kind. There are too many street cars in New York to allow cheap cabs to become profitable. Some few persons might ride up-town from the lower part of the city if they could do so for twenty-five cents, but under the rules of the new cab company low fares are for cross-town traffic only. The cheap cabs will not last six months.

Home Decorative Notes.

—Taste and desire for elegant surroundings are becoming more and more developed and displayed, we should not allow ourselves to be carried beyond what is wise and just, however, but avoid all such dangers by bringing much forethought and consideration into play, then no doubt our efforts will be successful and the results prove happy ones.

—The Bolting cloth, which is deliciously soft and filmy, forms a lovely groundwork for curtains.

—Dining-room chairs have high, square backs of oak or mahogany very richly carved, and are upholstered with leather, tapestry or alligator skin.

—Flowers have a special significance as Easter gifts, and those of the early spring are sent as offerings, among the favorite potted plants are the delicate pink and pure white azaleas, tall calla lilies, pansies and lilies of the valley, while the choice for cut flowers is for the long-stemmed roses, lilacs and jonquils, an exquisite Easter floral design is a cross composed of rich purple pansies and the passion flower mounted upon a panel of ivy leaves, at the top in the centre of the panel are several annunciation lilies arranged in a triangular form, at each of the four corners are loosely caught branches of exquisite Catherine Mermet roses.

—Lustra painting is a new and beautiful style of decorating on silk, satin, velvet or plush, the effect produced with the metallic colors is similar to rich applique work.

—Tapestry decorations are coming into vogue, so we may expect a popular revival of this form of work which has such a flavor of romance to recommend it.

—Carved surfaces enter largely into the scheme of decoration as applied to interior woodwork and domestic furniture; brass is also largely employed, and its apparent richness adds greatly to the general effect, providing the surroundings correspond in every degree. Most exquisite examples of Indian wood carving and brass suitable for panels, doors, chairs, desks, etc., are shown at Mr. Lockwood de Forest's rooms, No. 9 East Seventeenth street. Some of the work in which the thin sheets of brass are laid over the carved wood is extremely chaste and elegant.

—One of the latest fancies in tea tables is of plain wood, square and painted a brilliant red.

—An English tea screen of two leaves has an open hand-carved frame enclosing panels of Turkish satin, embroidered with conventionalized roses and honeysuckles.

—The daily pinning or tacking of pillow shams causes much trouble and inconvenience; an invention has lately been introduced which obviates all this difficulty; it is called the standard adjustable pillow sham holder, it is very simple and can be put on by the use of an extension rod and drawn out the desired length to fit any bed; there are no catches, springs or bands so that it cannot possibly get out of order.

—The Oriental lace about 8 or 10 inches wide is much used for lamp shades, fasten on the lamp with ribbon bows and loops.

—A delicate work basket is made by taking a fancy straw hat and lining it with pink satin, embroider with crewels around the crown, poppies, wheat and field flowers.

—There are at present on exhibition at Schaus' gallery some very important pictures, the cattle piece by Julian Dupre, of a young girl tugging an energetic cow, is an extraordinary piece of realism. A very amusing and interesting portrayal of child life is called "What is it?" A charming piece of sculpture is a life-size female figure, half hidden in a veil and poised in the air. "The Minstrel," by Calor, is a very curious and interesting piece of sculpture.

—Among the novelties for holding photographs are screens of plush and olive wood containing two, three and four leaves.

—Tulips embroidered with chenille in all the bright colors on olive green plush are wonderfully effective.

—Rare and characteristic examples of Oriental and modern embroideries are displayed by Miss B. Franklin, of No. 51 West Twenty-first street. Among the attractive works may be noted a table scarf of royal blue plush, showing upon one end a branch of horse-chestnut, with leaves and flowers well represented in all true art colors. The other end is strictly Egyptian in effect, bold in coloring, though not offensive, as the varied hues are arranged in perfect harmony.

—Lovers of the ceramic art will find the Seeger pottery, which is made at the royal factory at Berlin, very delicate and attractive for cabinet pieces; the variety of designs are extensive and the colors bright and gladdening.

—The hanging gypsy kettle of copper or hammered silver is an extremely graceful arrangement for holding either tea or coffee, an extra kettle accompanies it for hot water.

—Quaint Spanish crockery in small pieces, such as boxes, bottles and tea cups, and the famous "reptile" ware from Gibraltar, carved cork in small frames and oval mirrors, set in leather, are offered as favors for the German.

—Transparent silk, Japanese pongee and the Verona silks, which can be procured in the most delicious colorings and unique designs, are used as curtains for vestibule doors; the ends of the curtains should be finished with delicate silken tassels harmonizing in colors with the material.

—Long taper bottles of cut glass for perfume are fashionable.

—The custom of sending cards of greeting and gifts at Easter grows each year, a very attractive panel card has a multitude of golden butterflies rising from the tomb to the light of morning, and bears the motto "Resurgam;" the folding screen cards are decorated with narcissus and daffodils, the white and purple wisterias for a cross similar to the water-lily cross of last year; eggs in every fashion serve also for souvenirs at Eastertide; the ostrich eggs delicately carved or decorated with gold lacquer and the dainty wood violets fill the purpose of bonbonnieres; little chicks with natural feathers are so made that the head can be removed, and there is room down their throats for a small quantity of candy.

Concerning Men and Things.

Henry Irving told the writer that he was astonished at the wealth of this country. He had no conception of its actualities and possibilities until he had reached Chicago. That city struck him as being a marvel of enterprise, and was, he thought, the most distinctively American city he had seen. He would prefer New York, however, to live in, should he ever settle on this side of the ocean. Our Pullman cars excited his admiration. The shorter distances in England admitted of the use of steam coaches which would cramp and worry a traveler in the United States, where the cars admitted of moving about from point to point—a great relief in a long ride. Mr. Irving will return to this country in September next and stay six months. He expects to produce a new Shakespearian revival at his theatre in London this summer.

Miss Ellen Terry was present when the above observations were made by Mr. Irving. She is a wonderfully vivacious lady in private life and much resembles Clara Morris in conversation, though on the stage no artists could be more unlike. They are both admirable talkers and story-tellers. Miss Terry is the very genius of unrest; she changes her chair every few minutes, but ends by perching herself upon the piano stool, which she makes as high as possible, preferring, as she says, that her limbs should form an obtuse rather than an acute angle. Like Clara Morris, also, she is in delicate health and is often in physical agony when dancing about the stage, apparently in the merriest mood. She has been greatly troubled in this country by insomnia. She says she will bring a son, twelve years old, back with her in September and have him educated in this country.

The Star Theatre is said to be in such a condition that the Health Department should examine it. There is an accumulation of filth under the stage 5 or 6 feet deep, the results of the debris that has been swept into the underground region for years. Of course this does not affect the audience nor the members of troupes which stay only one or two weeks, but companies which play for a month, especially in hot weather, may be liable to more or less sickness.

When THE RECORD AND GUIDE originally announced that the Sun newspaper would occupy the Potter building, certain journals made haste to deny the fact, although it was admitted that Mr. Dana had had some negotiations with Mr. O. B. Potter. Not coming to terms the Sun made an offer for French's hotel. Two of the heirs not consenting the negotiations were resumed with the proprietor of the old World site, and it is now settled that the Sun in about a year will occupy the Park row corner, and will have its composing and proof-reading departments on the topmost or eleventh story of the building, now in course of construction. It is understood the Sun has sold its property to the Tribune Association for $375,000. It cost the Sun twenty years ago $150,000, being purchased from the Tammany Society. When the Sun office is removed the Tribune will complete its building on the Printing House square front, and will construct another tall tower on the Frankfort street corner.

"I like a good wide house to live in," said Mr. Fleming Smith to the writer. "I do not believe in very deep houses; 40 per cent. of a lot should be vacant, but you cannot have a really comfortable dwelling unless it has a width of at least 30 feet. This will give you an ample hall, a fine parlor and two wide rooms in front on the upper stories. The cost would be inconsiderable to a person who could afford and who really wanted a first-class dwelling. If the lot of 25 feet cost $15,000, the extra 5 feet would be only one-fifth more. The spacious apartment houses are educating people to a liking for larger parlors and living rooms, and builders would do well to try the experiment of furnishing 30 and 40 feet front houses for private purchasers, not only on the avenues but on the side streets as well. Am I going to build on Riverside Drive? Well, no, not this year, the price of labor and material is too high; $4.50 per day is too much for painters and bricklayers. I propose to wait until labor and material is much lower before I build on my lots on Riverside Drive."

Looking Out for the Future.

Said ex-Mayor Ely: "I think the Building and Health Departments should be particularly careful in giving permits for dwelling houses and flats which are to be erected east of Third avenue, between Ninety-fifth and One Hundred and Second streets. While I do not pretend to be a Sir Oracle, I venture to predict that this particular section of New York will in time have the densest population of any similar area of ground upon the globe. There are from 800 to 1,000 lots in that section and already many large contracts have been given out for erecting apartment houses and tenements suitable for a poor population. It will be covered over with buildings in a very few years. Now that section of the city is one vast marsh, and hence the necessity for special sanitary arrangements to take care of the health of the poor people who will be forced to live in what I believe will be a densely populated neighborhood."

"What called your attention to this matter?" asked the writer.

"The trustees of the Twelfth Ward were asked to decide upon a site for a school in this region, but, although they knew one would be needed, they could not agree upon a site for fear it would be an unwholesome one."

"But," asked the writer, "is all swampy ground on the island necessarily unwholesome?"

"No," replied Mr. Ely, "portions of the Seventeenth and Eleventh Wards, which have been built over for many years, were originally just like these flats above Ninety-fifth street, yet I do not understand that the death rate is greater than in other sections where the ground is higher and dryer. Still, as a matter of precaution, I think the Health and Building Departments should be very particular as to the kind of house they permit to be erected in this region."

Pine Street Rejuvenated.

Mr. E. H. Ludlow acknowledges that he has reached the scriptural "three score and ten" and expressed regret last week that he was not likely to live another half century so that he could see the marvellous changes which will probably take place in the lower part of New York. Broadway, Wall, Broad as well as some of the side streets are but the beginning, he thinks, of a new building movement in which great office buildings and stately exchanges will take the place of the older structures now covering the ground below the City Hall Park. Mr. Ludlow's firm has been forced to remove to the Duncan building, as the Astor estate has decided upon plans for constructing an immense eight-story building, with fronts upon Pine and Wall streets and Broadway. But these are not the only changes in Pine street. It is understood that persons representing the Equitable Life Assurance Company have secured the ground of Nos. 4, 6, 8 and 10 Pine street with the view, when the present leases run out, of building an annex to their present splendid building. Should the company be able to secure the bank building (43.10x101.9) on the northeast corner of Broadway and Pine street, they would own the entire block, with the exception of some 80 to 88 feet front on Nassau street. This company was criticized for erecting so costly an office building originally. It was charged that the management was extravagant, and that the corporation would never get a proper return for the money invested. But it is clear that the Equitable made a wise use of its funds. If it had not, it would not contemplate increasing the size of its building, or be in the market to secure adjoining property.

It is understood that the Astor improvement in Pine and Wall streets will not be begun until next year, but the Broadway front, 38.3 feet, will be commenced on May 1st next. This will be completed 100 feet deep this year, and will connect with the Pine and Wall street improvements to be made next spring. The plot is incomplete on Pine street as the owner of No. 5½ refuses to sell that property, except at figures which the estate considers exorbitant. This particular property is 21.1x73.9x21x74.5 and recently cost its present owner $108,000. The Astors say they would not now touch it at any price but will construct their building on each side and through to Wall street, leaving this house in the same condition as that of the old brick building on Chambers street, the owner of which refused to sell his property at a fair price to the late A. T. Stewart.

From the following table it will be seen that the ownership of the realty in Pine street, between Broadway and Nassau street, has been almost entirely changed within the last ten years. The only lot fronting on Pine street, exclusive of the corners, which has not changed hands is No. 1 on that street. The following table, showing the transfers, the cost and the ownership, will naturally interest all owners of realty. It gives not only Pine street, but the Wall street property which is to be improved by the Astors, as well as the realty on the southwest corner of Broad and Wall streets, which it is understood the Stock Exchange is anxious to secure.

The five and six-story office building Nos. 14, 16 and 18 Wall street and 3 Nassau street is owned by F. W. Stevens, who filed plans for same in May, 1879, wherein the cost of the building is stated to be $200,000.

This will give three fronts, one on Broadway.

The ice companies are about to have a hard time of it. A competition has entered the field against them in the form of ammonia vapor, which keeps a room or box at freezing point, or at zero if required, by the simple process of being forced through pipes attached to those rooms or receptacles. Steam engines of great power are used to condense the vapor of ammonia, when it is then re-used. The new Washington Market is going to be supplied with the new refrigerator, which economizes in cost, labor and space, and it is also to be used in the Chelsea apartment house and the Boreel building.

The Real Estate Exchange.

The Real Estate Exchange and Auction Room (Limited) has issued a call for the last 50 per cent. on the subscription, to be paid before May 15. Subscribers surrendering their receipts, showing they have paid in $1,000, will get a stock certificate for ten shares, which, being full paid, relieves them of all liability. So far there are only nine subscribers who have defaulted upon the last 40 per cent. assessment. After the 15th of May the defaulting subscribers may be sold out, and if so they will lose what they have already paid in.

At the regular meeting of the directors on last Tuesday considerable routine business was transacted. Mr. Stokes, of the Sanitary Committee, made a report recommending the Exchange to exhibit next winter materials and inventions to be used in the construction of houses; also that a course of lectures should be delivered on sanitary science as applied to the construction of dwellings. On motion of Mr. Stokes, Professor Chandler was authorized to represent the Exchange at the Sanitary Congresses which are to be held in Europe during the coming summer.

During the past week the Committee on Legislation of the Exchange held two important meetings. At the first meeting the passage of the new building law now before the Legislature was strongly urged, but a the subsequent meetingthe committee reversed its action, as the proposedt law had been amended at the instance of the Fire Depart ment, bu adversely to the interests of the builders. A resolution was passed favor. ing the bill now before the Legislature restricting the height of any new apartment houses to 70 feet on streets 60 feet wide and 80 feet on wider streets and avenues. An effort was made to get the committee to recommend an amendment permitting higher structures on the front of parks, squares and river fronts, but the builders on the committee objected to any high houses.

The Mechanics' Lien Law, now before the Legislature, which it was feared had some provisions which would put liens ahead of mortgages, was found to be an innocuous measure on reference to the law taken from the files of the Exchange, which wisely keeps on hand copies of all the laws submitted in the Legislature.

Park Commissioner Crimmins called the attention of the committee to the practice of squatters on vacant lots mixing garbage with ashes and leaving the compound to poison the air of otherwise desirable neighborhoods. It seems these people are paid by down-town hotels and large restaurants to take away their ashes and garbage. They feed portions of the latter to their pigs and goats and throw the residue upon the lots which they occupy, but do not own. It was finally decided to try and get a law passed prohibiting the throwing of garbage and ashes upon any city vacant lot.

The committee also decided that it was desirable to repave Fifth avenue, but voted that it should not cost more than $350,000. The committee also expressed its disapproval of any special commission to do the work. It properly belonged to either the Park Commission or the Department of Public Works. Ex-Assemblyman Varnum is on this committee, and he is the right man in the right place.

Fire-proof Apartments.

The destruction by fire of the St. George apartment house has again called attention to the importance of fire-proof construction in all high buildings. It would seem as if every fire of this kind must enhance the value of apartments in strictly fire-proof buildings, where iron beams and blocks of concrete take the place of wooden beams and lath and plaster partitions. Such catastrophes are sure to fill up the Navarro buildings and the few other strictly fire-proof apartments already constructed, and to lead investors to give up building such fire-traps. In addition to the few buildings in the neighborhood of Central Park, there are three apartment houses near Madison square that are classed as strictly fire-proof. The two in Madison avenue on the corners of Twenty-eighth and Thirtieth streets are, we believe, occupied throughout. The high building in Fifth avenue corner of Twenty-eighth street, costing over one million dollars, that has attracted so much attention by its novel and imposing exterior of light colored brick and terra cotta, was designed by the persons who own the twenty suites of rooms into which it is divided, for their own occupancy. We understand, however, that two or three of these apartments are to be sold or rented, and think they will not long remain untenanted. The proximity of this house to Delmonico's, the Brunswick and the theatres would seem to insure its being a convenient and desirable residence, as well as a first-class investment for all time to come. Should the law forbidding the erection of high dwellings pass the Legislature, it will make the great fire-proof apartment houses now in existence very valuable, as there are thousands of families who will pay a premium to live in the highest altitudes in the city.

In the case of the Cornells vs. Barney, decided last January, the plaintiffs tried hard to fasten a mechanic's lien upon the interest of an owner who had leased his premises to a tenant who agreed to put up a building on them ; the owner was to make advances, that is, a building loan, for half the cost of the building, and take back a mortgage on the lease; and it was also agreed that if the tenant failed to perform, and at any rate at the end of the lease the lot and all the buildings were to belong to the landlord; the tenant began building, and the plaintiffs furnished him materials, which he failed to pay for, but the Court of Appeals has decided that the plaintiffs had no lien upon the owner's interest in the premises.

The New York Court of Appeals has lately decided in the case of Hollenbeck vs. Donell that the Supreme Court still has the old power of the Court of Chancery to appoint a receiver of mortgaged premises in a foreclosure suit, on the ground that the property is sufficient security, although the bond and mortgage do not contain any special grant to the mortgagee of the right to have a receiver appointed.

Realty at Albany.

[From our own Correspondent.]

ALBANY, April 10.

The time has arrived in the session when every measure for public improvement in New York is characterized by some of the metropolitan press as a gigantic job and a steal. It is a bad bill and an iniquitous measure is the indiscriminate charge made in connection with most of the important measures brought up. This assertion is made against so many measures that it has lost its force when applied to bills which are really bad, for the reason that it is applied to some which are in every way meritorious and just. The act for the repavement of Fifth avenue is one of the measures which is now held up as a sample of iniquity, and the surface railroad bill as another. The Fifth avenue pavement bill is included in that category on account of a contest between the friends of the Commissioner of Public Works and his opponents as to who shall have charge of the work. There are two separate measures here on the subject ; one provides for a commission, to be composed of the Mayor, Thomas B. Tweddle and Wm. H. Barker, to take charge of the work, and the other that it shall be done by contract under supervision of the Department of Public Works. The argument used in behalf of the former is that the best pavement that has been laid down in New York, that is on Broadway below Fourteenth street, was put down under a commission. That bill, pressed by Senator Gibbs, has passed the Senate, while the act for the pavement to be done under the Department of Public Works has made no headway. The bill for a commission having made progress, all those who expect to get a finger in the pie if the Department of Public Works has the supervision have united in circulating the story that the commission bill is a gigantic job and an enormous steal. This cry is taken up by some of the daily papers, and Senators are surprised to learn that they have been voting for a stupendous job. Fifth avenue needs to be repaved. There has been a quarrel for several years over who should do it, ending in each side crying job, job, at the other, and the defeat of all measures for a new pavement. It bids fair to end in the same way this year, insuring the continuance of the wretched condition of that street.

The controversy between the advocates of the general street railroad bill and the National Cable interests reached a direct issue in the Assembly again to-day. Two weeks ago the bill of the National Cable Company was favorably reported by a majority of the Assembly Railroad Committee. The Assembly at once sent the bill back with instructions to strike out the enacting clause. This move was engineered in the interest of the street railroads. To-day the same committee, by the same vote, at the solicitation of the cable company, reported adversely the street railroad bill prepared by the railroad commission and passed by the Senate. After a bitter and acrimonious fight, with charges that it was a thoroughly bad bill, although no one pointed out but two provisions in the whole bill which were objectionable, the Assembly reversed the adverse report and sent the bill to the Committee of the Whole, where it is to be considered hereafter. The vote was sufficiently large and decisive to indicate that it will probably pass the Assembly, unless the cry of "job" and "mad dog" frightens members from its support. It is on the enactment of that measure that the public will have to look for the right to construct additional street railroads to meet the necessities of local transit in the cities. The ability of the cable company to construct their line of surface roads rests upon the uncertainty of the courts deciding the restrictions in the rapid transit act of 1875 (prohibiting roads on or across Broadway and Fifth avenue) unconstitutional. If it is so declared it will take a year or two to reach a decision in the court of last resort. Long litigation and delays is the outcome of relying upon that mode of securing more roads, and so the fight over the street railroad bill assumes more interest than it otherwise would.

No move has been made this week to secure action on the Arcade Underground Railroad bill. Thus far the promoters of that measure have succeeded in keeping it out of any entangling alliances in the fight between the cable and surface railroad interests. It is sailing along by itself.

The bill amending the Mechanics' Lien Law, referred to in a former letter, has passed the Assembly, but no action has been taken on it by the Senate committee.

The bill to establish six new parks north of the Harlem River, as recommended in the report of the Marsh Commission appointed last year to locate parks in that section, has passed the Senate. The allegation of job and big steal was raised against this important measure in the Senate and the assertion made that it was premature, but it only secured two votes against the bill in that body. It was amended before passage so as to place the parks, when the title is secured, under the management of the Park Department, the same as the other parks are at present. To Senator Plunkett, who represents that district, is due great credit for getting the bill through the Senate. He was assisted by Senators from the interior, Mr. Ellsworth, Mr. Low and others, who take a broader view of the future of New York city and its necessities than does most of those sent from that city to represent it. Had the policy advocated by some of the Senators from New York prevailed in the past the city would now have no Central Park or extensive Boulevard drives, and the State would never have had the Erie Canal, for they would have stopped all of those on the theory that they were premature and schemes of jobbery. It will always be so until New York city sends representatives here who can comprehend the probabilities of the future growth of the city and legislate to assist that growth instead of retarding it. When Senator Low, in support of the Park bill, announced that New York in a few years would be larger than London, and that it was a shame to that city that it had so little area devoted to parks, it surprised some of the Senators from New York, who only consider the crowded portions on the east side when they think of the metropolis. Senator Low charged that they were belittling a great and a far reaching subject when they haggled about the question of providing for the expense of taking the lands. The argument that the property owners adjacent to the proposed parks should pay for the lands taken he held to be untenable, for the reason that the benefits that they would derive from the establishment of the parks would be inconsiderable when compared with the great benefits to be derived by the whole city from the parks.

The act to authorize the city authorities to enter into a contract with a company for the introduction of river water through an independent system of pipes, for the extinguishment of fires, washing out the gutters and flushing the sewers, has passed the Assembly by a decisive vote. There is no doubt of its passage in the Senate as soon as reached there. Could that system be introduced at once it would relieve the Croton water of much of its drain, and leave an adequate supply for domestic and household uses without a new aqueduct at present.

The fire which destroyed the St. George's flat on Monday has caused a renewed effort for the passage of the bill to regulate the height of flats and tenements in New York hereafter. The bill is strenuously opposed, and all efforts to advance it have been thus far defeated.

Senator Plunkett's bill authorizing the Board of Street Openings in New York to change the grades of streets on the west side of the Park, between Eighth and Ninth avenues, so as to conform to that of Eighth avenue, from Fifty-ninth to One Hundred and Twenty-third street, has passed the Senate.

Senator Gibbs' bill to increase the power of the Board of Health in the supervision of the plumbing and drainage of buildings has been ordered to a third reading in the Senate, as has also the bill providing for $1,000,000 for the purchase of sites for school buildings and the erection of buildings for school purposes in New York city.

Senator Plunkett's bill to make a park out of the gore of land on the east side of the Broadway Boulevard, between Seventy-second and Seventy-third streets, has also been ordered to third reading in the Senate. The bill confers authority for the city to acquire title to the property.

The bill appointing a commission, of which Prof. Adler is one, to investigate the tenement house system in New York, with the view of devising some better mode for their construction hereafter and the improvement of the present buildings, has passed the Senate.

Some two months ago the Court of Appeals declared unconstitutional the act of last year prohibiting the manufacture of cigars in tenement houses. A bill has been introduced in both Houses and passed the Assembly intended to get around that decision and hereafter prohibit the manufacture of cigars in houses of that kind in New York and Brooklyn.

The bill of Mr. Clark establishing the line of Mott avenue, in the Twenty-third Ward, heretofore passed by the Assembly, was to-day passed in the Senate.

The revision of the laws relative to New York city, as incorporated in the consolidation act of 1882, has so changed the law relative to the Dock Department that a legal doubt has been raised about the power of that department to recommend or present any plans for the improvement of the water front on the east side of the city to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund for their approval. A bill has been introduced and reported in the Senate to remedy that defect and restore to the Department the authority in that respect which it possessed prior to the passage of the consolidation act.

How to Keep Up the Supply of Our Currency.

Senator Hill, of Colorado, in an interview with a newspaper reporter, gave some figures which must be embarrassing to the various commercial bodies who are trying to put a stop to the coinage of the silver dollar. For the last six years, the Senator said, the annual increase of our precious metal currency was $86,000,000. His impression is that in the years to come we will need an annual increase of fully half that sum, say $43,000,000. Our population and business is rapidly increasing, and we are making demands upon the world's store of metals to conduct our business. Of this $43,000,000, $28,000,000 is now supplied by the silver coinage law, and he thinks we ought to draw or retain $15,000,000 of gold for currency purposes. He thinks he is justified in this expectation as since the passage of the Bland bill in the spring of 1878 there had been added to our precious metal currency $517,000,000, of which $350,000,000 was in gold and $167,000,000 in silver dollars; in other words, while the press has been talking about the silver dollar driving gold out of the country, since the beginning of its coinage we have added over two dollars in gold to one of silver to our currency, all the more remarkable in view of the fact that while we do use silver we do not use gold in our daily traffic.

There is one point which is often urged against silver coinage and which has deceived many otherwise clear-headed financiers. It is thus disposed of by Senator Hill in his conversation with the reporter:

"What do you think of so increasing the weight of the silver dollar as to give an equality to the bullion valuation of the gold and silver dollars?"

"As to the general proposition that it is desirable that the bullion valuation of similar coins should be the same, I quite agree with it. Changes in the relative market valuation of the metals do sometimes occur, and if the changes are serious they naturally and properly suggest the consideration of changing the relative weight of coins of the two metals, but until the new market valuation becomes permanent and reliable there is no safety in adopting new relative weights for the two classes of coins. The practice of all governments, including our own, has always been to be slow and cautious in such cases. It is too soon after the violent perturbation caused by the German silver demonetization and by the subsequent closure of the mints of the Latin Union to silver to know at what relative valuation of the two metals the market will settle. If the European mints are again opened to silver, then the European relation of 15½ to 1 will undoubtedly govern the markets both there and here; and our silver dollar, which has had a mint relation of 16 to 1 since 1834, would again be worth 103 cents in gold, as it was from 1859 to 1873. If the European mints are not again opened to silver, it is as yet impossible to say at what point the market will finally become a steady one. I do not know that anybody in Congress is ready to-day to take the responsibility of proposing a new relation of weight between the gold and silver dollar. We can well afford to wait until the indications as to what the new relation of weight should be become clearer than they are now. The values of the coins, the silver and gold dollars are exactly the same, and are certain to remain so for a long time to come. To make a relation of bullion values higher than sixteen to one—as, for example, nineteen to one, which is at this moment about the market valuation—would carry us still further away from the European relative valuation than we now are, and will put an end to any hope of a bi-metallic arrangement with the silver-using nations of Europe.

Our cotemporary, the Record and Guide, has "put its foot in it" just once. It has heretofore plumed itself on the accuracy of its figures, and as a matter of justice it must be admitted that the Record takes a great deal of pains in its official transcripts as well as in its tables. But in an article on the real estate situation last week an error of $10,000,000 was made in comparing the amount paid for real estate in the first three months of this year compared with the same period in 1883. Instead of this year being behind last some $3,500,000, the Record's own tables show an increase of $6 500 000. Still the point made by the Record in its other figures is all right. There is no such boom in real estate as to scare prudent investors. There are more sales and for larger amounts than last year, but the number of plans for new buildings and their cost show a marked falling off. The investment demand for improved property is a cheering sign of the times, but there are plenty of bargains for those who will put their money where it will yield the largest profit.—Real Estate Chronicle.

A number of east side ladies are about to form a corporation for the purpose of purchasing real estate. It is said that the capital stock of the corporation will be about $30,000, the profits of which will be paid into the corporation and reinvested. Its members consist of the wives of many prominent attorneys and merchants of the city, and quite an extensive business in the line of buying and selling real estate is expected to be carried on by them. A canvass is being made of the east side by the ladies, who expect to increase their number of members to a large extent.—Kansas City Journal.

The Standard Oil Company's Proposed Building.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

I see by your paper that the Standard Oil Company have succeeded in securing the adjoining property to their previous purchase, making a total frontage of 87 feet. There is now no harm in stating that the brokers' committee, when looking for a site for the Real Estate Exchange and Auction Room (Limited), had this particular property in view. The location would have been admirable for an exchange, being midway between the Stock and Produce Exchanges. A refusal was procured for the first 59 feet on Broadway, adjoining the Welles building, and running through to New street, but the bargain was not consummated because of the inability of the brokers to get the adjoining property, which has just been secured by the Standard Oil Company. But what the skill of professional traders and the best brokers of New York could not effect the money of the Standard Oil Company succeeded in securing. Owing to the curve on Broadway at this point it would require a frontal of at least 80 feet to make a really imposing structure alongside so large an edifice as the Welles building. The brokers had still another idea, which was to continue Morris street through to New street, or if that could not be done to run a court or broad alley between Broadway and New street, so as to secure a new front of 200 feet, giving additional light to the various apartments and offices of the proposed building. But the plans fell through owing to the inability to secure the property adjoining Pearson's iron warehouse.

Apropos of this matter the committee of brokers also had in view the northwest corner of Morris street and Broadway, which would have been a splendid site for a really fine building. There was no difficulty about securing the major part of the property desired at a reasonable rate, but the owner of the small house on the corner, Mr. Royal Phelps, declined to sell, although offered double what he had paid for the property in 1878. He asked a figure which was deemed out of all proportion to the actual value of the property. Mr. Phelps knew it was intended for a great public improvement, one which would have been an ornament to the city of New York, but he was stubborn, and the site on Liberty street was finally selected.

Why Double Eagles?

The Coinage Committee of the House of Representatives very properly recommends a limitation of the coinage of double eagles. Eighty-four per cent. of all our gold coinage is in double eagles, apparently for the accommodation of the bankers who may wish some time or other to export them. Should the fives and tens as well as the one and two-dollar bills be withdrawn, there would a large addition to the gold in circulation among the people, but it would take the form of eagles and half-eagles. The New York papers have very generally suppressed the report of this committee, which induces us to give the following very important paragraphs from the report:

In England nearly all of the gold coinage has consisted of sovereigns, and although the double sovereign (less than $10 in value) is authorized, yet in over seventy years but one-hundredth of one per cent. of the total coinage has been of that denomination. So in France and Italy, comparatively few coins have been struck exceeding $5 in value, the greater portion being in pieces of much less value than $5. The advantage to the circulation in coining gold into small denominations, and thereby diffusing it among the people, is seen in the history of France, in which, when gold began to arrive in large quantities from America, the government increased the coinage of the smaller denominations in order to retain it in her circulation. Although this did not in itself wholly occasion, it at least assisted in the absorption by that country within thirty years of more than $1,100,000,000 of gold coin, although possessing at the time an abundance of silver. This, as stated less than a year ago by M. De Parieu, in the French Senate, was done advisedly by the eminent minister who at that period had charge of the French finances. He increased the facilities for the diffusion and absorption of gold by coining larger proportions of ten and five-franc pieces. In the United States the gold coinage from 1804 to 1838 consisted wholly of half and quarter eagles, and prior to 1853 the eagle was the largest gold coin. The coinage of the double eagles was commenced in that year, and amounted during the next thirty years to nearly $90,000,000, being 84 per cent. of the total coinage. For the last ten years prior to the fiscal year 1879, scarcely 3 per cent. of the gold coinage was in denominations of less than $20. During the last five years a large proportion of the gold coinage has been in eagles and half eagles, although of late it has been mostly in double eagles.

The above will be a sufficient answer to the following letter. It is quite true that precious metal payments gravitate from the debtor to the creditor nations, but when the former are seriously inconvenienced by the withdrawal of the money metals, they try to pay in the products of their soil or manufactured articles at lower prices; in other words, they make exchange to save the drain of the precious metals. Were we to use our own gold and silver, as do England, France and Germany, in all the channels of retail trade, it would force us to send other articles abroad to pay our international debts.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

You wrongly construe the reason why gold "naturally gravitates to the countries which most need it." Gold only gravitates to the creditor nation by debt-paying debtor nations, generally caused by an adverse balance of trade, as when we buy more abroad than our exports can pay for. The balance is paid in coin, as higher duties check the cost of imports and low duties increase them, to our loss in gold and employments, as our history proves.

G. W. DEAN.

The price of shares in the Real Estate Exchange and Auction Room (Limited) Company at first sold for as high as $30) premium, but when the call for 40 per cent. was issued some few seats exchanged hands at par. The publications in THE RECORD AND GUIDE, however, showing that the purchase of the site would bring an income to the treasury of the Exchange, after paying all current expenses, has renewed the demand for the shares, which at last accounts were quoted at about $25 premium. When the auction room is completed next fall and the business of the Exchange fairly under way there is no doubt but what the revenue will be so ample that the shares will be considered a very desirable investment quite apart from the privileges of the Exchange.

Real Estate Department.

There are now more transactions in real estate and for larger amounts than in any previous spring season in the history of the city. Such is the testimony of all the auctioneers and brokers, and their statements are confirmed by the official records which we publish weekly. If mere activity would make a boom there is certainly one under way, but as a matter of fact prices are still very low, and vacant lots are particularly so. From our detailed tables given elsewhere it will be seen that nearly all property, especially unimproved lots, sold for moderate prices during the past week, but it is certainly a rising market. One of the most cheering signs is the fact that the oldest and most experienced traders are bidding for and picking up all the desirable parcels that are offered. The old habitues of the salesroom such as Thomas C. Higgins, L. Z. Bach, John Callahan, Timothy Donovan, Morris Littman, B. P. Fairchild, John Donovan, Wm. H. Morrell and W. C. Lester have satisfied themselves that the public is in the market buying, and that the move for high prices has only just commenced. When this class of operators is loading up outsiders are in no danger of making a mistake in purchasing desirable realty in any part of the city. The Kennelly sale was not satisfactory to the trustees and heirs. Amos R. Eno secured the vacant lots on Sixty-first and Sixty-second streets at prices much below what they were bid in for a couple of years back. In our Gossip column vacant property is often reported as sold at high figures, but in every such case a builders' loan is back of it. The lot owner who is willing to help the builder can get much more money for his property than if it was sold on the open market. It now looks as if we would have an advancing market for the rest of the year, and, if so, speculation will soon appear, and the prices brought at the Kennelly and other recent sales will seem very low. The salesroom is crowded every day and the bidding is spirited. A glance at our advertising columns tells the story of the prosperity of the real estate interest. We are frequently forced to publish forty-four pages to accommodate the increased number of advertisements, as well as the additional news and tables, while our resources are tasked to supply the demand for copies of the paper.

On Saturday two houses on Washington street were sold in partition, and the dwelling houses Nos. 1735 and 1737 Lexington avenue under foreclosure. On Monday the receiver of the Knickerbocker Life Insurance Company sold a number of parcels of improved and unimproved property at low prices, and several flats on West One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street, a dwelling on East One Hundred and Ninth street and a vacant lot on East Eighty-fourth street were sold under foreclosure. The latter brought $19,000, about $8,000 less than was due on the mortgage foreclosed. On Tuesday a large number of vacant plots were offered; eight on West One Hundred and Twenty-third and One Hundred and Twenty-fourth streets, 100 feet west of Tenth avenue, sold for $1,675 each; two lots on the north side of Eighty-eighth street, 75 feet west of Lexington avenue, brought $6,900 each; four lots on Eleventh avenue, east side, 49.5 north of Thirty-ninth street, realized $19,800; two lots on east side of Tenth avenue, 49.11 north of One Hundred and Thirty-ninth street, sold for $2,800 each, and two lots on West One Hundred and Thirty-ninth street brought $1,025 each. Improved property on Elizabeth, Sullivan, Fifteenth, Twenty-third and Sixty-first streets sold for fair prices, the first bringing $300 more than it was knocked down for in October last. On the same day twelve unfinished houses on Madison avenue, between One Hundred and Twenty-ninth and One Hundred and Thirtieth streets, and three adjoining them on the streets, were sold under foreclosure to satisfy encumbrances amounting to about $127,300. The avenue houses sold for from $9,000 to $9,650; the corners for $12,500 and $12,600, and the houses on the streets for $9,000 and $9,600. It is said that it will cost from $2,500 to $3,000 each to finish these houses.

On Wednesday the improved and unimproved property belonging to the Kennelly estate was offered. The improved property brought fair prices, while the lots went low, two on West Sixty-first street, 100 feet west of Eighth avenue, sold for $12,600 each, two in the rear on Sixty-second street brought $11,750 each, four on Sixty-second street, about 81.1 feet east of Boulevard, went for $11,600 each, and four on West One Hundred and Thirty-first street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, sold for $4,325 each. On the same day four lots on the northwest corner of Lexington avenue and Ninety-second street sold for $30,100, which in 1881 changed hands for $25,000. Four lots on Seventy-third street, west of Avenue A, were sold for $1,500 each, while lots (145 feet deep) on Seventy-first street, west of Avenue A, brought $2,175 each, and two Lexington avenue lots near Fifty first street were knocked down for $11,000 each. A number of parcels of improved realty were also sold.

On Thursday fourteen lots on Ninetieth and Ninety-first streets, between Eighth and Ninth avenues, which changed hands in July, 1882, for $91,000, were sold under foreclosure for $69,100. Four lots on the southwest corner of Third avenue and Ninety-eighth street, which were struck down a few weeks ago in one parcel for $32,800, were sold separately, and brought $10,000, $8,250, $8,000 and $8,100 respectively, or a total of $34,350—the amount due thereon on the mortgage foreclosed was about $30,450. The sale of the four lots adjoining, on the corner of Ninety-seventh street, was adjourned to April 15th. Four lots on Ninety-ninth street, west of Tenth avenue, brought $4,400, $3,650, $3,350 and $1,650, the latter two being small lots. The four-story dwelling, No. 26 East Fifty-seventh street, corner of Madison avenue, 28.6x100.5, sold for $104,000, under foreclosure. Five four-story houses on West Fifteenth street brought from $13,000 to $14,000 each. A great many houses in various parts of the city were also sold.

On Friday eight unfinished stone front dwellings on the northeast corner of Madison avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-third street were sold under foreclosure for $70,200, the amount due thereon was $118,425.

The following table shows the number of transactions recorded for the week ending April 10, 1884, and the week from April 6 to 12, inclusive, 1883. It will be seen that the number of transactions is larger this year, while the liabilities assumed are but little more than half what they were last year:

Mr. Richard V. Harnett will be very busy this coming week. On April 14th he will sell the fine house, 131 East Fifty-second street. On April 15 he will sell houses on First avenue, Thirty-fifth, Forty-eighth and Eighty-fourth streets, and leasehold property on East Ninth street. On the 16th he will sell three houses in Brooklyn, two on De Kalb avenue and the other on Ryerson street. On Thursday, the 17th, he will sell the house No. 102 West Twenty-ninth street. This last is particularly valuable. On the same day he will sell No. 344 East Thirty-sixth street, good tenement property, and on Tuesday, April 22, desirable Second avenue and Twenty-ninth street property.

On Tuesday, April 15th, Richard V. Harnett will offer a number of desirable properties, including No. 1536 Park avenue, No. 27 West One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street, No. 151 East One Hundred and Sixteenth street and No. 142 East One Hundred and Twelfth street, also six lots on Third and Washington avenues south of One Hundred and Sixty-ninth street and twelve lots on Washington and Railroad avenues, south of One Hundred and Seventy first street; also No. 60 and No. 66 East One Hundred and Thirty-first street, two three-story and basement dwellings.

Richard V. Harnett will have some valuable sales of both improved and unimproved property on Wednesday, the 16th inst. The improved property is in Sixteenth street and One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street, but there will be peculiar interest in the sale of west side lots on St. Nicholas and New avenues, One Hundred and Eleventh and One Hundred and Twelfth streets. Property is rapidly rising in this section because of contemplated improvements. A syndicate composed of property holders in this region, including John H. Sherwood, Simon Sterne and others, are about to erect buildings on Eighth avenue near One Hundred and Seventeenth street, in which will be an elevator for the use of patrons of the elevated road in that region. The lots to be sold by Mr. Harnett are in the line of immediate improvement in this growing neighborhood.

On Thursday, the 17th inst., the same auctioneer will dispose of the fine property Nos. 733 and 735 Broadway, opposite Astor place. It consists of two lots, 27x100, with four-story and basement granite front buildings, and its central location should secure it the attention of investors. On the same day Mr. Harnett will sell the well constructed building No. 224 Sixth avenue, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, in one of the most desirable sections of the city.

Capitalists with means who wish to invest their money very profitably should not overlook the great sale of E. H. Ludlow & Co., on April 23, when the estate of the bankrupt firm, F. Mayer & Co., will be sold under the hammer without reserve. This will be the first time a large apartment house will be submitted to the test of a public auction. There will be sold the eight-story apartment house corner of Broadway and Fifty-second street, known as "The Strathmore," also "The Adelphi," at the corner of Seventh avenue and Fifty-second street. "The Newport," on Fifty-second street, will also be disposed of. If the law forbidding the erection of high apartment houses is passed by the Legislature, those now in existence will become very valuable properties, as they will practically be monopolies, and there are a good many families who prefer to live in the "upper air." The Mayer estate also includes the fine house No. 13 West Fifty-sixth street, the stone front house No. 162 East Sixty-fourth street, and the brick houses corner Third avenue and Ninetieth street.

On Tuesday, the 15th instant, John F. B. Smyth will sell the very desirable property, Nos. 425 and 427 Seventh avenue, between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth streets. This is a neighborhood which cannot but advance in value.

John F. B. Smyth will sell on Tuesday, April 15th, several west side tenements in good order and paying a good return on the amount of their valuation. Two of them are Nos. 619 and 621 West Forty-sixth street, the others being Nos. 279 and 281 West Sixtieth street.

On April 17th Mr. Smyth will sell the estate of the late District Attorney John McKeon. It comprises properties on Lexington avenue, East Ninety-fifth and Ninety-sixth streets and One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues. Mr. McKeon was an old New Yorker and made no mistakes in his investments.

Scott & Myers will offer some very tempting parcels of property during the coming week. On Tuesday, April 15, they will sell some very desirable residence property on Pleasant avenue, being Nos. 331, 425, 427 and 429. These houses are all rented and in the vicinity of the "L" road station. The same firm will sell on Wednesday, April 16, the fine four-story brown stone dwelling, No. 158 East Sixty-first street. On Thursday, the 17th, they will sell the Odell farm, 200 acres in extent, with the dwelling houses and other buildings thereupon. This farm is in Yonkers, on the Saw Mill River road, and can be reached in forty-five minutes from Rector street, via the "L" and the New York City & Northern Roads. Whoever purchases property like this will lay the foundation for an enduring fortune.

James L. Wells will sell on Monday, April 21st, under foreclosure, the eleven splendid new dwellings on East Eighty-first street, between Fifth and Madison avenues. There ought to be a change for bargains as the properties are first-class and must be sold. The houses are superbly finished, and their nearness to the Central Park and the Fifth avenue makes them very desirable.

Louis Mesier will sell on Tuesday, April 22d, by order of the executor's of the estate of the late A. C. Kingsland, 992 lots in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Wards of Brooklyn. On level ground ready for immediate improvement, in a growing locality, this sale will present opportunities both for investment and the establishment of homes. Sixty per cent. of the purchase price may remain on bond and mortgage.

D. M. Seaman will sell, on Tuesday, April 15th, No. 623 Hudson, corner of Jane street, and on Wednesday the business premises Nos. 17 and 19 Ferry street.

One evidence of the scarcity of desirable business property in this market is seen in the fact that the brokers find it necessary to advertise for it. With all the means at the disposal of a large office for obtaining what is wanted, it is significant that Ferdinand Fish, of 149 Broadway, has to continually advertise for property that formerly could be found in every street.

Geo. W. Hamilton offers for sale several first-class private houses on Seventy-first street, west of Ninth avenue, just completed. Investors and capitalists at present in the market would do well to take a look at these handsome west side dwellings. They are elegantly constructed and can be purchased at much lower figures than east side houses of a similar character, mainly owing to the ground on the west side being cheaper, and because the houses were built by the owner himself. Mr. Hamilton can be seen on the spot daily.

Building in Brooklyn.

That building is very active in Brooklyn is shown by the following table, and that it is increasing is proved by the large number of houses contracted for during the past three months as compared with the corresponding three months of 1883. Investors in Brooklyn are now spending over one million dollars a month in new buildings. If the elevated road is to be finished by January 1st next, as promised, there will be great activity in Brooklyn real estate from this time forth. Here is the table:

Out Among the Builders.

The new office building to be erected for the Astor estate will be seven stories and basement in height. It will be in a "T" shape and have a frontage of 36.6 feet on Broadway, Nos. 94 to 98, between Pine and Wall streets, and also have frontages on Wall and Pine. The fronts will be of Philadelphia brick and Belleville stone trimmings, and the building is to be fire-proof throughout. It will contain two elevators, and ample light and ventilation will be provided in all parts of the building. The Broadway front only will be completed this year, the Wall and Pine street fronts being added next spring. The estimated cost of this improvement is $300,000. The architect, William Schickel, is drawing the plans.

In our issue of February 16 last we reported that the Mortimer estate intended to build an eight-story fire-proof structure on the southeast corner of Wall and New streets, adjoining the Stock Exchange. The information was given verbally to a reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE by Mr. W. Y. Mortimer, who showed him a preliminary sketch by Mr. Geo. B. Post of the plan for the new building. There have been rumors current in the press that the Stock Exchange intended to purchase the site to extend their present building. Our reporter again called on Mr. Mortimer, who stated that he had not been approached in any way by the Stock Exchange, nor was he in communication with them upon the matter. He reiterated his previous statement that the estate intended to build the structure named, and, as far as he knew, the statements in the daily papers were entirely imaginary. It may be added, however, that the Stock Exchange has been considering the purchase of the other corner, that on the southwest side of Wall and Broad streets, and we can state positively that sketches have been submitted to the committee of the Exchange by several down-town architects, with a view of determining what improvements could be made to the Exchange in the event of that property being acquired. Nothing definite has been decided upon, and it is doubtful whether anything will be done at all in the matter. The question was discussed by the committee on Thursday.

The North Central Park Improvement Company will commence the erection of the elevator building on One Hundred and Sixteenth street and Eighth avenue at an early date. It has not yet been decided upon at which corner it will be built, nor have any designs yet been drawn or selected. The company will only erect the one building at the commencement, in which they expect to have offices, to be occupied by architects, builders and others, the elevator being used to convey passengers up and down, so as to avoid the inconvenience and discomfort arising from so high an ascent and descent, which at this station is 60 feet. This has been the principal drawback to property in that location hitherto, and the promoters, who are large property holders in the neighborhood, hope by that means to make it attractive, and eventually have it covered with buildings.

Jacob Schlosser is about to build three five-story brick and brown stone improved tenements, 26x85 each, on the south side of Thirty-second street, 161.2 feet east of Fourth avenue, at a cost of $60,000. Architect, Jobst Hoffmann.

Special Notices.

Enameled brick is being very largely used in the construction of all classes of buildings, and especially those of large dimensions. They possess the advantage of making a building impervious to dampness and atmospheric action, and are especially valuable for bank vaults, basements, vestibules, elevator shafts, water closets and interior and exterior trimmings. This class of brick is largely manufactured by the United States Brick and Enameling Company at Croton Point, N. Y., where they are turned out in all colors—white, blue, green, canary, drab, slate and so forth. Some of these colors are very pretty and give a pleasing appearance to a building. Local architects and builders wishing to obtain a supply can communicate with the above company at their New York offices, No. 71 Broadway, Room 97.

Iron fronts, girders, columns, railings and so forth are manufactured at the works of C. Vreeland, at No. 1356 Broadway, between Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh streets. Mr. Vreeland is also a constructor of all kinds of iron work, and is one of the oldest established in the business. Communications addressed to him as above will receive prompt attention.

Builders, painters and others requiring ladders can obtain them at the ladder yard of Ernset Metz, who makes a specialty of this business. Flag staffs, clothes poles, painters' uprights and scaffolding for churches and halls are also supplied by him. Mr. Metz has removed to No. 335 East Twenty-seventh street, between First and Second avenues.

Thousands of people are moving at this season who might save a good deal by having their carpets cleaned and renovated at the steam carpet cleaning works of Messrs. Every & Freeman, Nos. 226 and 232 East Forty-second street, who have the most improved machinery. Readers are referred to their advertisement elsewhere.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—There is really not much "point" to the market for Common Hards beyond the general features previously suggested. The tendency toward an increased consumption is very natural at this season of the year, and every day that will permit the pushing forward of outdoor work finds a pretty full amount of stock going into buildings. The erratic condition of the weather, however, has proven detrimental to a good steady week or ten days continuous business, and the one day active and the next day slow sort of trade keeps matters in more or less unsettled and perplexing condition. Impressions gained through the expression of views among sellers does not lead to the belief that any important addition to values is expected at the moment, but what is desired is some sort of regularity and character to the demand in order to permit of fair calculation upon the near future. If all projected building operations are carried out the consumption of brick this season will be large, owing to the solid description of the structures planned, but as before noted there is stock enough to start with, and although many Hudson River makers report an intention to move slowly in the presumption of work, the new production will not generally be backward so far as human influences may have any control over the matter. A larger number of Up River cargoes have come upon the market during the week and met with very fair attention with fair to good lots selling at $6.00@6 50, with some extras held at a fraction higher Other goods remain at about the same figures named last week and generally at the close the feeling appears to be somewhat firmer on all grades, the city call taking best lots, and Brooklyn offering an outlet for other grades, the greater variety of building in the latter city making a more general market. Pales are also in very good demand and firmer for good stock with $3.75@4.00 generally quoted and a shade more asked for fine.

HARDWARE.—Demand in a general way has not been active, but there is some increase in the volume of business with fair prospect of further gain. Out-of-town orders have required a fair average assortment of both heavy and shelf hardware, and on local account there was an encouraging proportion of the various descriptions suited to builders' use. Some irregularities on value have occasionally developed, but all additions to the volume of business act more or less as a support to a more uniform tone. Numerous lists have of late been published, but only a limited proportion were of interest to our readers. The American Screw Company has made some changes as follows: On Rivets and Burrs there is an advance from 45 per cent. discount to 40 per cent. discount. On Round-head Wood Screws there is a slight reduction, placing figures at 67½ per cent., against 65 per cent. discount as before, on iron, bright and blued. Stove Bolts and Sink Bolts, 57½ per cent., against 60 per cent. discount as before.

LATH.—The market on the whole has been somewhat easier since our last. A fair demand prevailed and some buyers were anxious enough to engage stock to arrive and paid about old rates, but this was only on first-class quality. Anything at all faulty has been discriminated against and receivers found it necessary to mark down somewhat in order to secure customers. During the past few days sales were made at $..25 per M, but $2.20 now appears to be all that can be depended upon, and from the latter figure down to $2 rates run according to quality of stock offering.

LIME.—Supplies not very full, but still ample for the somewhat slow demand, and rates do not improve. The present quotations are 95 for common and $1.10 for finishing Rockland, with receivers steady on that basis.

LUMBER.—There is some increase in the volume of distribution, but nothing beyond the natural order of things for this season of the year and hardly up to the calculations of some of the more sanguine operators. Buyers, in fact, appear to have caught the cautious form of operating so noticeable on all other commodities, and while there is no reason to believe that anyone who really wants lumber hesitates about purchasing, there is certainly a decided refusal to anticipate the future in the handling of pretty much all grades. Stocks continue to hold out very well in quantity, with a much better assortment than might be expected, and with additions already made or coming within reach there appears no great danger of difficulty in the way of making any ordinary selection. Dealers, however, generally appear to have retained the advantage necessary to prevent any serious break on the line of values, though on supplies, from both yard and first hands, it is occasionally found necessary to shade a small fraction to insure a customer against competitors. At about all sources of supply signs of more or less irregularity are to be noted, but buyers appear to construe the evidences as favorable to their interests and are in no hurry to invest. Most accounts agree that the log harvest has been a full one, but the run to the mills has yet to be made before the available crop can be decided upon.

Eastern Spruce has on the whole a fair demand. Buyers are not anxious for stock and are quick to detect the least showing of advantage in their favor, which they of course force to its full extent, yet they generally manage to find a place for about all that comes to hand of any respectable dimensions and in many cases are tendering fair numbers of specials. On the latter the bids are about as before and reasonably prompt but do not range higher and this tends to retard negotiations somewhat as manufacturers incline to continue the firm tone referred to last week. There is also more or less talk about delayed run of logs, a late starting up of many mills and better markets to be found outside of this port. All of this is of course seasonable and on time but does not have a stimulating effect thus far this year. Indeed if anything the tone is easier and $13.00@15.50 is about all that can be quoted for the general run of stock, though extra sizes and specials might range higher.

White Pine meets with fair home orders on what may be considered a regular trade but is lacking in animation and the stock holders have to offer seems to satisfy the wants of buyers in attendance quite readily. Shipping assortments are not altogether first-class but no export orders have been compelled to wait for supplies notwithstanding some pretty full amounts wanted. In a general way in fact there is no positive strength to the situation and to place any considerable quantity of stock, especially for future delivery, would require the naming of much easier terms We quote $17.50@19.00 for West India shiping boards; $28@30 for South American do.; $14@16 for box boards, and $16 50@18.00 for extra do.

Yellow Pine is still without any regular or fixed market. Dealers in some cases imagine they discover signs of coming improvement, but repeated disappointments in the past induces them to accept supposed favorable omens with great care. At the best, too, about all they can hope for at first will be some increase in the number of orders, as manufacturers exhibit too much desire for keen, close competition to expect any improvement in value. Several projected building operators will, it is expected, require both heavy stuff and flooring, and it is upon these that calculations are based. A little very attractive stock might be taken by the yard, but there is not much chance for random. We quote as follows: Randoms, $18 @21.50 per M; Specials, $21@22 do.; Green Flooring Boards, $22@23; Dry do., do., $23@24; Siding $22@23 do.; Cargoes f. o. b. at Atlantic ports, $14@14 50 for rough, and $19@22 for dressed. Cargoes f. o. b. at Gulf ports, $13@14 for rough, and $18@20 for dressed.

Hardwoods are doing fairly on all choice grades, and the general assortment of useful stock now in first hands is comparatively small. The call is on both local and shipping orders. We quote at wholesale rates by car-load about as follows: Walnut, $65@110 per M; ash, $35@40 do.; oak, $30@55 do.; maple, $20 @32.50 do.; chestnut, $25@30 do.; cherry, $40@75 do.; whitewood, $27@55 do., do.; elm, $22@25; hickory, $45@52.50 do.

Shingles are firm on export grades and steady for best home qualities, but not very active at the moment. We quote Cypress at $8.0 @8 50 per M. for 5x20 and $11@12 do. for 6x20 regularly assorted shipping. Pine shipping stock $2.00@2.50 for 18 inch, and Eastern saw grades at $2 00@2.50 for 16 inch, as to quality and to quantity. Eastern shaved cedar $4.00 @4 50 per M. Machine dressed cedar shingles quoted as follows: for 30 inch, $15.00@20 00 for A, and $2 @ 28.50 for No. 1; for 24 inch, $13.00@15 for A and $18.50@20.50 for No. 1; for 20 inch, $8@9.50 for A and $11.00@12.50 for No. 1.

According to the monthly report of the Export Lumber Company the exports from the port of New York of White Pine from January 1st to April 1st for the years named were as follows:

	Feet.		Feet.
1884	19 991,000	1880	13,550,000

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

STATE.

ALBANY MARKET.

The Argus reports for week ending April 9, as follows:

The stormy weather of the week has considerably interfered with shipments, but every hour of fair weather has been used in loading the vessels which lined the wharves. If the demand is continuous, as it promises to be, some kinds will be out of market before receipts by canal, the navigation of which is not promised until May 1st. The lakes are open, and at Buffalo, Tonawanda and Oswego, the lumber is being piled, awaiting transportation by canals to Albany. Rail receipts of spruce, hemlock and hardwoods seems to keep up a limited supply. The freshets in Michigan and Canada have brought the logs in reach of the mills which are now in active operation. Prices are steady, with a fair demand and a good attendence of buyers.

THE WEST.

LUMBERMAN AND MANUFACTURER, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

The notes of preparation for commencing the sawing season are heard on all sides giving an indication of a long run. Whether any steps can yet be taken to stop short of the largest cut ever made remains to be seen. This uncertainty makes many holders nervous and weak. The bad weather and almost impassable roads ought in reason to have nearly suspended the lumber trade all over the West, but many houses report to us that orders are coming in quite freely and of more respectable size than have ruled during the last two months In our cities building operations are resumed and promise to be more extensive than ever. A visit to Chicago this week enabled us to glean that the cutting and slashing was confined principally to the lower grades and "off color" lots, while standard uppers are in good demand at full rates.

The Mississippi points are meeting any and all ascertained figures out of Chicago and are hence holding a share of the trade notwithstanding the railroads favor Chicago with unduly low freight rates. The southwestern trade from Wisconsin has not been picking up much owing to Chicago interference and the fact that our railroads are not willing to go into the fight.

The prospects for an early short driving season grow less and less every day. The snow has about disappeared and run away before the ground thawed or the ice went out of the lakes, and the streams are now all falling. Crews are not being sent out to commence except on a few of the big rivers. No log sales are reported hence no quotations can be given.

We see no reason why the lumbermen should not be satisfied with the outlook and present ruling prices, although they are not high there is an increasing demand, both local and for shipment. The fact that Chicago is looking more and more to Wisconsin and Minnesota for lumber means of course that either Michigan has not a full stock of lumber to fill orders with, or that they do not wish to sell at prices Chicago will pay. There is still a large demand for uppers and no supply to fill orders with.

FOREIGN.

The Timber Trade's Journal as follows:

LONDON.

There is still a continuation of the increase in the dock deliveries to record as compared with what was doing this time last year. Each succeeding week we see the same signs of activity in the consumption that the additional figures of 1884 from time to time indicate, and which all seem to point to an improving market. 707 standards of deals and 183 of flooring more than left the docks during a corresponding period last year is something important to chronicle when people are trying to persuade themselves that nothing is doing. This active state of the dock deliveries is attributed by some to the large country trade the London dealers are now doing, owing to the cheap prices at which they can secure stuff at the public sales enabling them to undersell the local merchants in those neighborhoods their travellers visit. There is probably a good deal in this, but we expect the provincial merchants would not be slow to avail themselves of the same channel of supply when they found it impossible to compete with their goods imported in the usual way. We know that a fair share of the bargains going recently have been appropriated by the small importers on the coast, but there is the likelihood of the present low public sale values of Swedish goods coming to an end, when the stocks in first hand become exhausted, an event that cannot be much longer deferred.

Cedar.—It is a long time since we have had to record the fact buyers of Cuba cedar could not supply their wants in the docks, but the fact remains that at the present moment there is not a log to be found there.

American Black Walnut.—For small and faulty wood there is very little inquiry, but we hear a better report concerning wood of larger sizes.

American Whitewood.—The sale of log stock is dull, but good sized, well squared, of such sound thick planks are wanted, they being very light.

Italian Walnut wood planks from Genoa are selling, and a fair trade appears to be doing in wood from Venice.

Rosewood is now selling moderately well, and since we see it is undoubtedly coming into favor for a certain class of cabinet work, we quite expect before long to have to record a decided improvement in prices.

Lignum-vitæ—We notice a considerable movement at the docks, large quantities being delivered into lighters, possibly for exportation (but of this we are in doubt).

LIVERPOOL.

The general tone of the market shows no improvement in prices, the late sales of spruce deals having been at low rates, but this is owing to the freight market being so greatly depressed and the wretched condition of the steam trade, which has driven steamships into the timber trade. This, of course, has a tendency to tempt shippers to forward goods upon the market so long as prices show a fair "free-on-board" return, and thus prevents the wintered stocks from going into consumption.

We shall, therefore, have a stock of spruce deals to carry over into the next import season, unless there should be a cessation of further shipments from the deal ports.

NAILS.—The trade wants are quite as full as for some time past and the country demand appears to be on the increase, making an outlet for stock quite in keeping with the expectations of holders who have carefully studied the prospects. A portion of the trade, however, grumble slightly and appear to think the distribution should be larger and more general in character. Supplies hold out well and former rates are quite generally accepted. We quote on basis of $2.60 per keg for 10d. to 60d., but allowances are made for large invoices.

A meeting of the leading Western nail manufacturers has been held at Pittsburg this week for the purpose of perfecting a combination to regulate and control the production of the Western circuit of mills, but it is understood that no attempt was made to change the price list.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—The general movement is keeping well up to the former aggregate, with a tendency to increase, if anything, and dealers appear to be very well satisfied with the conditions of trade. There is no unusual movement, and all kinds of regular and staple goods are securing some attention, with buyers submitting to former cost gracefully, and the general tone apparently healthy and cheerful. Linseed Oil meeting with steady sale and quoted at 57@58c. for domestic and 58@59c. for foreign. Spirits Turpentine has been moderately active, but, on the whole, shows a slightly firmer tone, closing at 33½@35c. per gallon, according to size of invoice.

PITCH AND TAR.—The demand moderately active and without new or noteworthy features. Supplies fair as compared with the outlet at present offered. We quote pitch $2.25@2.30 per bbl., and tar $2.50@3.00 do., according to quantity, quality and delivery.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

And now Judge Noah Davis wants the constitution amended so that a general law can be passed regulating marriage and divorce. Our State laws on this subject are "confusion worse confounded." A woman is a wife in one State and a mistress in another. Children are legitimate in one section of the country and bastards elsewhere. This creates unnecessary unhappiness in tens of thousands of homes. A general law affecting all the States is greatly needed, but this can never be secured unless, as proposed in THE RECORD AND GUIDE two years ago, a national constitutional convention is held to amend our fundamental law in this as in other important particulars.

The proposition to issue one and two dollar silver certificates is a foolish one. We ought to have gold and silver in actual circulation as is the case in Great Britain, France and Germany. Congress should withdraw the fives and tens of both the greenback and national bank issues. This would leave a vacuum to be filled by silver dollars and gold eagles and half eagles. Were this done, and a hundred and fifty millions of gold and silver be demanded for the retail traffic of the country, there would be far less gold sent abroad. But we want no more small bills. Let us have actual metallic cash.

The Civil Code now before the Legislature is vigorously denounced by Professor Dwight, of Columbia College Law School, because of its interference with the old relations of landlord and tenant. He claims that should the code be enacted landlords will be at a serious disadvantage; that a tenant could make repairs of his own notion and charge it against the owner. There is not much likelihood of the code being accepted. The lawyers fear it would cut down their profits, as well as to force them to study the new relations which will be caused between plaintiffs and defendants.

Why do not the property holders interested form an association to push forward the Harlem River improvement? This matter has been discussed for half a century. The United States has made the necessary appropriation to at least begin the work, and yet selfish interests are allowed to interfere with its inauguration. The people who live in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards are at a serious disadvantage so long as the present state of affairs continues. There are no efficient means of supplying the central zone of the annexed district with building material, while coal and other bulky articles are very costly because of insufficient dockage on the Harlem River front. Personal interests seem to have something to do with the delay of this needed improvement. Every proposition made to Congress involves the name of a would-be contractor who wishes to boss the job. This is a matter of vital interest, not only to the owners of property lying on each side of the Harlem River but to the city at large and the commerce of the country. An association of property holders ought to take this matter in hand and see that the work is prosecuted.

Mr. Abram L. Earle sends us a communication printed elsewhere anent the cable road system. What he says should have weight, as he was one of the Rapid Transit Commissioners who laid out the routes for the cable roads. There is no doubt but that the cable would be an improvement upon horse power. Better time can be made with it and the riding is pleasanter. The backers of this system of street roads seem to have abundance of enterprise and money but some of their methods show lack of judgment. The meetings held under their auspices at Cooper Institute were ridiculous affairs. Singing and harp playing is not the way to commend a grave money-making project to the business men of a commercial metropolis. Then the employment of so absurd a person as Frank Spinola to represent them at Albany was a serious blunder. But with all that the cable scheme, for completeness and the accommodation of the public is far preferable to the monopoly which the horse car-companies are trying to get by the aid of the Legislature and the city press. We are also of the opinion that any system which may be endorsed by the authorities should agree to pay a percentage of the gross receipts into the city treasury. Had our rulers wisdom in the past, the ferry, gas, horse-car and elevated companies would to-day be paying into the city treasury a sum equivalent to one-third of our assessed taxes.

The builders are not satisfied with the shape in which the new building law is now before the Legislature; what they demand is the right of appeal from the decision of the Superintendent of Buildings to the Board of Examiners. In the draft of the bill before the Legislature such an appeal is permitted if the builder can induce the Superintendent to permit its being made. Now the present Superintendent may be always right, but then he may have a successor who would be often wrong, and the builders do not think they should be absolutely at the mercy of even the most conscientious public officer. A memorial has been prepared by the Real Estate Owners' and Builders' Association setting forth the facts in the case and proposing suitable amendments to the law. Builders can get copies of this document by applying to John Graham, secretary, No. 305 East Forty-third street. The intention is to have as many names of leading builders and architects as can be procured so as to impress the Legislature and insure the passage of the proposed amendment.

Editor Murat Halstead, an old-time advocate of "the dollar of our daddies," is now anxious that the coinage of silver dollars should stop. He wants to bring Great Britain, Germany, Italy and the other gold unit nations to their senses by withdrawing the support now given by the United States to the price of silver bullion by the coinage of two million dollars a month of standard dollars. Should this be done there would, of course, be a still greater fall in the price of silver bullion, and the dollars in existence, which now represent between eighty-five and eighty-six as compared with gold, would probably fall to seventy-five or seventy. The real phenomenon would, of course, be an enhancement in the value of gold and a great enrichment of the capitalist, bond-holding and fixed income classes. But it would be a terrible blow to the business world, and impose frightful burdens on the debtor class. The trade of the world is stagnant and depressed because of the attempt of the commercial nations to make the one precious metal do the work of both. Stopping our silver coinage would undoubtedly precipitate a crisis in all the money markets of the world. The commerce of mankind requires all the gold and all the silver, as well as all the paper that can be used convertible into gold and silver, to carry it on successfully. Any legislation which contracts the currency of the world is sure to be followed by a period of poignant distress.

A Queer Decision.

Judge Van Brunt's decision in the Manhattan-Metropolitan dispute is, to say the least, peculiar. He whitewashes Jay Gould and his associates. These gentlemen were not guilty of any wrong. It was desirable that the elevated road system should be consolidated, and the Metropolitan Company had nothing to complain of in the preference given to the east side elevated, or to the six per cent. allotted by the October agreement. Still, according to Judge Van Brunt, the lease at the reduced rental was invalid, because the matter had not been submitted to the stockholders for ratification. This is in direct conflict with Judge Blatchford's decision, which says directors have the right to do what Judge Van Brunt declares to be beyond their powers.

This, like nearly all recent decisions, is made in the interest of courts, lawyers and speculators, and is a grievous tax levied upon corporate property to benefit alien interest. Three clear-headed business men could have settled every point in dispute in the elevated road litigation in three days' time, at a cost that should not exceed two hundred dollars. It will be probably five years from its commencement before our courts will get through with this matter while in the meantime lawyers will run up their bills into the millions. These and similar proceedings are a mockery of justice. Our courts, with their costs and delays, are fast becoming the giant nuisance of the age.

There is one thing that looks queer. When Judge Van Brunt had written that portion of his opinion which justified Jay Gould and his associates in making the lease, Manhattan stock went up sixteen points, and when he finally decided against the validity of the lease the stock fell to its old figure, two weeks before his verdict was made public. Some one seemed to know all about the opinion while it was being written, and when it was finally given to the public there was scarcely any change in the quotation, so accurately had some one in Wall street guessed at the result beforehand. No one of course suspects Judge Van Brunt of any wrong-doing, but thousands of shares were bought and sold by operators who seemed to know what his decision would be. The most indefensible portion of this opinion is its rehabilitation of the characters of the engineers of this Manhattan deal. It is known to every sensible person in business circles that Gould, Field, Sage and Company used all speculative and court machinery to freeze out the Manhattan stockholders so that the conspirators could get possession of it at low figures; that, having secured the majority of the stock, they made a bargain among themselves which would give a value to Manhattan at the expense of the leased roads. The east side elevated stockholders were really treated worse than the shareholders of the Metropolitan, for the bulk of the profits of the elevated system comes from that road.

Our Prophetic Department.

MR. BOVINE—Is not the active movement in real estate a forerunner of a better state of things in the general trade of the country? As all wealth is derived from land and labor, surely the most solid foundation for prosperity would be a wholesome demand for real property. I for one look for a better condition of affairs before the summer is over.

SIR ORACLE—It is all very well to be hopeful, but I confess to being afflicted with the blue devils just now. The business outlook is not cheering. The buying of real estate simply shows that money is cheap because unused in business, and as people are looking for a return they invest in property which promises to remain productive. If land could be used as an asset for borrowing money from the banks the absorption of the loose capital in real estate would do no harm, but under our absurd land laws realty is at a disadvantage compared with personal property. The money put into it is unavailable for other enterprises.

MR. B.—But why are you discouraged at the outlook? So far we have had a most favorable year for giving us good crops next summer and fall. You are on record as predicting the greatest corn crop by 500,000,000 bushels ever grown in the United States. Winter wheat never looked so promising. The season has been favorable also for all our agricultural products. What then is there to be blue about?

SIR O.—The fact that there is no market for our agricultural products with other nations and that we shall be forced to send gold abroad in such quantities as to seriously imperil our whole financial structure. There seems to be no chance of our shipping wheat. Cotton is dearer in New York than in Liverpool. We can send but little pork abroad, and so with other articles. Europe will not take our securities and hence exchange is not only against us but there is little or no prospect of avoiding constant and large shipments of gold to meet our indebtedness. Now we can stand the loss of twenty, thirty, or even fifty millions, but double that sum shipped to England and France might create distrust. A sudden demand for gold by the holders of greenbacks might lead to a suspension of gold payments. As Senator Sherman pointed out in the Tribune recently this would cause a violent contraction of the currency and there would be a panic in prices.

MR. B.—Your fears are imaginary. We have $600,000,000 in gold in the country, more than double the amount we had on hand when specie payments were resumed. Then our silver currency would be a help if the pressure should come. With plenty of food and cheap cotton, I do not see how we can either starve or go naked.

SIR O.—Yet it is a curious fact that hard times have come in face of abundant crops. It is true the partial failure of the corn crop in 1881 was disastrous, but the better crop of 1882, and the splendid yield of wheat in the same year not only failed to bring about better times but it is believed really forwarded the liquidation which has been going on for the past three years. The world is full of cheap food, cheap cotton and cotton goods, and cheap woollens and yet there is stagnation in all the centres of trade. The bourses of Europe repeat the experiences of our Stock Exchange in the way of dullness and declining prices.

MR. B.—And this is due to what?

SIR O.—To the experiment now being tried by the commercial world to make gold the sole unit of value. The legislation of the various nations, as well as the action of the commercial bodies against silver is a virtual contraction of the monies of the world. It is a terrific tax laid by the creditor upon the debtor class. The very rich are few, while the great bulk of the business community, all manufacturers, employers and projectors of new enterprises belong to the borrowing class. It is these last that have suffered and will continue to suffer. The real phenomenon is the enhancement of the value of gold, and as all past due debts must be paid in a currency of which gold is the yardstick, it follows that the active mass of mankind are being "scooped," to use an expressive vulgarism, for the benefit of the lending corporations and individuals; hence the strength of the gold unit movement with bankers, capitalists and the wealthy portion of the community. But I am amazed that brokers and business exchanges should sanction mono-metallism, which is creating the most poignant distress in commercial and business circles all over the globe. Commerce now has to hop about on one—a gold—leg, when formerly it walked upon two—that is, gold and silver. There is no fact more clearly demonstrated by history than that an abundance of the precious metals assured prosperity to the trade of the world, while the disappearance of gold and silver was always followed by dullness and subsequent heavy losses in general business. It was the American production of silver which vivified the commerce of the world after the Spanish conquest of Central and South America. It was the gold of California and Australia and the production of the Comstock lode which is to be credited with the vast industrial development in the history of the last thirty years. If we now artificially reduce our precious money basis the business of the world will suffer; nay, is even now suffering.

MR. B.—You see no gleams of comfort then in the horizon of the future?

SIR O.—Oh, we shall not go to the bad right away. There will be reactions. We will have occasionally bull markets. The population and potential wealth of the country is steadily increasing. Then if we have cheap food we will somehow manage to live in any contingency. But I foresee disaster if we send our gold abroad and can find no foreign market for our cereals and cotton. I think there will be a rally in the stock market some time during May or June on the promise of the crops. I don't know but I would rather buy than sell on the present market, but the prospect ahead, to me, is not generally encouraging.

What the Elevator Has Done.

The marvellous advance in the construction of business and residence dwellings in New York and other large capitals of the world is clearly due to the use of the elevator. The substitution of steam for human strength in lifting people from the ground to the upper floors of structures has radically changed not only the appearance of the streets, but our methods of living and doing business. Fifteen years ago these great business and apartment edifices were unknown. The possibilities of the elevator were only then beginning to be understood. But what a change has occurred in our leading business streets. Without the elevator we would have been deprived of every striking structure in New York. There would have been no Equitable, Mutual Life, Mills, Western Union, Temple Court, Morse, Field, Boreel or Tribune buildings, and then there are literally hundreds of apartment houses which would not have been erected had it not been for this very simple means of "getting up stairs."

Of course high buildings have their disadvantages. They imperil human life if not incombustible. They exclude light and air from neighboring houses, and then they are manifestly out of place on narrow streets. But notwithstanding these drawbacks, the building of these great establishments will be continued. The average builder and householder is opposed to them, and cordially seconds the bill now before the Legislature to put a stop to their construction. They are, however, so comfortable, convenient and profitable that no law can stand, even if enacted, limiting their height. New York is destined to become a city of monster buildings, and no legislation will avail against the inevitable.

The public, however, has a right to demand that these high structures shall be fire-proof, and that there shall be ground or courts about them, so that they cannot interfere with neighboring property. The rule should be at least 40 per cent. of vacant space wherever a high building is erected. The limit now demanded by law is too small. Life and property should be protected, but beyond that there should be no interference with capitalists who wish to invest in this latest outcome of business and domestic architecture.

In the general street railway law passed by the Assembly, provision is made by which companies organized under the act shall pay into the city treasury a certain percentage of their gross receipts. THE RECORD AND GUIDE has been the only paper to urge this form of taxation. It will be far more productive to the city treasury than the selling of franchises at auction. This will be a hint to the authorities of how to deal with the Maanhattan Elevated Company's disputed taxes. An assessment upon the gross yearly receipts suggest a compromise that would prove beneficial to the city treasury and not onerous to the corporation.

And now the papers are objecting to an appropriation by Congress for the erection of suitable custom houses and postoffices in various parts of the country. The old cry of "job" and "log rolling" is raised, but the fact remains that the United States is rapidly growing in population and it needs new postoffices and public buildings. As we have a large yearly surplus, to what better use can it be put than in providing work for builders and laborers, who would be employed for the benefit of the public? Some eight millions we believe is called for, which is a bagatelle compared with our vast resources. Then should Congress authorize the construction of more naval vessels, it would help the iron market, keep mechanics employed, and supply us with what we sorely need, the nucleus of a navy worthy of the United States.

The Astor Estate.

Dealers and others interested in New York city realty have noticed with satisfaction the fact that the Astor family have been for some time in the market purchasing desirable unimproved property. Their more recent purchases have been on the west side, though from their former investments on the north shore of the Harlem it is evident that the managers of the estate believe that the greatest advance will be in that property which is a continuation of Fifth and Madison avenues. As the Astors improve the vacant property they purchase, it is considered a good omen that they are becoming interested on the west side.

It is an open secret that a portion of the surplus of this estate has been of late years diverted from realty and put into Wall street securities. The Astors are known to be large owners of Delaware & Hudson and other coal stocks. One of the Astors is a director in the Western Union Telegraph Company, and there is reason to believe that members of the family and their connections have invested in the Southwestern securities of Mr. Gould, including Missouri, Kansas and Texas. They also subscribed for West Shore bonds, which they subsequently sold at a heavy loss. Of course, in their transactions the Astors have had the experience of every one who has bought in Wall street for the last three years, and their recent rather large purchases of real estate would seem to indicate that the members of this family are returning to first principles, and are disposed to increase their fortune by resuming the policy which laid its foundations.

The Astor estate has taken another new departure. It is about to build a great office building, with fronts on Broadway, Wall and Pine streets. Representatives of all the old real estate interests are very conservative, and rarely take up novelties in the way of building. The great apartment and office buildings are generally owned by new people in real estate. The Astors, Rhinelanders, Goelets, Gilseys, Roosevelts and Lennoxes have so far avoided the responsibility of these new and immense structures. Experiments in this class of buildings were made by the insurance companies, the Navarros, Munros, Osbornes and Millses, that is, by the people who have made their money in other enterprises than real estate investments. The building of a great office structure by the Astors is therefore significant. That family and its advisers are evidently satisfied that such ventures are legitimate, as much so as the modest dwelling houses and stores to which they have heretofore confined themselves. Perhaps the next enterprise of the Astors will be an apartment house. There is no doubt at all but what in a right kind of a structure money is as safe as it would be in an ordinary house, while it would be much more productive.

We have already commented on the fact that the active operators at the salesrooms are accumulating real estate, expecting to resell at advanced figures. Cautious buyers like Amos R. Eno have for a long time been picking up west side property, and, now that the Astors are buying, the average investor need not be afraid to put his money into real estate where it will do the most good.

The following table shows the purchases of the Astor estate in this city for four years past. In the meantime, of course, the Astors have sold as well as bought. Their purchases from January 1, 1880, to date were as follows:

Over the Ticker.

RUSSELL SAGE is a sufferer by the heavy decline in Missouri Pacific and Western Union. He paid $4,000 to cancel one privilege on the former stock.

DR. GREEN, General Eckert, the general superintendent, the auditor and secretary of the Western Union Company are all long of the stock at figures high in the seventies. They all say that the receipts and actual profits of the company were never larger.

BUT then it is said that Augustus Schell, who was one of the executive committee, died without any of the stock in his possession.

WELL, we gave a warning last week about Pacific Mail. It is a very treacherous stock to deal in. It will see lower as well as higher figures than those now current.

SO long as gold is leaving the country at the present rate there is no hope for the stock market. Buyers will get bargains by-and-by.

Concerning Men and Things.

Mr. A. R. Cazauran is a noted manipulator of foreign plays. He is credited with some very good work in rearranging, modifying and adapting French and English dramas to suit the taste of an American audience. Twice has Mr. Cazauran attempted to write original plays of his own, but in each case failed. The "Fatal Letter," produced at the Union Square last week, has a good plot and contains many striking episodes, but somehow it did not hang together. It was weak in its machinery, and gave a sense of incongruity and incompleteness to the spectator. It was defective in points where one would suppose an adapter's play would be strongest. Then there were too many characters, and enough was not made of a Kentucky fire-eater, who was humorous and original, but was not brought in till the last act.

The success of Lawrence Barrett in London is gratifying to American play-goers. Unlike Mr. Booth that artist has done something for American dramatic literature. He has brought out more new plays by native authors than any of our first-class tragedians since the time of Edwin Forrest. Mr. Barrett is a cultivated gentleman, and can write as well as act. Americans are beginning to take possession of the English stage. Our larger population and the ability of more of them to patronize places of amusement, has developed a great amount of theatrical talent, the surplusage of which naturally finds its way to London. From this time forth, for every one eminent dramatic artist which England sends to this country there will be at leat three Americans, equally eminent, to take his or her place.

A correspondent of the Evening Post thinks that trees ought to be planted on the sidewalks of Fifth avenue as well as other broad streets in the residence portion of the city. He says very truly that New York in summer is practically in the tropics and that our stone sidewalks would be the better if shaded by foliage. This is clearly a good suggestion. In the course of time there will be shade enough on the Boulevard and Riverside Drive, but the city ought also to have trees on all the broader avenues north of Fifty-ninth street.

Home Decorative Notes.

—With their naturally refined taste, and their fondness for all that pertains to the home, women should take an especial interest in decoration. Home adornment is too important a subject to be dealt with lightly, as the home is the vital centre, at least of American life, so all that is therein should contribute not alone to the comfort of the dwellers, but to the elevation and satisfaction of those who come under its influence.

—Fringes play an important part in the ornamentation of table-cloths and napkins.

—Owls, horses, cats, tigers and weasels are made to do duty as elegant dinner guests, witty and apropos quotations from Shakespeare are also found on the dinner cards.

—Pretty floral devices carried by the bridesmaids at a recent wedding were tambourines formed of roses, with a centre of white carnations on which in pale pink carnations were intertwined the monograms of the bride and groom, with a lover's knot above and below, they were suspended from the arm by broad satin ribbon with bows.

—A very curious but elegant library set including chairs, sofa, table and foot rest is made from the hide, horns and fetlocks of Hungarian steers, the hide with its silver gray and black hair forms a very ornamental upholstering, while the polished horns form arms and legs, and the silken locks are used for fringes. A beautiful set of the above description may be seen at Herts Bros., 816 Broadway.

—Saxon silk is the latest material for manchoir and glove cases.

—One of the latest freaks of fashion for summer cottages are the square and oblong rugs of very finely woven Chinese matting.

—The English violet, which has been so popular for many years, is now to be supplanted by the genuine wild violet; the lovely ball shape and beautiful pure color is certainly very pleasing.

—A blazing fireplace is the best of good company, and exquisitely beautiful are the accompanying decorations: in blue nickel is shown a fireplace set with iron tiles of floral design, panels of metal and a fender of open work, two stately griffins serving as andirons.

—In these days of innumerable styles of piano-fortes from the elaborate to the severely plain it is refreshing to come across a beautiful instrument such as the Narvesen piano, that was noticed at the warerooms of R. M. Walters, No 59 University place; this instrument was a cabinet grand upright, framed in the choicest French walnut, this wood is rapidly growing in favor and, being susceptible of a high degree of polish, presents a very elegant appearance, so an instrument of this style of finish would therefore be an adornment to any drawing-room.

—Wall papers copy the designs of tapestry, velours and other rich stuffs, even imitating embroideries, braidings and gilt cord-work.

—Brass work is a conspicuous ornament of rich modern furniture and there is a new and perhaps passing fancy for metallic leaves and plants of natural size applied as ornaments to frames, screens, friezes, &c.

—The Kensington rugs which are woven in beautiful designs and colors are excellent for small rooms, flats and summer cottages, they are put down on an ordinary floor and may be finished out around the room with a breadth of red or olive Chinese matting, the plain ingrain filling is also used to fill out these square carpets.

—Rattan window shades which exclude the light and admit the air can be procured in various colors and are popular for summer use.

—Exquisitely delicate baubaches are made of porcelain flowers, tiny pink rose-buds with leaves and clusters of forget-me-nots are the favorite combinations.

—Palm leaf fans hand painted and decorated with ribbons are used for hand-screens.

—No apartment appears thoroughly furnished where pictures are absent, the choice of subjects for the various rooms requires taste and experience, for what may be considered admirably fitted for one room may be entirely inappropriate for another. A choice and varied selection of etchings, engravings and colored photographs are displayed by Renner & Co., of 719 Sixth avenue, two very delightful colored photographs are called Picciola and Checo.

—A rich and unique brass pedestal has a Mexican onyx top, supported by three fauns.

—A chair back drapery, exquisitely delicate in style and design, has the ground work of Bolting cloth, with very delicate pink and yellow roses embroidered in filoselle, a wonderfully happy result is obtained if a few stray leaves and buds are left here and there as if wafted by the soft breezes.

—The Japanese chintz is very popular for portieres between an alcove and bedroom. A large assortment of these goods are displayed by the Japanese Trading Company, of Broadway and Eighteenth street. Many very beautiful specimens of Japanese glass have recently been introduced by this firm—vases, odd shaped bottles, jugs, bells and ornamental pieces of great variety.

—The morning glory design is extremely graceful for a royal blue plush sack-shaped pillow, line the part that falls open with pink silk and tie a bow of pink ribbon about 8 inches from the top.

—One of the freaks of fashion in stationery is parchment paper, old, musty and mouldy looking, in fancy paper the grained morocco has taken the place of the alligator skin paper, ragged paper is favored by many and there are artistic designs representing in one corner various articles of bric-a-brac such as Japanese vases, teapots, silver punch bowls, a sheaf of wheat, horse shoe, saddle and bridle, etc., a fac-simile of the hand writing scratched as if with a hasty pen in one corner in letters of gold or colors on ragged edged paper is a late novelty, in mourning note paper the crape finished border is very elegant. The American Specialty Co., of 761 Broadway, display a very large and choice selection of stationery.

Realty at Albany.

ALBANY, April 17.

The fight over the bill providing a general law for the construction of street railroads in cities has ended, as far as the Assembly is concerned, in the passage of the bill in that body. It has been a bitter struggle, not so much as to intrinsic merit of the bill as an effort on the part of the National Cable Company to prevent the construction of street or surface railroads in New York city, except by their plans under the rapid transit, or elevated railroad act of 1875. They transplanted to Albany a lobby, which has been the boldest and most unscrupulous in its operations of any that has ever been known here. The street railroad bill has a section which prohibits roads being constructed on the surface of the streets under any other way except by the provisions of this bill. It had a section which allowed the use of cable power and placed that power as a motor on the same footing as animal or horse power. The bill did not give the cable company the monopoly of the surface roads, and it had restrictions which are not in the act of 1875 for the protection of the rights of property holders, as well as providing for the payment of percentages upon the gross receipts to cities, which the law under which they are operating does not contain. For this reason they desired to prevent any interference with their proceeding under the law of 1875. All that law requires is the appointment of a commission, the selection of streets on which the roads may be constructed by the commission and no one can interfere with their going ahead. Nor are they required to make any compensation to the city, while under the street railroad bill 3 and 5 per cent. of the gross receipts will have to be paid to the city. Some regard for the rights of property owners and the interests of the city has to be paid by the companies constructing roads under the street railroad bill, while neither are required by the rapid transit act, hence the bitter fight in which some of the honest members played into the hands of the cable company.

Their objective point was to strike out the section limiting the construction of surface roads to this bill. The provisions of the street railroad bill were assailed and more attention paid to other sections than the one to which they objected, with the view of uniting an opposition that could be utilized to strike out the section confining the construction of all surface roads to this act. When they reached that section the motive of the Cable Company became so well understood that the vote was smaller for striking that out than for the change of any other provision. Their last effort to defeat the bill signally failed. Several amendments were made which necessitates the concurrence of the Senate, but as they were all such as were either moved or assented to by the promoters of the bill, there is but little doubt of a prompt concurrence by the Senate. The bill as it has passed is in the main like that recommended by the State Railroad Commission. The changes improve its practical operation. It provides for the assent of a majority of the property owners on the streets used, of the assent of the local authorities and the payment of 3 per cent. for the first five years, and in the cities of New York and Brooklyn of 5 per cent. for each year after the first five years, that they shall keep the street in repair between the track and 2 feet each side, as well as limiting the fare to five cents on the main line and branches.

It is the best bill for the public, protects the rights of property owners better, and is more liberal towards the city than any other bill that has been considered or passed since the first attempt was made to secure a general street railroad bill. As such it is to be hoped that the Governor will give it his prompt approval, and thus not only end the controversy but give those sections which have long needed modes of transit early relief.

The Arcade Underground Railroad bill was set down as a special order in the Senate yesterday, but the consideration of the annual supply bill took up so much time that it was not reached. Next week that will be the important measure considered. The surface railroad bill being out of the way, it can be taken up without being brought into the scramble over that measure.

The bill for the establishment of a series of parks north of the Harlem River, recommended by the Marsh Commission, was ordered to third reading in the Assembly to-day without any change in it, as it passed the Senate. A communication from the Mayor's cabinet requesting to be heard on the bill in opposition to some of its provisions caused it to be sent back to the committee to give a representative of the Park Department an opportunity to be heard on next Tuesday. It was provided that it retain its place on the third reading calendar, and when reported back goes direct to its final reading.

Mr. Robb's bill to limit the height of flats and tenement houses to 75 feet on streets 60 feet wide, and 80 feet on all streets and avenues over 60 feet wide, has passed the Senate.

The bill for the appointment of a commission to prepare and report to the next Legislature a bill for a plan to facilitate and cheapen the transfer of real estate in the cities of the State has been ordered to third reading in the Senate.

The act to change the name of Reservoir square to Bryant Park has passed the Senate and ordered to third reading in the Assembly.

The act to add the names of Joseph Garry and Hugh Gardner to the commission to adjust the assessments for boulevard improvements in place of two who have resigned has passed the Senate.

The reform bills reported by the Roosevelt Special Investigating Committee have all passed the Assembly, except that to abolish imprisonment for debt on civil action. Assemblyman Lewis succeeded in getting a provision inserted in the bill relative to the County Clerk's office, reducing the fees for searches for real estate titles about forty per cent. It provides that the searches for dockets of judgment and decrees and transcript of decrees shall be eight cents instead of fifteen per year, and for searches for all other matter of record three cents instead of five per year, and that the search as against any one name shall not exceed five dollars. This is an important point gained; although it does not go into operation until the expiration of the term of the present County Clerk.

The act allowing railroads which have a terminus at any point on the harbor of New York to maintain and operate ferries for the more convenient transaction of their business and accommodation of the public has passed the Assembly.

The Prof. Adler Commission Bill to investigate the condition of the tenement houses of New York and report plans for improvement in their construction has been ordered to third reading in the Assembly, and the bill to prohibit the manufacture of cigars in tenement houses advanced to third reading in the Senate.

Mr. Kiernan's bill incorporating a company to supply water to the cities and villages in the valley of the Hudson River New York and Brooklyn has been reported in the Senate. It gives the company power to take water from the Hudson River in the Adirondack region above Glens Falls, from the streams tributary to the Hudson, the ponds and lakes of the Hudson River valley, and construct aqueducts and conduits to convey to any of the cities referred to. It is late in the session for the passage of the bill, yet it may get through.

No further action has been taken on the bill to provide for the introduction of salt or river water in New York for the extinguishment of fires and sanitary purposes.

Chicago Real Estate.

From our own Correspondent.]

CHICAGO, April 16.

The spring trade may be said to have fairly opened and business is rapidly reaching a very active phase. The real estate inquiry is general and of an excellent character. Applicants prefer to buy for cash, often paying the money all down for moderate-priced property. The rains have put back traffic in suburban property, but city realty enjoys a steady demand. The leading business is done in houses and lots for occupancy on May 1. The city is rapidly settling up, and property on the outlying streets is fast passing into permanent holdings, following in this respect the tendency of central property.

Following are the total sales and amount of city and suburban transfers filed for record for the week ending Saturday, April 12:

Location.	Transfers.	Prices.
City property	169	$850,555
North of limits	17	31,730
South of limits	32	84,487
West of limits	16	10,175
Total	224	$976,947
Previous week	250	1,112,004
Same weeks last year	224 / 270	1,057 348 / 1,254,029

Few new buildings were started during the last week, both on account of bad weather and the scarcity of common brick. Last year was regarded as a fair average season for Chicago in the erection of buildings composed principally of brick, and there were 340,000,000 used, nearly all of which were manufactured in and about the city. Realizing that more bricks will be needed this season manufacturers are increasing their capacity, and it is prophesied that the city and suburban production, together with about 20,000,000 from Indiana, will make up a total of 395,000,000 to be used here. Last year the ruling price during the season was $7 50 per thousand, and indications are that the same figure will prevail this season.

The other articles necessary in the construction of buildings are in good supply and sell moderately well. Nails are in good demand at $3.50@3.55 per keg. Hardware and metals are active, various articles ruling lower. Lumber is in active demand for local contracts. Piece stuff is less firm than some grades, but uppers and selects are called for from all sections and rule steady as to price. Some assortments are getting scarce, and dealers will welcome the early increase in the cargo receipts with which to stock up their dry lumber. Receipts are very light thus far, but only a few scattering cargoes each day, shingles predominating. Manufacturers feel disposed to hold in check their shipments, and thereby infuse into the cargo market a feeling of firmness from the start. It is evident, however, that prices will rule lower than last season. The winter has been favorable for an unusually large cut of timber, and it will be next to impossible to restrain mill men from manufacturing excessive supplies.

Why Not Settle?

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

I do not see why, under Judge Van Brunt's decision, the stockholders of the Manhattan and Metropolitan companies should not at once come to a settlement. Let the case be appealed if needs be, to settle the question as to the right of directors to alter leases without the consent of the stockholders, but the expensive law suits ought to end at once. Here are Judge Van Brunt's words:

"At the time of the October agreement, the situation was such that a compromise was necessary; that the Manhattan Company could not bear up under the load pressing upon it, and pay 10 per cent. rentals; that a reduction in the rentals was imperative; that the preference given to New York Elevated Company in the order of payments was reasonable; that the claim of the Metropolitan Company respecting its probable future earnings was illusory; that the statement made by Messrs. Kneeland and Stout in regard to the vote of 22d October, 1881, was incorrect; that the October agreement was beneficial to the Metropolitan Company; that the union of the three companies under one management was desirable."

If the stockholders of the Metropolitan have no real grievance why continue the contest simply to swell the fees of lawyers? There must be a settlement sometime or other based upon the actual condition of affairs when the contested lease was made. In my judgment the only company that was really aggrieved in the October settlement was the east side elevated, which earned the bulk of the money of the whole system, cost less to run and had fewer suits and bonded obligations against it.

STOCKHOLDER.

The committee on legislation of the Real Estate Exchange met last Thursday, John D. Crimmins in the chair. Mr. William E. Church called the attention of the committee to a plan for opening a carriage way over Highbridge. An engineer of the Croton aqueduct department told him that it would be entirely practicable. The present width of the bridge would be taken up for light carriages, while a pathway for foot travel could be provided by an extension on each side of the bridge. Commissioner Crimmins said he feared the approaches to the New York side of the Highbridge would not admit of carriage travel unless extensive grading down was done. Then the bridge was built for an aqueduct and not for a drive, and as it carried the sole water supply of New York, the public he thought, would hesitate before sanctioning a carriage way over that structure for fear that it might be injured. During the conversation some facts were given about the proposed bridge extending from Tenth avenue and One Hundred and Eighty-first to Aqueduct avenue on the Westchester side. Mr. Crimmins thought it ought to be of solid masonry, and be a work that would last for generations. This work was projected some twelve years ago and it is quite time it was at least commenced. Mr. Crimmins also reported from the committee to whom was referred the subject of the garbage and ashage nuisance. The Board of Health had agreed to put a stop to the deposit of garbage on the vacant lots within the city limits whenever a properly backed complaint was made to the board. This will be welcome news to property owners who contemplate making improvements, especially on the west side.

Mr. Joseph Agate, who committed suicide last week, was one of the first patrons to THE RECORD AND GUIDE. He subscribed for the paper in March, 1868. His case shows how profitable are wise investments in realty. After making some money many years ago in a gentleman's furnishing store, he retired and became a steady purchaser of realty, and when he died he was reported worth six millions of dollars, all in real estate. Yet in the thirty odd years of his business life there have been many ups and downs in that kind of property. He went through the depression of the first two years of the civil war, the inflation which followed the use of paper money and the long dullness extending from 1873 to 1878, yet he none the less accumulated a large fortune when persons in almost every other business became bankrupt or merely he'd their own.

Why the Proposed Cable Roads Would Benefit New York.

LETTER FROM ONE OF THE RAPID TRANSIT COMMISSIONERS.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

You very properly say that "the determination of the Cable Company people to build new lines for city travel is not a matter for real estate owners to cry over." You might add that real estate owners in some parts of the city may get ready to "cry" if "the determination of the Cable Company people" is not earnestly and intelligently sustained, so that new lines for city travel shall be built.

You recognize the need for more surface cars. Indeed the need for additional transit facilities is so manifest that no man with any of the progressive spirit of this generation is willing to admit any doubt regarding it. There is pressing need in the densely settled eastern side of the city, where every day bears witness to the dangerous overcrowding of cars during the hours when the great mass of our industrious working population must ride in going to and fro between their homes and their places of employment, but facilities are also necessary to reach sparsely settled parts of the city to develop them by affording means for the increasing overflow of population. Let any one compare the east side of the city with the west side, north of Fifty-ninth street, and see that railroad facilities have done where they were provided, and what has resulted from the lack of facilities.

Very few persons known, probably, that since the passage of the so-called "Rapid Transit Act" in 1875 there has not been any way to obtain increased transit facilities, rapid or otherwise, no matter how urging the necessity, except through a commission, such as have just authorized the construction of cable roads, nor has it been possible in any way, even through such a commission, to secure an increase of horse railroads in any part of the city.

This being so, and the necessity for transit facilities being universally acknowledged, what better could the commission do than to authorize the construction of roads to be worked by a method altogether superior to horse power, capable of running at any rate of speed, rapid or slow, according to the location and routes where they may be constructed and operated? Certainly nothing at all comparable to the cable system was presented to the commission. Besides, the company is authorized by the law under which it is incorporated to run cars "by this power or force of steam, or by any motor other than animal power." It is open, therefore, to adopt any improved method found to be practicable.

A good deal has been said about "gridironing the city with twenty-nine routes." The number, more exactly, does not exceed twenty-two, while more properly it is only three routes, with ferry and other connecting branches to enable passengers by a transverse route to reach any ferry or other point most convenient for their purposes without extra fare. Route No. 27 is only a short spur of No. 3 extending just across the proposed bridge at One Hundred and Eighty-first street. Route No. 16 is a single avenue block added to No. 4 on One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street, to connect it with Central Bridge. Route No. 26 is an extension of No. 15, to make a better connection with the Second Avenue Metropolitan Elevated Road, between Division street and the South Ferry. Nos. 17 to 24 are routes on the east and west sides of Central Park, connecting with each of the four traffic roads under the park surface, and have eight numbers instead of four, for convenience of description.

It would have been a comparatively easy matter for the commission to locate one or two or three routes where the population is sufficient now to ensure an immensely profitable business, and probably in doing so would have escaped some of the adverse criticisms that selfish or short-sighted "anti-monopolists" have indulged in; but "the majority" of the commission were not willing to authorize any company to construct and operate roads where they would certainly be profitable, unless such company would also agree to construct others on routes not immediately remunerative, but equally necessary for the people living in sparsely settled parts of the city, and for the development and equalization of property interests. This has been the controlling consideration in locating routes, and the constructing and operating railways only prospectively remunerative were harnessed to profitable ones. And it is safe to say on one-half of the twenty-two routes, or on any one of this half, railways cannot be secured except by the system adopted by the commission.

Regarding the question of requiring the company to "pay a percentage on its gross receipts for the great privilege," it may be sufficient to say that the commission had no power under the law to exact it, and the only way to obtain compensation was in fixing a low rate of fare with a ride on a transverse road free.

The need for a systematic and comprehensive plan for transit facilities in this city is as important in its way as laying out streets, constructing sewers and providing water supply in advance of future necessity are in their way. Hitherto no consideration seems to have been given to so important a matter; rather like the laying out of cow-path streets in the days of Diederich Knickerbocker, horse railroads have been constructed on zig-zag or circuitous and indirect courses where individual interest has secured their construction, and only where it was believed they would pay. And this most assuredly will be the course again if the work of the commission is made abortive by lack of support from those who as passengers needing greater facilities, or as real estate owners desiring enhancement in value, are most interested in having the work made a success. It may be the company will in time find the investment handsomely remunerative, as indeed it ought to be, but it is equally certain that the city will receive benefits ten times greater than the company will, and equally certain that there is no other public measure so well calculated to promote the development of this city and the convenience of the people as are involved in the successful and prompt adoption and construction of the transit system authorized by the Board of Commissioners through the New York Cable Railway Company. Building Material Exchange.

ANNUAL MEETING AND ELECTION.

On Monday last, the Building Material Exchange held its annual meeting at No. 12 Dey street. The reports of the president, Mr. H. M. Snyder, and his associate officers were read, and revealed a prosperous and gratifying condition of affairs. The membership numbered 302, representing about every known line of business connected with the production and handling of building material. The cash on hand at the last yearly meeting was $7,469.43; receipts during the year, $4,047.31; expenses, $2,990.61, leaving a balance on hand of $8,526.13. After hearing the reports the members went into an election for officers. The contest was good naturedly spirited, and resulted in the following choice: President, Wm. N. Philbrick; vice-president, John P. Kane; treasurer, C. W. Nickerson. Trustees —W. N. Philbrick, Jno. P. Kane, C. W. Nickerson, A. W. Adams, M. P. Dunbar, E. Thiele, John A. Nesbit, Wm. B. Dubois, Chas. S. Shultz, A. W. Pressy, R. C. Washburn, E. D. Knapp, Thos. Miller, Jr. Inspectors of election—C. D. King, J. R. Van Valen, Ed. W. Candee.

The Park Department should have the repaving of Fifth avenue. They have all the machinery for doing the work, and the Fifth avenue, from Washington square to One Hundred and Tenth street, is properly a parkway. Under the law they are required to look after the boulevards and other roads in the annexed district. They have the engineers and inspectors, who are constantly making and repairing the roads. The commision is an honest one, and has two thoroughly competent members in Messrs. Viele and Crimmins. There is no need of a special commission to do this necessary work.

The treasurer of the cheap cab company would like us to tell him what previous experiments of the same kind have failed. Every one of them. Time and again have lines of cheap cabs been started but they have eventually been beaten out of the field. Our horse-car system has heretofore rendered cheap cab riding unprofitable. The new cabs, however, temporarily at least, have done some good in bringing the old cabmen to their senses, and it may be that New York is now large and rich enough to support the last experiment of this kind. The story will be told a year from now.

The postponement of the Manhattan-Metropolitan settlement will put a stop to several improvements. It will delay the construction of the bridge over the Harlem River at Second avenue. That work is controlled by friends of the Manhattan, who will not be willing to make the Second avenue road profitable by giving it new business until a settlement takes place. Nor will the New York & Northern Road, which runs from the bridge over the Harlem at One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street, be put in shape for business for the same reason. So property on both sides of the Harlem suffers that lawyers may make money. There will be no suburban rapid transit this year or next.

Isaac Walton, one of the oldest builders of New York, and a member of the Society of Friends, died at his home, No. 126 West Thirty-ninth street, on Monday, in his eighty-third year. He was born in Bucks County, Pa., in 1801, and he came to New York when he was eighteen years old. Many of the largest buildings constructed in the city during fifty years were built by him. He retired from active work twenty years ago, but he continued in good health until the time of his death. He was for a number of years a director of the Bowery Savings Bank and of the Jefferson Insurance Company. Three sons and a daughter survive him.

Real Estate Department.

The demand for desirable real estate not only continues, but is steadily increasing. The private business as well as the public sales last week were very encouraging to the real estate interest. Such a spring business was never known before in the history of New York. The sales of vacant property show that buyers are willing to bid better prices than at any time for the last two years. It now seems likely that we will have an active market during the summer season. Money will be abundant and then the projected new street railways and the opening of the Real Estate Exchange in the fall is stimulating capitalists not only to buy, but to build with a view to future profits.

It is not true that all kinds of property are in equal demand. The following summarizes the point in the real estate situation:

First—Down-town property is in the best demand and at the highest prices.

Second—Well-located store property is eagerly sought for. This is particularly true of Sixth avenue, Fourteenth and Twenty-third streets.

Third—Property in the line of business improvements is also in demand, particularly in the Fifth and Eighth Wards. Old houses which could scarcely be given away ten years ago find ready purchasers at excellent prices, especially on streets west of Broadway and north of Canal street.

Fourth—Property in the Seventh, Tenth and Thirteenth Wards commands very good prices for the reason that work people can there live near the factories, and are not required to use horse cars or ferries in going to their work. This region is also destined to be rebuilt, and the owners of the ground are sure eventually of a good return for the money invested.

Fifth—Dwelling houses which will rent from one to three thousand dollars per annum, and are convenient to elevated road stations, are also much sought after.

Sixth—The kind of realty which is not in favor just now is high-priced residences, cheap tenements and insecure flats.

The sale of vacant lots on Wednesday last showed a better feeling than has been apparent for some time past. A lot on the corner of Eleventh avenue and One Hundred and Fourth street brought $3,950. Two vacant lots which will require a great deal of filling up, on One Hundred and Twelfth street near Eighth avenue, sold for $6,100. Other vacant lots commanded fair prices.

The sale of the John McKeon estate also showed that vacant lots are beginning to look up. Those sold were, however, well situated in the line of improvement on Lexington avenue, between Ninety-fifth and Ninety-sixth streets. At private sale with a builder's loan back of them these lots would command a fancy price.

All the sales announced to take place on Saturday last at the Exchange were adjourned. On Monday a lot on Seventy-third street, east of Fifth avenue, was sold under foreclosure for $25,000; there was due thereon about $18,700, and a house on Goerck street, 17.1x50, brought $3,150. On Tuesday a great deal of improved property in all quarters was sold, and three lots on Eighty-ninth street, west of Eighth avenue, brought $14,000, under foreclosure. On Wednesday nearly all the west side lots offered by order of the assignee of Willett Bronson brought good prices, as did about all the improved property which was offered the same day. On Thursday the most important sales were those of buildings on Broadway, Sixth avenue and Twenty-ninth street, and lots belonging to the estate of the late John McKeon, on Lexington avenue, East Ninety-fifth and Ninety-sixth streets and West One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street. On Friday the five-story office building, No. 5½ Pine street, was sold in partition to clear the title, for $108,000, to Wm. K. Aston. Five unfinished flats on One Hundred and Thirty-fourth and One Hundred and Thirty-fifth streets were sold for $51,555. No. 135 Avenue C was withdrawn, and the sale of several houses on East Thirteenth and One Hundred and Ninth streets adjourned sine die.

The number of Conveyances for the past week shows a falling off as compared with last year, but the consideration is larger, that is, more money was paid out. Here is the table:

James L. Wells will sell on Monday next, April 21, the row of eleven first-class dwellings recently completed by the firm of W. P. & A. M. Parsons. The houses are well built, finished in the best style and thoroughly fitted throughout with the latest improvements of every kind.

On Tuesday, April 22, James L. Wells will sell some very choice vacant property to close up a partnership. The property comprises lots on Fifth avenue and One Hundred and Fifteenth street, on Sixth avenue, between One Hundred and Fifteenth and One Hundred and Sixteenth streets, and on Eighty-sixth street, between Madison and Park avenues. These lots are splendidly located and will be constantly improving in value. Within five years the vacant property between Central Park and One Hundred and Twenty-third street, east of Morningside Park, should all be covered by dwellings. No one can miss who purchases any of these finely located lots.

On Tuesday, the 22d inst., Louis Mesier will dispose of nearly 1,000 lots, in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Wards of Brooklyn. The sale is by order of the executors of the estate of A. C. Kingsland, deceased. As the property is very desirable and ready for immediate improvement, and is now valuable for investment purposes, the sale should be a successful one. The neighborhoods in which the lots are situated are rapidly being improved and built up, and an inducement therefore exists for people of limited means to buy sites for future homes at reasonable prices.

On Tuesday next, April 22d, Mr. Richard V. Harnett announces the sale of a number of valuable parcels, comprising the following: Seven lots on Avenue A, One Hundred and Thirteenth and One Hundred and Fourteenth streets; the fine stone front dwelling No. 136 East Sixty-first street; the two excellent dwellings Nos. 102 and 104 West Nineteenth street; the valuable business or manufacturing site, with buildings, on the southeast corner of Washington and Charles streets; the well-built stone front dwelling, No. 173 East Seventy-fifth street, and the desirable houses and lot No. 160 Waverly place.

Mr. Harnett will on Wednesday, the 23d inst., offer the valuable lot No. 480 Broome street, near Wooster; seven lots on Fifth avenue, between One Hundred and Thirty-first and One Hundred and Thirty-second streets, and the residences, Nos. 174 and 176 East One Hundred and Fourth street, also a house and lot on Carlton aveaue, near Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn.

The same auctioneer will on Thursday sell the plot 50.1x29.10, with buildings, on the southwest corner of Hudson and West Eleventh streets; the dwelling No. 443 East Eighty-sixth street, and Nos. 12, 14 and 16 Pitt street.

As elsewhere announced the sale, by order of the assignee of F. Mayer & Co., will be held by E. H. Ludlow & Co. on Wednesday next, April 23d. The sale has already become a subject of great interest in real estate circles, and the prediction that the attendance on the day of the sale will be unusually great will undoubtedly prove correct. The large and handsome apartment houses, known as "The Strathmore," "The Adelphi," and "The Newport" will be offered at this sale, as also the dwellings No. 13 West Fifty-sixth street and No. 162 East Sixty-fourth street, and five stores and flats on the corner of Third avenue and Ninetieth street.

John F. B. Smyth will on Thursday, April 24, sell several parcels of corporation property. Among the houses offered are the premises known as 135 and 137 Mulberry street, situated on a lot 50x100. This is a very substantial building and is admirably adapted for any kind of manufacturing, as heavy machinery can be made use of, so solid are the materials with which the building is constructed. The title to this property being given by the city, is perfect, and needs no expense of searches.

John F. B. Smyth will also on Friday, April 25, sell the property known as No. 213 West One Hundred and Thirtieth street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues. It comprises a three-story brick house with a two-story frame stable, the size of the lot being 60x99.11. On April 29 Mr. Smyth will sell the five-story ten ment, No. 622 East Seventeenth street, which rents for $1,600, and on the same day the private dwelling, No. 335 East Twenty-third street, which rents for $1,200. Mr. Smyth will also, under order of executors, sell on April 30 the five-story double tenement, No. 516 West Thirty-ninth street, and on the 29th he will offer the property Nos. 12 and 14 Pell street and the private dwelling No. 493 Lexington avenue.

K. Stevenson, Jr., to have been sold to John E. Parsons, president of the Hospital for the Treatment of Cancers, for $80,000. There is something peculiar about this transaction, the seller it is said giving $5,000 toward the erection of a hospital on the site.

Jas. R. Franklin has leased the property on the northwest corner of Fifth avenue and Twenty-seventh street for a long term, at about $18,000 a year. Mr. Franklin leased this property for twenty and one-quarter years from July 23, 1883, paying therefor $10,000 annually for the first five years and making extensive repairs, $13,000 for the second five, and $15,000 thereafter.

The Ottinger Bros. say that the three houses sold by them, Nos. 987, 989 and 991 Third avenue, brought $66,000, not $60,000, as reported last week. A decision of great interest to real estate brokers was made before Judge Daly on Thursday last, in the case of V. K. Stevenson, Jr., vs. Theodore Timpson. The judge in charging the jury stated that the broker entitled to a commission is the one who is the procuring cause of making the minds of buyers and sellers meet, and the jury so found, nonsuiting the plaintiff. In this case it seemed E. H. Ludlow & Co. sold the house No. 581 Fifth avenue, to Dr. Henry, for $100,000. Mr. Stevenson claimed the commission on the ground of having first brought the property to the purchaser's notice.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—We do not discover many really new features in the current reports upon the market for Common Hards. Business has been somewhat irregular, and there was a fluctuation in tone accordingly with very little positive accrued advantage for either buyer or seller, though, if anything, the position has lost a little strength. Indeed, the evidences are favorable to the belief that it would have been somewhat difficult to handle a much large offering without reducing the cost somewhat, and the support has been more through the holding back of supplies than the force of demand. In several instances where purchases had been made they were subsequently followed by requests to postpone delivery as long as possible, and generally customers manifested an absence of haste in handling stock. Considerable work is already in progress and other jobs are opening up, but they do not have the expanding influence upon demand naturally to be expected. Buyers say they feel confident that supplies will be plentiful enough until the new make commences to appear, and they are meeting the holding back policy of manufacturers by a careful development of inquiry, and close calculation to immediate consumptive necessities. The receipts have come from all points but principally from Jersey and along the Hudson, including a somewhat increased sprinkling of "Up Rivers." The proportion of the latter, however, has scarcely been up to the amount some of the trade had expected, and contained a large proportion of undesirable stock, while the Jerseys have also of late lost attractions decidedly, and shown some very unmerchantable parcels. Complaint over quality, in fact, is very common, and it continues to keep the range of valuation somewhat wide. Small cargoes of uniform good or choice quality were the most saleable, and have occasionally commanded a small premium. Making due allowance for the irregularities existing the quotations may be placed on sales made at $5 25@6 00 for Jerseys, with probably a fraction more obtainable for fine; $6 25@6.75 for "Up Rivers," and $6.50@7.25 for Haverstraws, with 25c. additional likely on the better sorts. Advices at hand this week indicate a progressive state of "clearing up," and other preparations necessary at the yards, against the resumption of production, and this will pretty generally take place from the 1st to the 5th of May, with few, if any, of the makers holding back. Sales continue to find a generally good outlet, and especially so where quality is fine. Poor and medium lots have sold at $3.5 @3 75, but good were quick at $4, and choice commanded $4 25, with a possibility of a little more money for something extra.

GLASS.—The demand for window-glass generally is good, with the market firm and strengthening. The domestic product appears to be absorbed about as rapidly as ready for market, and no accumulation of desirable imported goods takes place. A great deal of the latter has gone West to meet the full consumptive wants there existing.

LATH.—The market generally appears to have shaped up into better form, and the tone is at the present writing cheerful and healthy. Supplies coming to hand unsold have been moderate, and were placed without difficulty even where quality was not quite up to the standard that less anxious buyers might have insisted upon. The highest figure we hear of is $2.25 per M, but it is also the lowest for anything at all merchantable, and may be considered as fully supported with an uppish inclination if anything. Receivers report all the evidences of an expanding outlet, local dealers being more generally represented and calling quite sharply for stock, while from out-of-town sources, especially along the Hudson River, the demand is steadily growing, and against this the amount of stock expected is small.

LIME.—The market has undergone no change in price, but the tone was a little easy as a somewhat indifferent demand has given business a slow tone, and occasionally compelled receivers to carry cargoes over rather longer than they desired. It is understood that Eastern manufacturers commence to complain over the unprofitable return, and propose taking some action either to reduce the cost of production or diminish the volume of the output. State Lime is quoted at 80@85c. for common and $1.10 for lump, with some offering made via rail shipments to the river and thence to the city.

LUMBER.—The general market develops no very new features, but the few changes taking place are mostly in sellers' favor. Distribution is on the increase, and while to a certain extent this is simply covering trade that should have taken place during the winter, a more cheerful feeling is the natural result of seeing stocks in motion. One dealer, located at the upper end of the city, tells us his deliveries for a week or two have been as large as at any corresponding period for an entire year, but this is an exceptional case and due in a measure to a monopoly of a very desirble class of trade. The assortment taken out has been of a general character, covering supplies for shipment for manufacturing and for building purposes, and goes into the hands of a desirable class of customers. Indeed, the speculative builder does not appear to be very rampant as yet, and we would suggest that the interior operator accept the careless reports in some cases sent out from this city regarding the probable demand for lumber with some grain of allowance. Some liberal building operations are unquestionably projected for the current season, but they run more than ever to a class of structure in which the consumption of wood will be confined entirely to flooring and hardwoods for finishing, and many contracts are of a charcter to admit of slow work or entire stoppage should the cost of material go to a point considered too high. Supplies in nearly all cases hold out well, and no difficulty has been experienced in making selections.

Eastern Spruce still rather tends towards a weak tone. Now and then an extra desirable offering finds a customer quite appreciative and commands a very good rate and such business is, of course, always reported, but there are a great many cargoes that that require the most careful handling to place them, and sellers are uncommunicative as to the prices obtained. The inference is that buyers lost no ground during the progress of negotiations. Yard supplies are holding out very well, and this, taken in connection with a large number of saws coming into use, makes buyers somewhat indifferent, and has an influence to check demand both for random and special. Manufacturers generally talk well, but the strength of their position has not yet undergone a fair test. A considerable portion of the recent arrivals went in on contract, and it is claimed that amounts now due are small. To cover all qualities on random $13.00@15.50 may still be quoted, but $1.00@1.50 more is expected on specials, according to cut.

White Pine continues without much activity, but not quite so bad as a local report recently made it by quoting business nearly at a standstill. Indeed all things considered trade on home account has been fair this spring, and, as shown at the end of last month, with the export movement ahead of last year, dealers do not find reason for serious complaint. They are not ordering to any extent at interior points, neither are they likely to do so at present in view of considerable confidence in lower prices to come on the bulk of the supply, and with fair amounts of stock available the "standing off" policy can probably be adhered to. Some agents have been in town "just to show where interior stocks could be found if wanted," but they did not secure many orders. We quote $17.50 @19 for West India shipping boards; $28@30 for South American do.; $14@16 for box boards, and $16.50@18.00 for extra do.

Yellow Pine may, by some little stretch of the imagination, be called in more promising condition. Since the first of the month a few very good-sized orders were developed, and there is said to be even a chance of placing a random or two, while Eastern buyers have given agents an opportunity to do a little figuring. Even if all present indications are realized, however, the volume of trade would not under ordinary circumstances be considered in any way extensive, and the vast number of sellers precludes the possibility of giving values any stimulus beyond that necessary to cover increased cost of transportation. We quote as follows: Randoms, $18 @21.50 per M; Specials, $21@22 do.; Green Flooring Boards, $22@23; Dry do., do., $23@24; Siding $22@28 do.; Cargoes f. o. b. at Atlantic ports, $14@14.50 for rough, and $19@22 for dressed. Cargoes f. o. b. at Gulf ports, $13@14 for rough, and $18@20 for dressed.

Hardwoods show no change of a noteworthy character. Anything that is really fine and attractive has a reasonably quick sale, and that, as before noted, about ends the favorable portion of the market. A great deal of poor stuff, culls, etc., continues to come to hand, on which the buyer generally names the price, and will of course make no objection so long as the manufacturer is willing to stand it. A fair export trade is doing, and the orders are of quite a general character. We quote at wholesale rates by car-load about as follows: Walnut, $65@110 per M; ash, $35@40 do.; oak, $30@55 do.; maple, $20 @32.50 do.; chestnut, $25@30 do.; cherry, $40@75 do.; whitewood, $27@35 do., do.; elm, $22@25; hickory, $45@52.50 do.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

STATE.

ALBANY MARKET.

The Argus reports for week ending April 16 as follows:

There have been the usual number of buyers in market during the week, and although no particularly large transactions are reported, a fair amount of sales have been made. Several large barges have been loaded, also the usual number of canal boats and a few sailing vessels. The lumber has gone to Eastern ports. New York city, New Jersey and to the different yards on the river. The stock and assortment of seasoned pine is still good and will probably last till receipts by water commence. The opening of canal navigation is expected on or about May 1st, and by the 5th spruce and hemlock will commence to arrive. Pine will soon thereafter follow, and the whole business will resume its usual activity and range. Hardwoods are in fair stock and the demand is steady, particularly for seasoned woods, for finishing and furniture. Maple and ash are in good supply ready for use, and other kinds in fair stock. Shingles move off slowly, and though the stock here is not large, it is sufficient. Lath are in quick demand at steady prices.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

CHICAGO.

AT THE DOCKS.—There has been less stir about the cargo market the last week than one was led to expect from the little start in arrivals witnessed the week before. From twenty to twenty-five loads of all sorts have put into port, but with the exception of a few loads of shingles and one little hooker of cull boards, they have gone directly to the yards. The incoming lumber is all stuff from the cross piles over the lake, and is alleged to be dry. Most of it was bought over there. There has been no market thus far, nor is there likely to be for ten days or a week to come. There seems to be no hurry to make offerings on the part of the holders of lumber at the mill points, and but little disposition to buy on the part of the wholesale yard merchants. Both sides are holding off and manœuvring for position. The yard men have stock enough to carry them along awhile, especially if country trade does not manifest more than present eagerness.

AT THE YARDS.—There is no marked change from the condition reported last week. A steady and fair movement is prevailing, and nothing more. Some disappointment is expressed at the outcome of March shipments; they are not summing up as heavy an amount as was anticipated in several of the larger yards. Now no great increase is expected until the country roads become settled.

It has been discovered before this that there are logs enough, providing they come down. Driving is an after consideration. The logs are on the banks, but whether there will be a stage of water that will take them out of the streams tolerably clean is what no man can tell. In some districts the snow is going fast without making a driving stage, consequently it is predicted by a certain class of operators that hung up logs will be numerous. This is guess work only. A good rain would change the entire conditions.

The movement of hardwood lumber in this city is not active, but in the aggregate foots up a large amount. The dealers and yard men, when questioned about trade, almost invariably say that it is dull, but in further conversation admit that they are selling a good deal of lumber.

Prices show no material change. Whitewood is coming in freely so that figures are weakening a little below what were ruling a week or two ago. Firsts and seconds of walnut seem to be in a little better demand. The better feeling through the East in regard to this wood is being reflected here to some extent. Common walnut, however, shows the most activity, and culls are receiving some attention. Furniture factories are consuming an unusually large proportion of the latter grade. They rely on getting enough good out of the culls to make head-boards, rails, etc., and work up the clippings whenever they can.

LUMBERMAN AND MANUFACTURER,
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

The prospects seem to be excellent for a heavy draft on Michigan from the East this year, a number of heavy sales are reported and the movement of lumber has already begun freely on the Erie Canal and Hudson. The flooded districts of the Ohio Valley are calling for supplies of lumber and seem undismayed. The lakes of the Northwest are still frozen preventing any driving operations except on a few of the principal streams The chances for an early drive seem to grow less daily. Log buyers are not heard of in the Northwest as yet and there is no such thing as finding out the value of logs of any kind.

The shipments from Minneapolis during the last four months are as follows:

December	8,100,000
January	7,070,000
February	7,330,000
March	11,520,000

LUMBERMAN'S GAZETTE,
BAY CITY, MICH.

Since the last issue of the Gazette sales have been reported to us as follows: H. W. McCormick has placed with Eastern parties 700,000 feet at $9, $18, $38, and 1,000,000 feet at $14.50 straight; W. J. Baxter, of East Saginaw, also reports a sale of 700,000 feet to Eastern parties at $8, $16 and $35; Mosher & Fisher, of West Bay City, report the following sales to Eastern parties: 360,000 of 5-2 lumber at $8, $16 50 and $35; 200,000 of 6-4 at $10, $20 and $40; 250,000 of 5-4 at $8.50, $16 and $36; 330 4-4 log run at $13.50; 600,000 of 5-4 at $8.50, $17 and $36; 75,000 of 5-4 at $9, $17 and $36; 125,000 of 5-2 at $8.50, $17 and $36; 500,000 coarse log run at $10.75; 4,000,000 feet of 8, 10 and 12-inch stocks to Detroit parties at $8, $16 and $36; 325,000 feet to Bay City parties $12 straight. W. H. Whittemore sold for Bay City parties the past week to Eastern parties 3,000,000 feet; Thomas H. McGraw & Co. sold last week to Eastern parties 3,000,000 feet at $9, $18 and $38; 350,000 feet of ash lumber was sold in this city last week to Eastern parties, 150,000 of which is yet to be cut, at $15 straight; J. S. Noyes, of Buffalo, last week purchased 300,000 feet of lumber, and we hear of several sales which we have been unable to secure direct from the parties in interest, and although we consider our information reliable, we refrain from publishing them.

The Gazette also contains the following pleasant paragraph:

Geo. W. Hotchkiss, an old resident of Bay City, now of Chicago, who the writer pleasantly remembers in the days of long ago, when Bay City was an unpretentious little hamlet, has been honored with a reappointment as Secretary of the Chicago Lumberman's Exchange, upon which the Gazette extends congratulations. The Lumberman's Exchange without Mr. H. would be something like the play of Hamlet with Hamlet left out. His name seems like one of the necessities in connection with the Exchange, so conversant has he become with the work of that organization, which fact the membership seems to thoroughly comprehend.

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot has been firmly held and the home buyer does not appear to get stock at more than a small fraction below the cost for some time ruling. Large sales have been made to foreign speculative operators, however, at quite a liberal reduction and this, in connection with "passed" dividends decided upon is a matter of some comment among the trade. Lake is quoted at 14¾c. and from this, rates range down to 13⅝ for other brands. Manufactured copper selling fairly, a little more freely if anything, and quoted about steady for most grades. We quote as follows: Brazier's Copper, ordinary size, over 16 oz. per sq. foot, 23c. per lb.; do. do. do., 16 oz. and over 12 oz. per sq. foot, 25c. per lb.; do. do., 10 and 12 oz. per sq. foot, 28c. per lb.; do., do., lighter than 10 oz. per sq. foot, 30c. per lb.; circles less than 84 inches in diameter, 26c. per lb.; 84 inches in diameter and over, 29c. per lb.; segment and pattern sheets, 26c. per lb.; locomotive fire-box sheets, 24c. per lb.; Sheathing Copper, over 12 oz. per sq. foot, 21c. per lb., and Bolt Copper, 24c. per lb. IRON—Scotch Pig sells to a moderate extent and does not differ to any important extent from about old figures. Occasional sales are mentioned at a comparatively low figure and are mostly lots from ship. We quote at $19.75@22.75 per ton, according to brand, etc. American Pig without new features of importance. Supply and demand about balance, values rule on a fairly steady basis and both buyers and sellers appear very well satisfied with the conditions of the market as they stand. We quote $20.00 @21.50 per ton for No. 1 X foundry, $18.50@19.50 for No. 2 X do. do., and $18.00@19.00 for gray forge. Old rails secure a moderate amount of attention with offerings fair, and values generally ruling about steady. Scrap iron has found rather slow sale and the general tone of the market was easy with a little more stock offering. We quote at $21.00@22.00 for tee rails, $22.50@23.50 for double heads, $22.00@23.00 for No. 1 wrought scrap ex ship, $23.50@24.00 for selected do., $18.00@19.00 for old car wheels, and $22.00@23.00 for crop ends. Steel rails not generally active, but a few fair sized lots found customers and the business has been sufficient to hold the market in very good form. We quote at $33.00@34 00 per ton, according to delivery. Manufactured Iron from store sells moderately and at somewhat irregular rates, but there has been more doing in the way of contracts for architectural sizes and shapes, and further negotiations still under way. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 2.0@2.10c. from store, and Refined at 2.15@2.50c.; Rods, round and square, 2.25@2.50c.; Bands, 2.50@2.60c.; Norway Nail Rods 5¼ @5½c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 3.00@3.20c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. LEAD—Domestic Pig sells moderately, according to most reports, and occasional intimations are given of shaded cost. It is, however, thought in some quarters that actual business exceeds the amount made public and recent tests indicate that the largest holders are unwilling to shade rates on either large or small lots. We quote at about 4@5c. per lb., according to brand and the size of invoice handled. The manufactures of lead are steady and quoted: Bar, 5c.; Pipe, 6¼c.; and Sheet, 7¼c., less the usual discount to the trade; and Tin-lined pipe, 15c.; block tin Pipe, 45c., on same terms. TIN—Pig has been manipulated by speculators to some extent according to advantages gained through fluctuations on the foreign market. The demand for actual stock, however, was not very large or anxious, and most of the supply handled was in jobbing lots to meet the immediate requirements of the regular trade. Supplies fair, but under very good control at the moment. We quote at 18¾@19 for Straits and Australian, 19⅛@19⅝ for English, and 2 ¼@20⅜ for Banca. Tin plates in continued good demand and the movement of a general character. Charcoals are attracting increased attention, and some pretty full parcels of coke have of late changed hands. We quote I. C. Charcoal, third class assortment, $5.35@5.35 for Allaway grade, and $6.10@6.20 for Melyn grade; for each additional X add $1.25 and $1.50 respectively; I. C. Coke, $4.90@4.95 for B. V. Grade; $4.95@5.00 for J. B. grade; Charcoal terne, $4.75@5.10 for Alaway and Dean grades 14x20; $9.80@10.25 for do. 20x28; Coke terne, $4.55@4.60 for Glais grade 14x20, and $9.50@9.55 for do. 20x28—all in round lots. Spelter has found a fair outlet for domestic stock at steady rates, but foreign does not appear to have done quite so well, and is, if anything, a shade easier. We quote at 4⅝@5c. for domestic and foreign, according to brand, quality, etc. Sheet Zinc in about average request and fairly steady, with quotations placed at 5¾@7c., according to quantity, quality, delivery, etc.

NAILS.—Demand has shown same irregularity, with a falling off noticeable on a few of the outlets. Holders, however, profess to consider the shrinkage as only temporary, quite generally remain in a firm position regarding values and manage to prevent a surplus offering of stock. There has, however, at no time been an actual scarcity, and buyers are rarely, if ever, detained when requesting prompt deliveries, even of the leading sizes. We quote on a basis of $2.60 per keg for 10d. to 60d., with the usual allowance for car lots and some addition for small invoices, etc.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—There does not appear to be much really new to suggest. Demand for seasonable staple goods is keeping up well and while the available supply balances the outlet, holders have matters well enough in hand to maintain a steady line of values, and even now and then talk buyers a fraction higher on small orders, Linseed Oil selling very well, the stock kept in hand, and the tone of the market firm at 57@58 for domestic and 58@59 for foreign. Spirits Turpentine selling slowly and has again declined, closing at about 32½@34c. per gallon, according to size of invoice, etc.

PITCH AND TAR.—Trading continues fair on the usual outlets with possibly a little more tar wanted for shipment. Offerings equal the call and prices about steady. We quote pitch $2.25@2.30 per bbl., and tar $2.50@$3.00 do., according to quantity, quality and delivery.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.
